People's Army Permeates Chinese Life

(EDITORS' NOTE — Wes Gallagher, president of The Associated Press, has been touring China after negotiations in which the AP and Hsin-hua, the Chinese news agency, reached an agreement for an exchange of news and photographs.)

By WES GALLAGHER

PEKING (AP) — China's army has been placed firmly into the power structure of the government in a position unique in the world today.

A visit to the headquarters of the 196th Division demonstrates this dual civilian-military role.

Its members sit in the revolutionary committees from the top of government to the commune and district level as part of a governing triumvirate of army, administrators and rank and file.

The 196th engages in farming, manufacturing, helping nearby farmers with the harvest and helping govern by having representatives on nearby committees which rule communes, districts and counties.

The People's Liberation Army also is probably much larger than some of the Western estimates of 2.9 million. The Chinese say Soviet Russia has massed a million soldiers on China's northern border, and it is unlikely that China has fewer men facing them. But in addition, in every city, village and rural area, you see army members in uniform or sometimes in peasant clothes helping with the harvest. Figures, of course, are not available.

The 196th Division is deep in farming country. Its barracks are surrounded by crops which belong to the division. Like every unit in the country, the division strives to be self-sufficient. A small factory produces medicine for the division's own use and that of nearby areas. Wives of soldiers and a few men run the factory.

The Chinese army is all volunteer and officials say they have far more than enough to choose from — a military career is a coveted one.

The army's role in civilian government was defined by Mao Tse-tung in his famous "May 7" directive when student excesses during the Cultural Revolution seemed to be getting out of hand.

The directive started off:

"The People's Liberation Army should be a great school. In this school, our army should study politics and military affairs, raise its education level, and also engage in agriculture and side occupations and run small or medium-size factories to make products for its own needs or for exchange with the state for equal values. Our army should also do mass work and participate in the socialist education movement in the factories and the villages."

The last sentence embedded the army in the political structure at every level in the country.

The vice commander of the 196th Division, Keng Yu-chi, in showing how the division participated in many civilian activities, said of course the main task of the division was to prepare to defend China militarily and to liberate Taiwan.

Keng is 42 and has been with this division a number of years. He said military training takes up eight or nine months a year and helping civilians in production takes two or three months. This is in addition to the farms the division runs itself and the committees it sits on.

Living conditions in the barracks are rugged by Western standards. Officially, rank has been done away with. Leaders are referred to as platoon "commanders," regiment "commanders," etc., but orders are still given and the job gets done.

A small playroom features the division's history in two books. They include the division's service in the Korean War.

The division has its own shoe repair shop, its own tailor shop where soldiers' uniforms are mended. A great effort is made to meet all the division's needs within itself.

The cost of maintaining the division must be a fraction of what it would be in the west.

In the gunroom, it is proudly pointed out, every gun from the smallest rifle to machine gun has the same caliber bullets.

Burger For Revamping Judiciary

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger suggested today that because of an "explosive increase" in federal lawsuits, Congress give more attention to the practical effects of legislation which creates work for federal courts.

Noting that the lawmakers now require federal agencies to prepare an "impact" statement for such projects as new highways, the chief justice said the same kind of background on the effect of a new law could be delivered to the House and Senate Judiciary Committees by whatever congressional committee is proposing the bill.

In his annual "state of the judiciary" message prepared for the opening assembly of the American Bar Association (ABA), Burger also pleaded for more judges and probation officers, the abolishing of three-judge federal courts, and more funds for research in judicial administration.

He said appeals in the 11 courts of appeals have increased from 4,200 in 1962 to 14,500 in 1972. In the same period, filings in U. S. District Courts have increased from 92,000 to 145,000 and the projection for 1990 is 350,000.

Burger said there are now 620 federal judges but 900 will be needed by 1980, with 40 or 50 needed right now.

Urging the need for probation officers, who supervise convicted persons not sentenced to jail, Burger said some of the 640 officers now working have case loads from 150 to 300 when they should have about 35.

Three judge courts, composed of a mixture of district and circuit judges, were originally established so as not to place on a single judge the responsibility for resolving important constitutional challenges to state and federal laws and to provide an immediate appeal to the Supreme Court.

Burger said they have disrupted the judges' work and their existence is no longer justified.

Six Skirmishes Fought Near Quang Tri Citadel

Battle By Marines Remains A Stalemate

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese marines fought six skirmishes with North Vietnamese forces within two miles of the Quang Tri Citadel but were unable to push closer to the Citadel itself, military spokesmen said.

In the 24 hours ending at noon today, at least 185 rounds of 130mm artillery fire rained on the stalemated marines. Though they fought north, east and south of the Citadel they got no closer than 500 yards to it.

They reported 45 North Vietnamese Army (NVA) troops killed, while suffering at least six of their own men killed and four wounded.

The battle to recapture Quang Tri city began June 28 and so far casualties for the entire campaign, including fighting around Hue, 32 miles to the south, include 9,904 NVA troops killed, 1,211 South Vietnamese killed and 4,801 wounded, spokesmen said.

Most of these have been paratroops and marines fighting for Quang Tri city.

Since the marines took over the Quang Tri city fighting from the paratroops July 27, casualties for both provinces have been about 3,200 NVA killed, with 345 South Vietnamese soldiers killed and 1,622 wounded.

Military sources said an estimated three out of four of the South Vietnamese casualties since July 27 have been marines. That would mean that roughly one out of three marines in the Quang Tri fighting has been killed or wounded in the past 2-1-2 weeks.

U. S. B52s this weekend bombed Communist supply dumps in and near the Demilitarized Zone in a continuing effort to prevent the North Vietnamese from sending in reinforcements to the Quant Tri area. They also have hit border regions further west to keep reinforcements from coming in from Laos.

The U.S. Command said today that more than 30 persons including six Americans and at least 24 South Vietnamese were killed in the crash of a U.S. C130 transport plane Saturday.

When the command made its original anouncement Saturday it said six Americans and seven South Vietnamese were killed and five Americans and an undetermined number of South Vietnamese were injured.

The command announced on Sunday that U.S. jet fighter-bombers shot down two Communist MIG21s in dogfights over North Vietnam, and that there was ground fighting on three fronts in South Vietnam, most of it in the Mekong Delta.

A command spokesman said a U.S. Air Force F4 Phantom fighter-bomber was shot down Sunday over the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) separating the two Vietnams and one of its two crewmen parachuted straight into a Communist antiaircraft nest, radioing back reports nearly to the moment of his presumed capture.

Communications ceased just as he reported he had sprained his ankle and was about to be captured. There was no word on the fate of the other crewman.

Clark Sure POW Freedom Possible

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Former U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark returned from North Vietnam last night and said American prisoners would be released when the "murderous bombing" ceases and United States involvement in the war ends.

Clark said he talked with four high Communist officials and witnessed extensive damage to bombed North Vietnamese hospitals and dikes in a two week tour.

He said he received both "verbal and written" assurances that Hanoi would release the POWs.

"I think there is no question that the prisoners will be released and will be released immediately when we stop this senseless, murderous bombing and end the war and get out, get home, and get to the business of building the peace and giving happiness to little children around the world," said Clark.

British Dock Strike Nears Crisis Point

LONDON (UPI)—Millions of pigs, cattle and chickens went on emergency rations today, and a steamer sailed out into the Atlantic to dump millions of bananas in the tightening grip of a nationwide seaport strike, now in its 18th day.

In London, Jack Jones, leader of the 1.7 million strong Transport Union, conferred with longshoremen's leaders. They had to decide whether to convene a conference of dockers' delegates to vote on a new peace plan.

But Jones said the outlook is not good. He used part of the meeting to explain the progress made in securing more jobs for dockers in the loading and unloading of containers.

Government sources said the cabinet was nearing the crisis point when it must order troops into strikebound docks to move vital supplies. Despite emergency powers it took Aug. 3, it has hesitated to use troops in order not to inflame the already tense strike crisis.

Britain's 42,000 longshoremen closed the nation's principal ports July 28 in a walkout of indefinite duration. The strike was called to back demands for great job security and the right to man container depots, even those at inland sites.

Jones said so far he has persuaded container depot managements to provide only 200 extra jobs for longshoremen. About 2,000 at present are jobless and another 5,000 will be fired in coming months as docks cut back labor forces

It was over the issue of containerization, which dockers contend is taking jobs away from them, that delegates representing the 42,000 dockworkers voted for a strike July 28.

Industrial sources said several container firms had agreed

Debunking Those 'Lies' About U.S.

Is the United States on the road to fascism?

Is American democracy a fraud?

Are we Americans collectively guilty of violence, crime, repression, genocide?

Must we have a revolution to "cleanse our system"?

Many intelligent persons are willing to accept such "big lies about America," declares Arnold Beichman, longtime newspaper correspondent and lecturer in political science at University of Massachusetts in Boston.

Beichman sets out to disprove them in a book, "Nine Lies About America," published by Library Press.

Nixon Talks With Former Adviser

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon met today with his former urban affairs adviser — Daniel P. Moynihan —but the White House declined to say whether Moynihan was about to join the group of Democrats backing Nixon for re-election.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon icvited Moynihan to come to the White House after he learned the Harvard professor was in town.

Ziegler declined to reveal what the two discussed, however, or whether Moynihan had been approached about joining former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally's "Democrats for Nixon" movement.

SALT Second Part Slated For Geneva

ZURICH (UPI)—The second phase of the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) between the United States and the Soviet Union will take place in Geneva.

Reagan Signs A Regional Park Bill For Marin Vote

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation authorizing creation of a regional park district in Marin has been signed into law by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Creation of the district, however, still will be subject to voter approval on the November ballot. Passage will require majority approval.

The legislation, AB 2353, by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, allows a maximum property tax rate of 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation for land acquisition and park development.

Under an amendment made at the request of the state Parks and Recreation Department, any tax revenue expended by the district can be spent only to buy new land and develop newly acquired property.

The bill was asked by the Marin County Board of Supervisors after a citizens group organized to push for creation of a park.

Thieu' Fate May Hinge On Parleys

NEW YORK (UPI)—Time Magazine reported Sunday that the Nixon administration may be bargaining for peace in Vietnam with President Nguyen Van Thieu's political future.

According to reports attributed to a Nixon official by the North Vietnamese, national securities affairs adviser Henry Kissinger has been conducting unofficial talks with Hanoi's negotiators in Paris, Le Duc Tho and Xuan Thuy.

Time said that the administration is flirting with a peace proposal to give the Communists "a fair chance" to get rid of Thieu, and give Hanoi a option on future political evolution.

Audit Sought For Civilian Junkets

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., wants a government audit of the resumption of cross-country tours that the Pentagon conducts for civilian VIPs.

The Joint Civilian Orientation Conference (JCOC) tours were suspended by the Pentagon for 1971 but resumed this year, Reuss said Sunday.

Kissinger Returns To Secret Paris Parley

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger is holding a private meeting in Paris today with North Vietnam's two top peace negotiators, the White House announced.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters Kissinger had gone into session again with Communist Politburo member Le Duc Tho and minister Xuan Thui, head of North Vietnam's delegation to the Paris peace talks.

He last met with Hanoi's two negotiators Aug. 1. Today's meeting was the 16th since the administration began its private sessions with North Vietnam seeking a settlement of the Vietnam War.

In making the terse announcement, Ziegler declined to give further details —even as to when Kissinger flew to Paris. "That is all the information I have to tell," he said.

President Nixon has said that the main roadblock is Hanoi's demand to rid the Saigon government of President Nguyen Van Thieu. And he has asserted on numerous occasions that he will never compromise Thieu's political status.

Ziegler declined to comment on a report in Time Magazine that the administration is "flirting with a peace proposal" which might involve the future of the South Vietnamese leader.

Meanwhile in Paris, the Viet Cong today scorned Washington's reported new peace proposal and dismissed the final departure of U.S. combat troops from Vietnam as phony.

A spokesman for the Viet Cong delegation to the Paris peace talks was commenting on articles in Time magazine and the Washington Post that Hanoi was considering Kissinger's "broader set of Vietnam peace proposals" under which Hanoi "has a fair chance of getting rid itself" of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu.

But Ly Van Sau, spokesman for the Provisional Revolutionary Government (PRG), said "any political solution must go through the immediate resignation of Thieu and a change of policy of the Saigon administration."

The Viet Cong official also scoffed at the U.S. command announcement in Saigon that the last remaining combat unit, the 3rd Battalion, 21st Infantry, was going home from Da Nang.

"This is a phony withdrawal," Sau said. "In the place of the so-called withdrawal, the U.S. administration is increasing the participation of aviation and naval forces.

POLITICAL ROUNDUP

Shriver Opens Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Insisting anew that President Nixon lost a "very golden opportunity" to end the war in 1969, Sargent Shriver opens his vice-presidential bid today with a continent-spanning trip to meet voters and "point a new direction for America."

Shriver, who has been surrounded by a political storm ever since he declared that Nixon "blew" a chance to negotiate an end to the war by ignoring North Vietnamese peace signals, hit the issue harder Sunday.

Interviewed by newsmen on NBC's "Meet the Press," Shriver said the Nixon administration has given President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam virtual veto power over U.S. foreign policy. "Gen. Thieu," Shriver said, "should not be the sole life-and-death criterion for thousands of Americans."

And he accused Secretary of State William P. Rogers of politicizing the State Department by telling a news conference that Shriver's account of the negotiating situation in 1969 was "political fantasy."

Ending a long series of issue briefings with the staff of his running-mate, Sen. George McGovern, Shriver spent Sunday night with his wife and children in Hyannis Port, Mass.

Then he was to fly off for a four-day campaign swing taking him to at least six cities in the border and Western states.

First stop today was Wheeling, W. Va., then on to a week's tour that will take him to Los Angeles, San Diego, San Francisco, Denver and Houston.

"I want to have a chance to talk to the American people," Shriver told newsmen. "I want an opportunity to talk and listen . . . to point a new direction for America."

Shriver's assertion that Nixon "blew" a chance for peace three years ago was repeated by McGovern Sunday. Appearing on ABC's "Issues and Answers," the Democratic presidential nominee said:

"A national-security memorandum prepared at the beginning of this administration and published in the Congressional Record some time ago shows very clearly that the administration was aware that North Vietnam had withdrawn a substantial number of its divisions from South Vietnam in 1968, that they were in fact giving us a sign that they were willing to ease off militarily and they were expecting us to respond then with generous offers of negotiation.

"Instead of that," McGovern said, "the bombing was accelerated, the military attack was increased, and we blew the opportunity for a negotiated settlement several years ago."

In his televised appearance, Shriver repeated the assertion made Saturday by the original negotiators at the Paris peace talks. Averell Harriman and Cyrus Vance- that when the Nixon administration took office it knew the North Vietnamese had signaled their willingness to withdraw 22 of 25 regiments from South Vietnam.

Agnew, speaking in Rhode Island, referred to Shriver's statement that Nixon had thrown away a chance at peace. Shriver "is a very inexperienced candidate, and it's normal for people playing catch-up ball to make reckless statements," the vice president said.

In otherdevelopments:

The Gallup Poll reported that, for the first time in at least 35 years, the percentage of Democrats registered to vote is equal to Republican registration. Each party can claim 80 per cent registration, the poll said.

A survey of Illinois voters by the Chicago Sun-Times showed Nixon taking 59.1 per cent of the 1,599 voters polled, with McGovern taking 34.3 per cent. The remainder were undecided. The newspaper said McGovern had slipped 9.6 points since the last poll in April.

A survey of 1,051 GIs by the downtown Saigon USO club showed 70 per cent favor Nixon, 16 per cent are for McGovern and 3 per cent favor Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace. Eleven per cent were undecided.

Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri, who quit as Democratic vice-presidential nominee after disclosing that he had undergone shock treatment for mental depression in the 1960s, appealed to voters in his home state to back the ticket.

He told Missourians attending a Democratic unity breakfast that "what the party should do now is give that extra effort and we'll win this thing in November."

World Is More Peaceful Says Secretary Rogers

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers said today the world "is a more peaceful world than it was four years ago " because of President Nixon's leadership.

Rogers testified before the Republican Platform Committee as it began going over the party platform to be presented to the party's national convention here next week. A draft already has been approved by the White House and few changes were expected.

Rogers told the committee's opening session that as American involvement in Southeast Asia ends, the United States will continue to provide economic and military support to South Vietnam.

Reflecting the fact that the platform will largely mirror Nixon's Vietnam policies, the Secretary said most of the world's trouble spots, including Indochina and the Middle East, were quieter now because of the Chief Executive's efforts.

"The world is very different today than when you last met, and this difference is not the result of inevitable circumstances of historical accident," he said. "It is the direct result of wise policies well orchestrated and carried out under President Nixon's strong and courageous leadership.

"The world is a more peaceful world than it was four years ago," the secretary added.

Echoing one of the President's favorite themes, Rogers said U.S. foreign policy may "realistically lead to a generation of peace."

"And I believe —and I think most Americans believe —that our nation has the outstanding leader in the world in the cause of peace —the leader who gives the United States the best chance for a generation of peace."

Noting that he has met with many world leaders recently, Rogers said:

"Never has the prestige of the United States been greater. Never has a president of the United States been more respected by allies and adversariees alike for his courageous and far-reaching initiatives for peace."

Summing up the record of the administration in foreign affairs, the Secretary cited "the most far-reaching effort in all history to open doors of communication with our adversaries and to develop solutions to the problems which divide the world."

He specifically noted agreements with the Soviet Union, including the recently negotiated SALT treaty, which he termmed "probably the most significant arms limitation agreement ever achieved.'

Rogers also cited the opening of communications and trade with Chink; an attempt to open a "better dialogue" with Eastern European nations; the maintenance of close relations with Latin America and Japan; the withdrawal of U.S. troops on the Pacific rim from Korea to the Philippines; diplomatic initiatives that led to a ceasefire in the Middle East, and improvement in international exchange rates and an easing of trade barriers.

For the future, Rogers called for broader and permanent controls over nuclear arsenals, mutual and balanced reductions of troops in Europe, a negotiated settlement in Southeast Asia, free and fair world trade and diplomatic efforts wherever peace is threatened.

Israeli Tribunal Sends Girl Hijackers To Prison

ZRIFIN, Israel (UPI)—Rejecting their pleas for mercy, a military court sentenced two Arab girls to life in prison today after convicting them of taking part in the hijack of a Belgian airliner to Israel in May.

The three-judge panel passed up a possible death penalty and instead acceded to the prosecutor's request to let the girls spend the rest of their lives behind bars without a chance of parole.

The defendants, in their final pleas to the court before the three-judge panel adjourned for two hours of deliberations, had asked for pity and mercy, claiming they had been duped and forced into taking part in the May 8 hijack.

"I regret all I have done," Rima Aissa Tannous, 21, told the three-judge panel in her final statement before the court adjourned to deliberate her fate. "I have suffered all my life. I beg you to have pity on me and be light with my sentence."

Her co-defendant, Therese Khalsa, 19, reiterated that Arab guerrillas had forced her to help in the May 8 hijacking, adding: "I regret all I have done ... and I beg you to forgive me and have pity on my family and father. Thank you." Both girls, Miss Tannous in slacks and blouse, Miss Khalsa in a print dress, spoke in Arabic after their lawyers had asked the court to go easy on the girls.

Over 30 Years Experience In Nutrition
HERE'S HEALTH!
by JUNE EMBURY

Are you aware of the various Bay Area newspaper articles, including in our I.J., about the substance called laetrile (sometimes known as amygdalin) which may prevent or control cancer? Its sponsors and many individuals who are, they say, dependent upon it, plead that it be officially tested - fairly - by our government, as is being done abroad. Here, treatment is illegal at present.
The matter has captured the interest and concern of the entire nation. For example, prominent radio commentator, syndicated columnist Nicholas von Hoffman, discusses it in detail in the Washington Post, June 4, 1971. His story is headed, "And If It Works . . . " He concludes: "Think if laetrile does turn out to be an important drug. Think how many miserable people will have died because some guy in Washington wouldn't issue a permit . . . " (We have a reprint of the von Hoffman article at the store.)

Miami Beach Police Clash With Youths

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Police today briefly forced about 50 demonstrators to abandon a makeshift campsite they had established in Flamingo Park in anticipation of the Republican National Convention.

The youthful protesters, who set up the camp at dusk yesterday, left peacefully when police ordered them out of the park before dawn. They were allowed to return about sunrise,when the park normally opens each day.

The demonstrators were camping without a permit from the City Council, which allowed several thousand protesters to sleep in the park during the Democratic National Convention in July. The council has scheduled a meeting today to decide whether they will be allowed to camp there during the Republican convention opening Aug. 21.

The demonstrators have said they will remain in the park, regardless of whether they receive the camping permit.

Shotgun Arrests

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Denies Romney Feud

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House aide John D. Ehrlichman has denied reports his feuding with George Romney has led to a threat by the Housing and Urban Development scretary to resign from President Nixon's cabinet.

"We're the best of friends and have been for a long time," Ehrlichman, who is Nixon's chief domestic adviser, said Sunday. "We've had the longest of relations."

Ehrlichman said he understood that Romney would keep his cabinet post "for a time" and was "keeping his options open" on when he would leave.

The Washington Star and Daily News reported in its Sunday editions that Romney was "fighting mad" over what he considered the "heavy-handedness" of Ehrlichman and had sent a "him or me" message to the White House.

But Ehrlichman said he talked to Romney on the telephone yesterday, and he said Romney felt bad about the reports of a feud.

Resumes Therapy

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Gov. George C. Wallace, after a weekend visit to the executive mansion in Montgomery, resumes his physiotherapy program today at Spain Rehabilitation Center.

Wallace returned to Birmingham late yesterday after what aides described as a "quiet and restful weekend" with his family. It was the first visit to the executive mansion for Wallace since he was shot May 15 in a Maryland shopping center.

His departure for Montgomery was delayed until Saturday morning as a result of a new abscess "pocket" which developed in his abdomen as a result of bullet wounds.

To Return Ransom

ALGIERS (UPI) — The Algerian government will return to Delta Airlines the $1 million ransom paid to a group of Black Panther hijackers who diverted a Delta jet to Algiers Aug. 1, informed sources said today.

Police who checked the exiled Panthers villa in Algiers Thursday found positive evidence that Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver wrote letters deemed "offensive" towards Algerian President Houari Boumedienne, the sources said.

In an open letter to Boumedienne, Cleaver called for the record ransom to be handed over to the "International Section" of the Black Panthars for revolutionary purposes.

Only 'Two' Planks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John Schmitz, the American Party presidential candidate, says his partY's platform has been "boiled down" to two planks.

"There's a foreign plank that says never to go to war unless you plan on winning and a domestic plank that says those that work ought to live better than those who don't," Schmitz said yesterday in a UPI Washington Window interview.

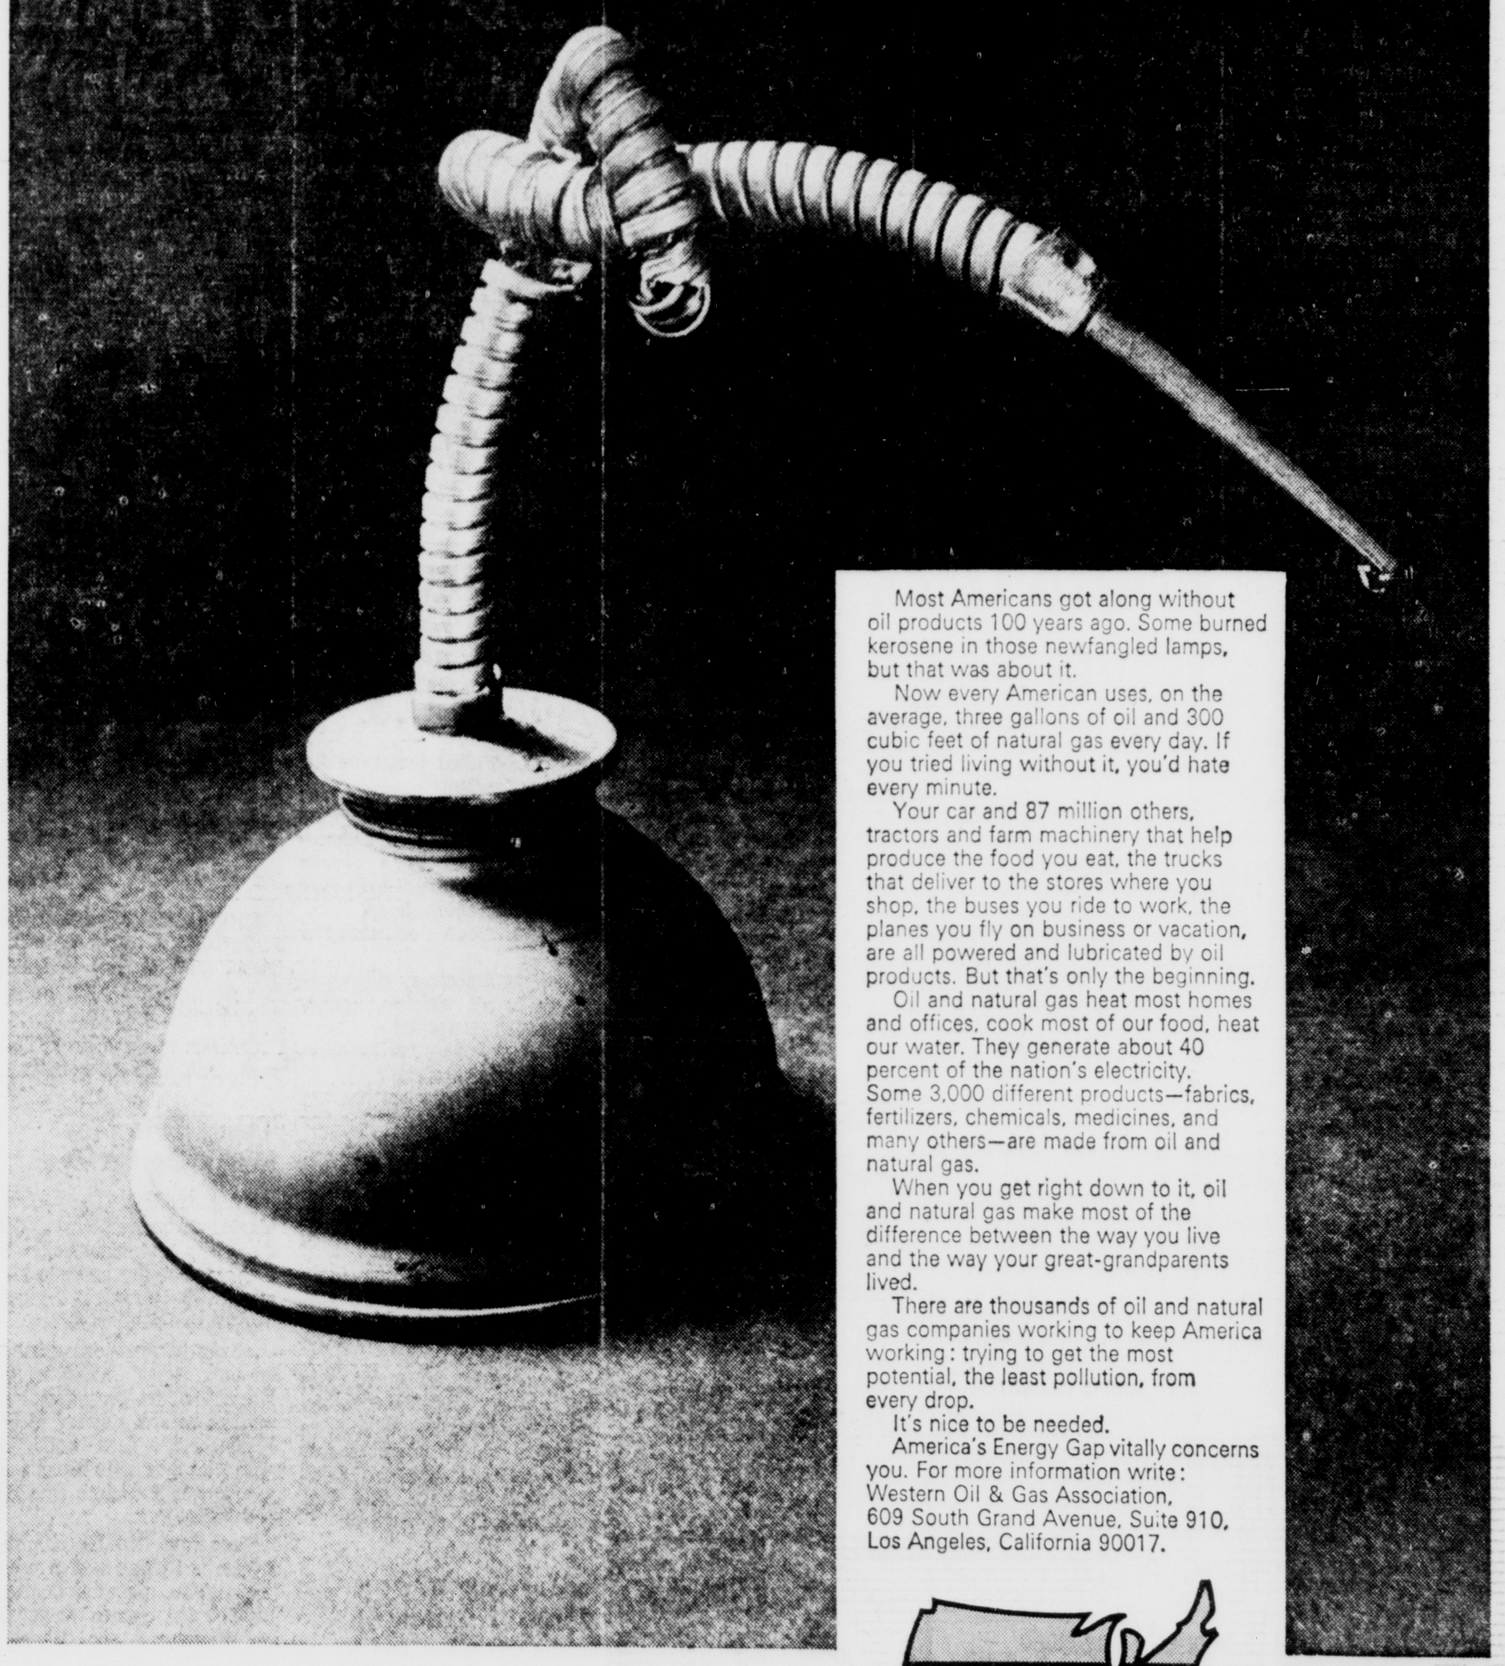
...caused by inflammation and infection.
Prairie Village, Kan.—Mr. Joseph Sutton reports: "My doctor suggested suppositories. I chose Preparation H suppositories. On a physical check-up my doctor noted how effectively it works."
(Note: Doctors' tests have proved Preparation H® actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues caused by inflammation. It's so effective that in many cases, the first applications give prompt, temporary relief from pain and itching in such tissues. There's no other formula like doctor-tested Preparation H.)

No one can live without air and water. But have you tried living without oil?



Most Americans got along without oil products 100 years ago. Some burned kerosene in those newfangled lamps, but that was about it.
Now every American uses, on the average, three gallons of oil and 300 cubic feet of natural gas every day. If you tried living without it, you'd hate every minute.
Your car and 87 million others, tractors and farm machinery that help produce the food you eat, the trucks that deliver to the stores where you shop, the buses you ride to work, the planes you fly on business or vacation, are all powered and lubricated by oil products. But that's only the beginning.
Oil and natural gas heat most homes and offices, cook most of our food, heat our water. They generate about 40 percent of the nation's electricity. Some 3,000 different products—fabrics, fertilizers, chemicals, medicines, and many others—are made from oil and natural gas.
When you get right down to it, oil and natural gas make most of the difference between the way you live and the way your great-grandparents lived.
There are thousands of oil and natural gas companies working to keep America working: trying to get the most potential, the least pollution, from every drop.

GETTING TOGETHER — Police Chief Maurice D. Lafferty chats with a houseful of Tiburon residents about the city's new police department. About 50 residents gathered at the home of Albert Schoenstein Saturday afternoon to watch a film on the role of the policeman, hear the advice on how to combat burglaries and make requests of the police department. COFFEE CLATCH

Tiburon Residents Meet Their Police

About 50 Tiburon residents, half of them children, forfeited the normal pastimes of a sunny afternoon Saturday to get acquainted with some of the men of the city's new police department.

The group met, listened to and chatted with Chief Maurice D. Lafferty, Sgt. Michael Reno and Officer Steven Denney at a neighborhood coffee clatch at the Albert Schoenstein home in Belveron. The session, first of many planned, was cosponsored by the Belveron Associatioc and the police.

After watching a film on the role of the policeman, the residents heard Reno say that "greater community involvement and more services" are among his department's chief goals.

"We'd like to be on a first name basis with you," Reno told those gathered. "We want you to know us and give us your ideas — and express your dissatisfactions too."

Reno reported that Tiburon police have established an "Operation Identification" program to help residents mark their valuables to discourage burglaries and make recovery of stolen items more likely. He said this program has proven very effective in discouraging burglary, because thieves know they will have a hard time disposing of the marked goods.

The sergeant said the police also hope to deal with juvenile problems right in the community whenever possible, rather than referring problem youngsters to county agencies such as Juvenile Hall.

To achieve more positive involvement with those they serve, Reno said, the department has plans to establish a junior traffic patrol, ride along program, explorer scout troup (boys ang girls) and cadet, reserve and educational programs.

Officer Denney urged the residents to make their house numbers readily visible from the street so officers can locate homes quickly in emergencies.

Those who attended the friendly session had several requests to make. They asked for more traffic enforcement on Tiburon Boulevard, a new stop sign in the area and asked the officers to work hard to keep motorbikes off fire trails in the hills, an illegal sport in Marin.

At the conclusion the officers asked to be invited back at a future time to report on what they had done about the various concerns expressed at the informal meeting.

110 MPH Winds Found In Hurricane

HONOLULU (UPI) — Hurricanes Celeste and Diana moved slowly across the central Pacific today with center winds of 110 miles an hour.

The National Weather Service said Celeste was 600 miles southeast of Hawaii, moving nearly due west at a speed of 12 knots with center winds of 110 m.p.h. Diana, with center winds of the same intensity, was about 1,000 miles behind her.

A Hickham Field weather plane penetrated the eye of hurricane Celeste yesterday afternoon to measure its speed, intensity and probable course.

At her present course and speed, Celeste would pass south of Hawaii and the rest of the island chain Tuesday or Wednesday.

Should Celeste continue its present route beyond Hawaii, the hurricane could pose a threat to Johnston Island, a sandy atoll 840 miles southwest of Hawaii. Johnston is used by the military to store nerve gasses recently shipped from Okinawa.

Heavy rains and squalls accompanied Celeste and rough seas were reported in the area.

Floods Outdo War In Philippine Damage

MANILA (UPI) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos said today the Central Luzon floods wiped out 30 years of progress in the Philippines and were more devastating than World War II.

Marcos told a news conference:

"It was not one swift blow like the Bangladesh cyclonic calamity. It was destruction by the slow rise of water coming from various watersheds. The destruction was so pervasive that we can say the rehabilitation plans actually are plans for construction and building anew.

"All the infrastructure that has been built up for the past three decades, all the irrigation systems in Central Luzon have either been completely wiped out or partially damaged.

"In Pangasinan (Province, 90 miles north of Manila), I inaugurated in the last two years four irrigation systems. They are nonexistent today. I also inaugurated in that area several systems of dikes... again they don't exist now. The roads that were constructed, including cement roads, have been wiped off the map.

"It is estimated that we will be able to rebuild in about five years. Personally I have my doubts."

Premier Recovers

ROME (UPI) — Former Premier Mariano Rumor, who underwent an emergency operation for removal of his appendix, was in "excellent" condition Sunday, doctors said.

Official Urges Introduction Of Illegally Seized Evidence

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A high Nixon administration official has suggested curtailing the rights of criminal defendants by, among other things allowing the introduction of illegally seized evidence.

Assistant Attorney General Henry E. Petersen, head of the Justice Department's criminal division, also proposed tailoring the rights of defendants to the severity of the crime with which they are charged.

"It should not be necessary to provide the same degree of protection to one who has committed murder and one who has been charged with public intoxication," Petersen said.

As for the use of illegally obtained evidence, "Unlike coerced confessions, probative evidence is reliable, regardless of the manner in which it is seized," Petersen said.

His remarks were made Sunday at the 95th annual meeting of the American Bar Association, which opened its formal program with a prayer breakfast addressed by Supreme Court Justice Lewis F. Powell.

Powell, a Nixon appointee, deplored what he called "unanchored individualism" which he said resulted from the current emphasis on "doing your own thing" and led to "excessively tolerant views."

Petersen made his suggestions for altering the criminal process in a speech before the ABA's section on bar activities.

He suggested taking such offenses as traffic violations out of the criminal justice process and imposing other than criminal penalties in certain instances.

"For example, if a businessman violates a safety regulation, should he be subjected to criminal penalties or would a better remedy be to close down his business concern until he is in compliance with the regulation?" Peterson asked.

He said that civil administrative proceedings also offer possibilities for taking the load off the courts. Another strong deterrent to crime would be making the offender restore the loss to the injured party, he said.

Petersen said it was the "demands of every day reality that led me to question the basic proposition involved—that is, I question the wisdom of a system which affords every defendant the same degree of protection.

"First, is it necessary to do so in order to assure justice? Second, can the system continue to function if we do not differentiate?"

Booby Trap Mine Kills 2 In Ireland

BELFAST(UPI)-An Irish Republican Army (IRA) booby trap mine killed a British officer and soldier in Belfast today in violence coinciding with a British Army report that its takeover of IRA strongholds had cut guerrilla strikes sharply.

The deaths raised the British military fatality toll in three years of Ulster violence to 112 and the over-all toll to 510 dead.

The working party had been erecting galvanized iron screens across the field to shield a British army post installed in the football park after the military takeover July 31 of former IRA "no go" areas.

The dead officer was Royal Artillery Maj. David A. Storrey, 36, married and the father of three children. The soldier was not immediately identified.

The army said there had been "a dramatic reduction" in violence since 21,000 British troops smashed barricades and occupied the illegal Irish Republican Army's "no go" areas across the province two weeks ago.

It said there were 42 explosions in the two weeks since then, compared with 111 in the two weeks just before the army moved in. Shooting incidents fell from 1,120 in the two previous weeks to 269 in the two weeks since.

Military intelligence sources said they expected new arrests soon to "skim the cream of the Provisionals' command structure." The statement followed the arrest Sunday of a second leader of the IRA's militant Provisional wing.

The army identified a man arrested in the Roman Catholic Ardoyne district of Belfast Sunday as Terence Clarke, 21. An army spokesman said Clarke was a lieutenant of the Provisional's commander in the Ardoyne, Martin Meehan, who was arrested last week.

Clarke was carrying a .45 caliber revolver when an army patrol recognized him and picked him up. He was appearing in court today charged with possession of the pistol.

"A vast amount of information about the Provisionals has been flowing in in the last couple of days," one source in military intelligence said. "We have already arrested two top men and more arrests are imminent to skim the cream of the Provisionals command structure."

The revenge murders and political assassinations which has killed 55 persons in the last three months continued during the weekend.

Passersby found the body of Frank Wynn, 37, a Catholic, shot in the head and abandoned in a car in Crumlin Road late Saturday night. The body of a second man in his 20s was found in the Old Park district early Sunday morning.

Police said both men had been beaten almost beyond recognition before being shot.

A 40-year-old father of two also died Sunday, the ninth victim of a series of car bombs planted in the village of Claudy two weeks ago.

The deaths brought the toll for three years of strife in Northern Ireland to 508 dead.

A land mine detonated by remote control as an army patrol passed in the Catholic Andersonstown district wounded four soldiers Sunday and a sentry outside an Andersonstown school reported he hit a gunman during an exchange of fire.

Novato Trustees Eye Site Needs

Novato Unified School District trustees will consider the need for a school site in the rapidly developing area of South Novato at 8 p.. tomorrow at Novato High School lecture hall.

In preliminary planning a site has been designated to serve the Crossroads development, about 500 apartments and townhouses northwest of Highway 101 and South Novato Boulevard, and the planned Cheda Farm development, possibly up to 500 townhouses and apartments.

Trustees will meet in closed session at 7 p.m. to interview candidates for assistant principal at Sinaloa Junior High School.

CLARK

"I can demonstrate that to the American people," said the former Johnson administration official, who said he would go into further details today at a 1:30 p.m. EDT news conference.

American people "have to see what is happening" Clark told a two-minute news conference on his arrival at San Francisco International Airport, where heavy security surrounded him.

He was taken to a conference room until newsmen were checked for credentials after someone posing as a reporter used a fake name to call the airport and ask what security arrangements surrounded Clark's arrival.

"I believe in the goodness of the American people," said Clark. "As an American, it doesn't make me feel very good to see the devastation of the bombing."

Clark said he talked to high officials, including North Vietnam's prime minister and foreign minister. He held a news conference Sunday before leaving Bangkok, but said he was an American who would "make my report on American soil."

Bank Robber Suspect On Bail Again

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Sammi Lee Smith, the compulsive bank robber who indulged his habit in Marin and was judged insane, is out on bail again.

Smith pleaded not guilty to two bank robbery charges in San Francisco Municipal Court Friday. He was ordered to answer in San Francisco Superior Court Sept. 1 and released on $5,000 bail.

He was previously freed from federal custody July 14 after arrest for a series of successful and attempted bank holdups March 9 in Marin and San Francisco. A grand jury declined to indict him.

He was judged insane at the time of alleged holdups at San Rafael's Redwood Bank, and at a San Francisco bank, as well as two other theft attempts.

But on July 25 Smith was arrested sitting on a San Francisco curb not far from a bank he is alleged to have entered. Police booked him on suspicion of two more counts of robbery, alleging he took $70 from a teller at a Bank of America branch, and $455 at a Wells Fargo branch.

Jury Trial Set On Marijuana

A jury trial was set for the week of Oct. 10.

Sabre was stopped on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at White's Hill and a large jar of suspected pot was found in his car, according to officers.

Art-Craft Display Slated In Petaluma

The Petaluma Recreation Department will sponsor an arts and crafts display Wednesday from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. at Walnut Park.

Projects completed by youngsters in the summer recreation program will be on display and youngsters will demonstrate skills learned during the program. A puppet show will be presented at 2:30 p.m.

Teacher Is Accused In Fatal Crash

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The president of the San Francisco Classroom Teachers Association was to appear today in San Francisco Municipal Court after being arrested Thursday on suspicion of manslaughter and felony drunken driving and speeding in a traffic accident that took the life of a Larkspur physician.

Leonard Lundgren III, a junior high school teacher, was released on $3,500 bail Friday.

The California Highway Patrol said a car driven by Lundgren, 39, struck the rear of a vehicle driven by Dr. Steven Michael Sydow, 26, near the Golden Gate Bridge.

Sydow, of 44 Frances Drive, died in the 11:25 p.m. accident.

The force of the impact sent Sydow's vehicle across three lanes of oncoming traffic where it hit an abutment and then was struck by a truck.

Sydow was a resident in dermatology at the University of California Medical Center.

ARMY

zooka fire and mine explosions. No new or heavy equipment is shown.

The stress in plays, practice, and propaganda is always on guerrilla warfare. It is repeated again and again.

A satire put on by the division's men and women soldiers showed its soldiers as guerrillas in a village dealing with a slapstick Japanese invading force.

Despite such broad slapstick you are left with the impression that any invader of China would not find massed armies but a force spread among China's millions, living off the land and attacking in small, fast-disappearing units again and again. This apparently is a heritage of the success of Communists Long March and rise to power against the Nationalist forces of Chiang Kai-shek.

A tremendous propaganda campaign countrywide honors the army as the country's savior in war and peace.

Slogans abound everywhere. Broadcasts feature army songs. Editorials eulogize, and plays are written around simple themes. One about how girls plot to sneak a soldier's laundry, so they could wash it for him, was put on here by the 196th. It was repeated almost word for word by a group of 10-year-olds a couple of nights later, hundreds of miles away in Nanking.

Boating Mishap Scalps Girl, 12

A 12-year-old Sausalito girl was partially scalped yesterday when her long hair became tangled in the drive shaft of a boat.

Sausalito Police Officer Michael Patrick said after she was rushed to the hospital by ambulance, he found part of her scalp on the boat and brought it to the hospital.

Guilty Plea In Treatment Plan

George Gerhardt, 20, of no fixed address, has been promised he will be sent for treatment in a local drug abuse program after his plea of guilty to second degree burglary.

He is to be sentenced Sept. 22.

Gerhardt admitted in Marin Superior Court Friday he had stolen two typewriters from a Sausalito firm on May 20.

One Car Recovered And Another Stolen

Police also reported recovering a stolen car yesterday in a parking lot at 337 South McDowell Boulevard. The 1957 Porsche had been reported stolen July 18 by Linda M. Adams, 460 Palm Avenue, Penngrove.

OBITUARIES

MRS. BLACKWELL

Funeral was held today in Santa Cruz for Dorothy Evelyn Blackwell, mother of Dr. Darrow Hudson of Novato.

Mrs. Blackwell, 53, died Friday apparently of natural causes, according to the coroner's office.

A native of California, she moved to Marin three years ago from Santa Cruz where she was an accountant. She lived with her son at 68 Palm Lane, Novato.

In addition to her son, surviving are a sister, Marion A. Reynolds of Santa Cruz; a brother, Everett Grosser, also of Santa Cruz, and four grandchildren.

KENNETH WARD

Ward and his wife, Barbara, had been showing their prize German Shepherds at a dog show at the fairgrounds when he suffered what appeared to be a heart attack.

Ward, a native of Eureka, had recently retired from Foremost Foods and as executive vice president of the parent company, Foremost-McKesson, Inc. He lived in Woodside.

He was a member of the Commercial Club of San Francisco, Tripoli Temple of the Shrine in Milwaukee, Elks Club, German Shepherd Dog Club of America and local German Shepherd and Welsh Corgi dog clubs.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a daughter, Susan Steffens of Appleton; two sons, Stephen Ward of Atlanta and Timothy Ward of Lake Tahoe; a stepson, John P. Laird of Elmhurst, Ill.; and seven grandchildren.

Funeral will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Roller and Hapgood mortuary, Palo Alto. Private burial will be in Eureka.

P. P. PARKINSON

Philip P. Parkinson of 4235 Spring Hill Road, Petaluma, died in a Marin county hospital Friday after a long illness. He was 67.

He is survived by his wife, Jean M. Parkinson of Petaluma. Funeral arrangements were private.

STEVEN SYDOW

Funeral will be in Omaha, Neb., for Dr. Steven M. Sydow of Larkspur, who was killed in a five-car crash Thursday near the Golden Gate Bridge. He was 28.

A native of New York, he received his undergraduate degree at the University of Nebraska and graduated in 1969 from the University of Nebraska Medical School.

He interned at St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco and was a resident physician of dermatology at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco.

In addition to his wife, surviving are his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Donald Sydow of Omaha, Neb.; two sisters, Becky and Melanie Sydow of Utah and two grandmothers.

The family would prefer memorial contributions to the Dr. Steven M. Sydow Fund at the University of California Medical Center's department of dermatology in San Francisco.

ROLLAND OLDIS

Rolland L. Oldis of Corte Madera died yesterday in a San Francisco hospital after a brief illness.

He had been in a coma since Aug. 8 after suffering a stroke in his office in San Francisco. Oldis, who was 67, was an insurance broker.

He was born in San Francisco and graduated from the University of California at Berkeley. He moved to Marin County 11 years ago and made his home at 11 Navajo Lane.

Funeral will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Martin and Brown Mortuary, 1801 Van Ness Avenue, San Francisco.

Following cremation, his ashes will be scattered at sea.

SARA PALUNCO

Sara V. Palunco, 43, died yesterday at her home, 34 La Loma Court, San Rafael, after a long illness.

Mrs. Palunco had lived in San Anselmo until February this year. A native of Altoona, Pa., she had lived in California for 22 years, six of them in Marin County.

She is survived by her husband, John, and by her daughter, Felicia Palunco, both of the San Rafael home.

A Mass of the Resurrection will be offered Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. at St. Anselm's Church, San Anselmo. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

MRS. DE WITT

Funeral for Margaret C. De Witt of San Anselmo will be tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo. Private inurnment will follow.

Mrs. De Witt, wife of C.R. (Dick) De Witt, Marin county's senior active real estate broker, died Saturday in a local hospital after a long illness. The couple celebrated their golden wedding anniversary two weeks ago.

A registered nurse before her marriage, Mrs. De Witt had lived in Marin County for 50 years. She was a homemaker while her husband continued the real estate profession he began in Fairfax in 1920. She was a native of Jackson, Amador County.

MAIZA DODEN

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, for Maiza Fern Doden, San Rafael, apartment manager, who died Friday.

Mrs. Doden died of an apparently self-inflicted shotgun wound, according to Deputy Coroner Bill J. Thomas, who said a note was found indicating despondency.

Mrs. Doden, 45, was found by her 11-year-old son, Scott, in their home at 15 Sonoma Avenue.

She was manager of the East Harbor Estates apartments.

Surviving, in addition to her son, are her husband, Leonard; two daughters, Mary and Carol, and a sister, Laura Donley of Oregon.

Memorial gifts to Guide Dogs to the Blind are preferred.

VICTORIA HYLAND

Victoria C. Hyland of San Rafael died yesterday at home. She was 81.

She resided at 717 C Street and had lived in Marin for the past 20 years.

She was a native of Poland.

She is survived by a son, Adrian T. Hyland of Occidental, Sonoma County; a sister, Gertrude Comstock of Salem, Ore., four grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

Mass of Resurrection for Mrs. Hyland will be celebrated at St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael at 10 a.m. Wednesday. Rosary will be recited at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael, at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Burial will be private.

under government pressure to give up to 200 jobs packing containers to union dockers, but that several other firms were holding out. The director of one firm said Sunday that employing dockers to do this work would add 40 per cent to his wage bill.

If the TGWU leaders decided enough progress had been made they could call a delegate conference for Thursday or Friday. In the event of a vote to end the strike, dockers would resume work next Monday, union officials said.

Industrial sources said Sunday many agricultural firms have been "smuggling" animal food supplies into Britain to avoid slaughter of livestock on the farms.

Many firms were using chartered ships and planes, landing at remote airfields and ports, to slip supplies past the dockers' picket lines.

"They are being operated like regular smuggling operations even though they are perfectly legal," one source said.

The "smuggled" supplies were the only reason farmers had been able to delay a mass slaughter of livestock and poultry, he said.

I-J Editorials Place In Judging

The Independent-Journal has received honorable mention in the Herrick Editorial Award competition of the National Newspaper Association.

The nationwide competition was for editorials explaining the everyday application of the principles of democracy. It takes its name from John P. Herrick, who established it.

The I-J entry included several editorials by Bryce W. Anderson, associate editor, published during 1971. Among them was the "Free John Citizen" editorial which earlier won a George Washington Honor Medal award from Freedoms Foundation.

Goldenaires Set Meeting

The San Rafael Goldenaires senior citizen club has scheduled its general membership meeting for 11:30 a.m. Aug. 23 in the community recreation center, 1011 Fifth Avenue.

The meeting is open to any Marin County resident aged 55 or over, according to C. B. Musante, club president.

Free snacks and beverages will be served at the brown-bag luncheon, he said.

Shoreline Road Work Ordered

Reichhold and Jurkovich of Santa Rosa was awarded a contract for blanketing asphaltic concrete on 9.7 miles of the Shoreline Highway in Marin County, it was announced today by the state Department of Public Works.

Blanketed will be two locations between 7.5 miles south and 2.2 miles north of Point Reyes National Seashore.

The contract includes 2.8 miles in Sonoma and is $220,757.

No Revenue Sharing Before GOP Session

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said today there was no prospect the Senate would pass revenue sharing before recessing for the Republican National Convention at the end of the week.

The Senate Finance Committee last week short-stopped the bill after sending it toward the Senate floor, calling it back for further consideration because of a jurisdictional conflict with the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The original measure as passed by the House and as approved by the Finance Committee carried about $5.3 billion in direct-distribution funds to the states and cities. The money would be passed out via automatic procedures that bypass the regular congressional appropriating process.

The new chairman of the Appropriations Committee, Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., let it be known he would not accept such a procedure. Then Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., called the bill back for further work.

Meanwhile, there appeared to be no progress toward breaking another legislative impasse involving an interim arms limitation agreement with the Soviet Union.

Jackson's amendment would establish "equality" in arms with the Russians. The original agreement more or less froze armaments at their present levels.

Mansfield said he would not take up revenue sharing, even if it is released to the calendar by the Finance Committee, until action on the arms agreement bill is completed.

"I believe that the Senate should join with our negotiators and administration spokesmen in rejecting, for the future, the sort of disparities that we have agreed to, on an interim basis, in the present agreement," Mansfield said.

The President raised the wrath of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by backing Jackson's amendment. The White House support was an attempt to mollify Jackson and other Senate hardliners. The foreign relations panel members claim Nixon is attempting to "waffle" on his agreement with the Soviet Union.

The committee refuses to permit approval of the agreement unless Jackson's amendment is defeated. Jackson also refuses to budge on his position.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says the White House must support a move to pass the agreement without qualification or face an uncertain fate on several of its other major programs — including Nixon's welfare reform bill.

The House, meanwhile, faces a heavy schedule this week including a vote Wednesday on the five-year Washington-Moscow offensive missile agreement. It may also vote Thursday on an antibusing bill that would establish guidelines courts must follow in issuing school desegregation orders, making busing a last resort.

Automobile Stolen

Marijuana Case To Upper Court

The order was made by visiting Municipal Court Judge Joseph A. Weber of Mendocino County, who ruled that evidence in the case had been legally seized.

Saltzman was arrested July 10 after Novato police found suspected marijuana plants each about four feet tall, growing in the garden of his home at 2186 Novato Boulevard.

Saltzman is to be arraigned next Monday.

Mill Valley Wage Talks Fruitless

The Mill Valley City Council canceled two closed meetings scheduled last week to discuss the stalemated contract talks with its municipal employees.

After adjourning meetings scheduled at 5 p.m. Thursday and noon Saturday, the council finally met in closed session at 5:30 p.m. Saturday.

According to City Mgr. William H. Cunningham, the council made no decision Saturday and there was no settlement of the stalemated salary and fringe benefits negotiations.

The council adjourned to a meeting at 8 p.m. today to meet again with its representatives to the bargaining talks.

At its meeting last week, the council extended until tomorrow the deadline for making any salary settlement retroactive to July 1.

A public budget session is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the council chambers of city hall.

Art Works Stolen

Four graphic art works valued at $220 were taken sometime yesterday from the back seat of her car, Doris Law Bagley, 592 Fairhills Drive, San Rafael, told police.

Cycle Accident Victim Recovers

A 25-year-old Mill Valley man was reported in good condition today in Marin General Hospital with a knee injury received when his motorcycle collided with an auto Friday on Ridgecrest Drive about a mile south of Panoramic Highway on Mount Tamalpais.

Owen Marowitz of 404 Wellesley Court was southbound when his cycle crossed the center line on a curve, according to the California Highway Patrol, and collided with a northbound auto driven by Elliot S. Krames, 28, of 711 Alta Vista Road. Krames was uninjured.

Sir Winston's Hat Sells For $275

SYDNEY (UPI)—The hat Sir Winston Churchill wore while painting on the Riviera sold at auction today for $275 for outstripping the prices paid for the hats of Dwight D. Eishenhower, Charlie Chaplin and Harry S Truman.

The hats were part of a collection auctioned from the estate of the late Sir Edward Hallstrom, millionaire Australian industrialist and philanthropist. He became best known in his lifetime as the man who introduced refrigerators into Australian homes.

Quentin Man Found Dead In His Cell

Fred Henry Johnson, 27, of Santa Cruz, was found unconscious by a guard 20 minutes after the 10 p.m. bedcheck, according to a prison spokesman. He was rushed to the prison hospital where attempts to revive him failed.

Deputy coroner Donald Cornish said there was no mark or sign of violence on the body. An autopsy was scheduled today.

Johnson had been in San Quentin since May on parole violation convictions. He had been placed in solitary confinement after trouble with another inmate, a prison spokesman said.

Bus-Car Collision Costs Three Lives

APEX, N. C. (UPI)—Skidding on rain-slick U. S. 64, a Greyhound bus plowed into two cars Sunday, killing three persons and injuring 21.

The bus, en route from Richmond, Va. to New orleans, had stopped in Raleigh, about 10 miles east of here, just prior to the accident. Nineteen of those injured were aboard the bus.

Office Building Permit Sought

The Corte Madera Planning Commission will consider a request for a conditional use permit to construct a warehouse and office development at 200 Tamal Vista Boulevard at its regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in town hall.

Trans Marin Properties proposes to erect the five structures in an industrial park adjoining Marin Municipal Water District headquarters.

The commission also is to act on an application by the Marin Foundation to conduct a home for girls 14 to 18 years old at 622 Tamalpais Drive.

Emporium Strike Settlement Near

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A tentative settlement was reached Sunday between the Emporium Department store and two retail clerks unions.

Details were withheld until the proposal is submitted to the membership for a ratification vote at San Francisco's longshoremen's hall today.

The four-week strike was started in a dispute over wages, fringe benefits and a demand that all employes be required to join the union, which represents 1,600 employes of the Emporium.

THE WORLD'S "BEST ECONOMY SEDAN" IS MORE THAN JUST ECONOMICAL.

DRIVE ONE AND SEE.

Every year the readers of Car and Driver magazine vote for the cars they believe are the best in the world in various categories.

This year only two American cars won.

One of them was the Chevy Vega.

It was the second win in a row for Vega. And when you consider the quality of the competition and the awareness of the voters, that's quite a tribute.

Economy alone didn't win it for Vega.

Quality was part of it.

So was styling. Also sportiness, comfort and ride.

You shouldn't take our word for it, though. Or even the word of the Car and Driver voters.

What you should do is experience Vega for yourself, now, while The Vega Drive is on at Chevrolet dealerships from coast to coast.

Get behind the wheel of a new Vega Notchback, Hatchback, Kammback or Panel Express and see how it feels to drive a winner.

Building Permit Delay Is Asked

The Cotati School District board will ask the Cotati City Council not to issue any more home building permits until a way is found to provide more classroom space for children.

"Developers are building houses faster than we can absorb children into the classrooms," said board president Andrew J. Camozzi.

The board's action was taken Friday at a special meeting called to consider solutions to the space problem in Cotati and Rohnert Park schools.

Camozzi said the board wants council action to insure that developers and home builders contribute to the costs of providing additional classrooms.

The school board would like to levy a special assessment on new residential structures built within its boundaries. The revenue would be used to pay for portable classrooms. The proposed rate would be $75 for a three or four-bedroom home.

Camozzi admitted the board didn't know whether their proposal was legal.

The district now leases 10 portable classrooms — at about $2,000 each a year — from the Sonoma County Department of Education. The district pays the rent from its general funds and Camozzi says those funds are drying up.

The Cotati City Council last month refused the district's request that the city purchase portable classrooms for the schools.

The district board Friday rejected an offer by real estate developers to lease six homes and convert them into temporary classrooms.

The six homes are in Holiday Park, south of East Cotati Boulevard and roughly midway between Waldo Rohnert and John Reed Elementary schools.

Camozzi said the offer was turned down because only two or three classrooms could be carved out of each house. they would be too far from other school facilities. there would not be enough bathrooms and they would be impractical to administrate.

Camozzi said the district would rather continue using port hle classrooms because they could be erected on schor property.

Mexico Buys U.S. Ranch Firm's Land

TECATE, Mexico (UPI) — President Luis Echeverria Alvarez of Mexico signed a decree Sunday night giving the bulk of land in the Mexicali River valley to the people who are using it.

The decree eliminates the American-owned, 40-year-old Colorado River Land Co., which owned 150,000 acres of land in the valley at one time, including much of the city.

The announcement, by Guillermo Martinez Dominguez of Mexico City, head of the National Financiero Federal Credit Institution, indicated all outstanding shares of stock owned by the company had been purchased, involved was almost two thirds of the land in the rich agricultural valley.

President Echeverria arrived at Mexicali Sunday for a four-day visit and was greeted by the seven governors of Mexico's border states. They were to discuss mutual problems here Monday.

In the land deal, the city titles are to be cleared at once by the federal government and 850 families, representing about 4,500 persons, will be given title deeds at once to their property, free of charge, a spokesman for the governor said.

Boardwalk Hit By Big Blazes

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) —Two general alarm fires scarred the famed Boardwalk and a commercial fishing dock area during the weekend, causing damage estimated at well over $1.5 million.

Fire officials said the origin of the fires, which broke out one mile and 10 hours apart, was not immediately determined but it appeared they were not related.

The second fire broke out minutes before midnight Saturday at fishing docks on Rhode Island Avenue as firemen rested from fighting the blaze that gutted six stores along the boardwalk in the afternoon. "It looked like the whole inlet area was burning," a spectator said. Two three-story frame storage buildings collapsed and a one-story concrete block building owned by Atlantic City Fisheries, a fishing cooperative, was gutted.

The Coast Guard dispatched four vessels and 30 men to the bay side to aid in dousing the fire.

Six firemen and two Coast Guardsmen were treated for minor injuries.

Battalion Chief Anthony Ingento said he could not estimate the value of damage done in the dock blaze, but called it "costly."

Thirteen firemen and four bystanders suffered smoke inhalation at the Boardwalk fire, anders. Mrs. Anita Lippman, 57, of Margate, rescued by Fireman Paul LaVigna from her damaged store, was the only person seriously injured in the fire that broke out at 12:30 p.m.

Acting Fire Chief Kenneth Goff estimated damage from the Boardwalk blaze at $1.5 million, including $50,000 for the 400 feet of 30-foot wide walk burned in the resort's busiest district.

Boardwalk stores destroyed or severely damaged included Irene's Gift and Souvenir Shop, James' Original Salt-Water Taffy Store, Gina's Original Wig Shop, Finchley's Art Gallery, Hamilton Art Gallaries and Nash's Restaurant.

The fire also gutted the former Nixon's Apollo Theater, which was given a complete fireproofing after a blaze in 1880 and declared "indestructible."

The last major boardwalk fire was in December 1968, when a block of the Steel Pier went up in smoke about six blocks from the boardwalk blaze.

Disguised Thief Steals Sealed Phone Coin Box

An impudent thief dressed in a repairman's outfit lifted a sealed telephone coin box from the Disco Store at Larkspur Plaza last Thursday. He played the role so well that the store manager didn't realize he had been conned until yesterday.

Disco manager Joseph Billetter told Larkspur police that the man, about 30, wore a utility belt "as if a telephone repairman."

He approached the telephone in the store's snack bar as though he was working on it, Billetter reported. Then he left with the coin box, leaving a sticker on the telephone advising "out of order."

The manager telephoned Pacific Telephone and Telegraph yesterday to find out when his phone would be fixed and was told no repairman had been sent.

Investigation is continuing, said Larkspur police.

Hawaiian Blaze Burns Itself Out

HILO, Hawaii (UPI) — A brush fire started by a lava flow on the island of Hawaii has burned itself out after charring 650 acres.

Forest rangers at the Volcano National Park said the blaze was started by a small eruption in the densely covered Polio-keawe Path area about 30 miles from Hilo.

Heavy rains and fog put out the flames which the rangers said had been held in check by strong winds.

Awards Made For City Opera

SARATOGA, Calif. (UPI)—Los Angeles bass-baritone Michael Gallup was awarded $1,000 and Victoria Whipple of Bountiful, Utah, received $500 Sunday night for achievements in the San Francisco Opera's 1972 Merola Opera Program.

Gallup won the Gropper Memorial Award for the greatest improvement shown during the 10-week schedule of training and performance session for outstanding singers from the West.

Miss Whipple received the Karl Kritz Memorial Award for the great improvement she displayed during the program. Miss Whipple, 20, was the youngest participant in the program's 16-year history.

Petaluma Overpasses Speeded Up By State

Two new freeway overpasses at Petaluma have been included in the 1972-73 state Division of Highways budget putting both projects years ahead of schedule.

Burdette A. Shannon, Petaluma Chamber of Commerce manager, said he received confirmation today from the Division of Highways that new overpasses of Highway 101 at East Washington Street and Caulfield Lane will be advertised for construction bids this year.

The project at East Washington Street will include demolition of the two-lane overpass and construction of a four-lane overpass at an estimated cost of $1.3 million.

Shannon said engineering designs have been completed and construction bids will be sought this fall. The project had been originally scheduled for 1978.

The new four-lane overpass at Caulfield Lane was originally scheduled for 1974 and has also been moved up to this year. Shannon said engineering work has also been complete and that the schedule calls for advertising for construction contracts later this year. The project is estimated to cost the state $600,000. Access road work financed by the city is nearly complete.

Finch Considers Governor's Race

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—White House adviser Robert Finch said Sunday he is "considering" entering the race for the California governorship or a U.S. Senate seat in 1974.

Finch is a former lieutenant governor of California and Gov. Ronald Reagan has stated he will not seek a third term.

Finch said he will return to private law practice in California after the November Presidential election to earn enough money to put his three college-age children through school.

He outlined his future plans at a news conference after an address to the American Bar Association convention during which he defended President Nixon's record in broadening economic opportunities for minorities.

Salt Pond Dredging Plan Is Protested

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The Save the Bay Association in Berkeley has lodged a protest against a plan to dredge an inlet channel to salt ponds along-side Highway 37 just west of Vallejo.

According to Carolyn Wharton of the Army Corps of Engineers public affairs office, the group particularly protests the proposed location for spoils disposal.

The Leslie Salt Co. applied to the corps last month for permission to dredge 15,000 cubic yards from its inlet channel to the salt ponds, intending to place the spoils on the west bank of the channel.

The conservation group's protest is the only one received from the public, she said, although the corps is still waiting to hear from the State Water Quality Board and the Department of the Interior.

The Environmental Protection Agency and the Department of Commerce do not intend to protest the application, she said.

Any additional protests from the public would be accepted in the coming week, she indicated, although the Aug. 10 deadline for such protests has expired.

Hub Planners Set Moratorium Hearing

The San Anselmo Planning Commission will hold a public hearing on a proposed moratorium on development at 8 p.m. Aug. 21 in city hall, Duane C. Reagan, commission chairman, announced today.

Waste System Meeting Is Off

A joint meeting of the Marin Municipal Water District board, the advisory committee to Improvement District A and the environmental advisory subcommittee, scheduled for Wednesday, has been canceled, according to water district Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger.

The meeting had been scheduled to receive a report from a group of engineers now preparing plans for a consolidated waste treatment system for Southeast Marin. But Seeger said the report is not completed.

Improvement District A was established by the water district to coordinate plans for the system to the point of a bond issue. The advisory committee and environmental subcommittee were formed to provide public opinion to the district on various aspects of the project.

Auto Proves It Needs Repairs

A San Francisco driver whose brakes were failing drove to a Novato store for parts Saturday and hit it.

When Rudolph Dean Nordquest, 24, pulled into a parking space, his car jumped the curb and struck the front of Eastside Auto Parts, 874 Grant Avenue, Novato police reported.

San Anselmo Sets Budget Review

The San Anselmo City Council will consider the adoption of a $1.5 million budget for 1972-73 and a tax rate when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall.

The council will also meet in closed session to discuss pending litigation, including a $900,000 death case suit stemming from a two-car collision on Redhill Avenue last year, according to City Atty. John G. Buresh.

NOVATO SWINGS IN SUMMER

Swinging, sliding and climbing Novato youngsters cavort amidst the new play equipment at Pioneer Memorial Park in Novato, which is undergoing a spurt of development. Along with the installation of the play apparatus, construction has started on two tennis courts and the city has plans to restore a small hilltop pioneer cemetery at the park.

Novatan Is Elected To Lead Unions

Robert G. Johnson, 53, former Novato planning commissioner, has been elected president of the California State Conference of Bricklayers, Stone Masons, Plasterers, Tile and Terrazzo unions.

Along with heading the unions with more than 9,000 members, Johnson will continue in his job as business manager-secretary of Tile Layers Union No. 19 which encompasses Northern California counties.

A former masonry foreman at Hamilton Air Force Base, Johnson rose from an apprentice tile setter to president of Local 19 and delegate to national union conventions.

He worked for the incorporation of Novato in 1960 and was appointed to the city's first planning commission after an unsuccessful bid for a city council seat.

Johnson resigned from the commission in 1969 after nine years during which he served as chairman and vice chairman.

A native of Yakima, Wash., he has been a resident of Novato for 15 years and lives at 1414 Hill Avenue. He and his wife, Nancy, have five children.

Nixon Aides Support Private School Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The administration today threw its support to a proposed $200 tax credit for private school tuition but opposed a companion plan to spend $2.2 billion a year for five years in general aid to public schools.

Three cabinet-level officials told the House Ways and Means Committee the tax credit is needed to help private school parents. They said the multibillion-dollar aid to public schools would be inflationary.

Treasury Secretary George Shultz, HEW Secretary Elliot L. Richardson and Caspar W. Weinberger, director of the Office of Management and Budget, testified on a bill introduced by Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the committee, and Rep. Hugh Carey, D-N.Y.

The measure would allow tax credits covering 100 per cent of private school tuition paid per youngster, up to a maximum of $200, and would authorize $11 billion over five years as general aid to public schools. The tax credit — a dollar for dollar write-off from the parents' income tax bill — would result in a revenue loss of about $750 million a year, according to Weinberger.

Shultz said tax deductions are now allowed for contributions to private schools and that the measure would extend "similar benefits" to parents.

"We do not believe the use of a credit as distinguished from a deduction raises any constitutional problems," he said.

Shultz and Weinberger urged the committee to endorse an earlier administration recommendation that the crejits be phased out for families with adjusted gross incomes over $18,000 a year. That proposal was made when the administration endorsed the theory of tax credits in a letter to Mills on June 21.

All three officials warned against adoption of the general aid feature without a corresponding plan to eliminate other federal aid programs.

"Unless Congress wants to bring on another round of inflation by breaking the budget or increase taxes to match the new expenditures it proposes, it is necessary when putting forward a new program to have in mind old programs which can be eliminated to free funds now committed," Weinberger testified.

Larkspur Budget Due Adoption

A $1.4 million final budget for 1972-73 will be up for adoption by the Larkspur City Council at an adjourned meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Last month, City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst proposed a $1,475,127 spending program which would have raised the city's tax rate by 42.5 cents, from $1.985 to $2.32 per $100 assessed valuation.

Since then, the council has cut approximately $80,000 from the budget and lopped off approximately half the proposed tax increase.

The council will set the tax rate at the meeting.

In other business, the council, acting as a redevelopment agency, will meet in closed session to consider hiring a planning consultant.

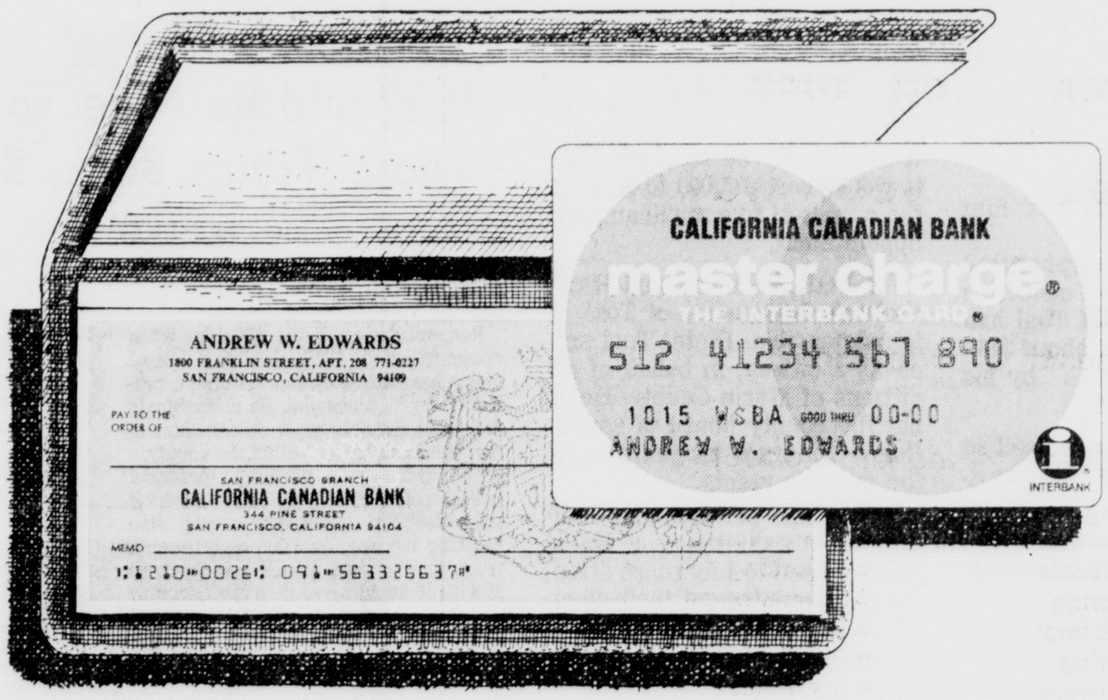
INTRODUCING MASTER CHECKING

It's Free And So Is Your Personal Checking.



Now you can be master of your checkbook. Instead of the other way around. Sometimes there's a need to spend money—even when you haven't got money to spend. Master Checking lets you write good checks even if your balance is down to zero. The checks you write are simply charged to your Master Charge account as a simple short-term loan.

MASTER CHECKING IS FREE

And the good part is that you can engage this new service absolutely free. There is a small charge only if you decide to use your Master Checking privilege. But shouldn't you have it there—just in case? To enjoy the advantages of Master Checking you need a Master Charge card and a personal checking account from California Canadian Bank.

PERSONAL CHECKING IS FREE

If you keep a hundred dollar balance in your account, you can write as many checks as you want and your checking service is absolutely free. If your balance should drop below a hundred dollars, you can still write all the checks you want and it will only cost you $1 a month. And if your balance should drop to zero—just think, you can still write checks!

LIES ABOUT AMERICA: 'We Have Gone Fascist'

By ARNOLD BEICHMAN

The American worker — white, that is — is a retrograde, decadent, selfish creature: a honky. Or as A. H. Raskin, assistant editor of the New York Times, has described him:

"The typical worker — from construction craftsman to shoe clerks — has become probably the most reactionary political force in the country."

Other views of the American worker are that he revels in racial discrimination, imperialist wars, fascism, antiintellectualism, "blind" anticommunism and other political blood-sports.

Surprisingly enough, these same proctor-intellectuals who condemn the dollar imperialism of the American worker find it intolerable that there should be any poverty in America.

But what if poverty were finally to be eliminated?

Would not the nouveau riche workers then become, in the eyes of their self-styled liberators, reactionary, racist, imperialist, puritanical honkies, and all impatient to become high-priced "hard hats"?

THE BIG LIE about the American worker arises from the problem of elites in America versus the "mass society." It derives from a deep ambivalence about the people. Two attitudes prevail side by side: the Hamiltonian suspicion and contempt (Alexander Hamilton once said, "Take mankind in general, they are vicious, their passions may be operated on"); at the same time, the glowing Populist confidence as one intones, "All power to the people!"

Unlike Engels or Marx, Lenin knew precisely what to do to prevent the workers from "discrediting" themselves as they had appeared, so distressingly to Engels, to have done. He abolished trade unions, and anathematized collective bargaining as "economism." He knew that the real proletariat — and not the fictional protagonists of the Marxian drama — is indeed unrevolutionary, that without a so-called proletarian vanguard, workers would "only" seek more money and better conditions of work. Inside each proletarian there is a counterrevolutionary wildly signalling to be let out.

It is this immunity to revolutionary slogans among workers and trade unionists which so enrages the left progressives. And this immunity is demonstrable by a simple fact: revolutionary socialistm or communism has yet to be established in an industrial country through electoral victory. Where revolutionary socialism or communism has been imposed, it could only be maintained by the destruction of trade unions and of collective bargaining.

IS IT NOT STRIKING that the significant worker revolutions of the 1950s and 1960s have been in East Germany, Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia? And is there any question but that the East European revolutions would have been just as successful as those against Nkrumah and Sukarno had the Soviet Union not been a border power, a next-door neighbor? And could the East European revolutions have gone as far as they did had not there been — here, at last! — an open, irrefragable alliance between workers, students, and intellectuals?

It is precisely this kind of alliance which is non-existent in western industrial countries. Because there is no base, there is no effective ideology, only a frenetic "socialist" rhetoric and terroristic bombings.

Against whom is this terror and this metaphorical revolution directed? No longer at the university, because even after an academic administration has collapsed, what do you have, what have you changed (that is, if you are a revolutionary student or radicalized professor) in the world outside? Very little. Today militant action must be directed against the non-revolutionary worker and his trade unions.

The Weatherman faction which controlled SDS regarded white workers in America as "inherently counterrevolutionary, impossible to organize, or just plain evil. . ." Weathermen leaders derided white workers for "desiring better-homes, better food, and better lives."

Such sneers are to be found not only among the revolutionary students but also among middle-class journalists and intellectuals who, as the phrase used to go, never had it so good.

THE AMERICAN-worker-is-a-honky Big Lie burgeoned in the 1950's when it became quite clear that American labor was not merely anti-fascist, but also anti-totalitarian, that the struggle against Hitler's crusade for world domination did not cease with his defeat but necessarily extended as a struggle against Stalin's more "rational" crusade for world domination.

When the American worker refuses to join these summer soldiers of revolution, he is showing good sense. The utopian promise is always that things will be better for him, but the worker has always grasped with a fine instinct that the revolutionary program actually means that the average man will not have it better but worse. The dialectical ploy is always, of course, that the real worsening of living conditions is only "temporary" and that the sacrifices are for the next generation.

Half a century after Lenin's seizure of power, you can, as far as the workers in most industrial countries are concerned, kiss all the ploys good-bye. Only the wilfully blind can fail to see the tragic import of Che Guevara's refreshingly candid thesis in "Notes on Man and Socialism in Cuba":

"The vanguard group is ideologically more advanced than the mass; the latter understands the new values, but not sufficiently. While among the former there has been a qualitative change which enables them to make sacrifices to carry out their function as an an advance guard, the latter go only halfway and must be subjected to stimuli and pressures of a certain intensity. That is the dictatorship of the proletariat operating not only on the defeated class but also on individuals of the victorious class."

Here is the perfect casuistry of the new class of proctors; they alone are advanced enough to see things whole, they alone have the right to impose sacrifices, to institute (how Orwell would have loved the phrase) "pressures of a certain intensity."

We have the same candor from Lenin, who — like Marx, Engels, Bakunin, Tkachev, Guevara, and all the others — knew that the revolution would not be a free and self-conscious act of the proletariat.

WHAT IS SAID about the American worker and the American labor movement by intellectuals, both conservative and progressive, is more than just a Big Lie. It is a contempt for the working people of America, Britain, France, Canada, and other democracies for refusing to share the discontent of the intellectual classes with the prevailing order of democratic societies.

Contempt for workers was expressed by Prof. Andrew Hacker of Cornell, who was absolutely ecstatic that he could announce America's approaching "terminal hour." Its doom, he said, was inevitable. Even if America "could end poverty and bigotry, diffuse its pyramids of power, and suppress its imperial tendencies, there is no reason to believe that such a society would contain a greater quotient of talented people."

He also announced that "the egos of 200 million Americans have expanded to dimensions never before considered appropriate for ordinary citizens."

As George Orwell once said about similar hyperbolic nonsense: "You have to belong to the intelligentsia to believe things like that. No ordinary man could be such a fool."

No Applause Due County Board Action

The Marin County Board of Education has at last made public the names of five persons who applied for appointment to the board to fill out the term of James A. Swenson, its Novato member who resigned.

The board deserves no applause for its action, however. Rather, it deserves censure for the ill grace with which it responded to demands that the names be revealed.

THIS APPLIES especially to board members Patrick W. Pollock and Lee C. Richardson Jr., who took occasion to defame Pieter Toal, former San Anselmo School District trustee who, as a citizen, brought suit to force disclosure of the names.

Pollock (who was appointed to the county board originally by the same secret selection process it sought to preserve) called Toal "just an obstructionist who wanted to make a name for himself."

"I hope we won't see him again," said Pollock.

Richardson (also appointed by that same secret selection process) charged that Toal had "cost the taxpayers about $15,000 in staff time alone" by his demand for the names.

THAT CHARGE is in itself so remarkable, and so irresponsible, that it demands examination.

Toal brought suit only after the county board had ignored the advice of its attorney, Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino, that it was illegal to keep secret the names of applicants for short-term appointment to the elective office of county board member.

Faced with a court order to show cause why it should not release the names, the board finally did so.

If, as the board and County Schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis claimed, the six applicants had been carefully considered before William L. Sisk was appointed in May, it is difficult to see where any time of anyone was necessary to respond to Toal's demand. The board members should have had the names "at the tips of their tongues."

If the board members had so quickly forgotten who they considered for this important appointment, the staff time involved to find out should have been a matter of seconds — or at most, minutes.

Staff time in the county schools office is expensive. But it can hardly be so costly that it would cost $15,000 to look up the names of five applicants for appointment.

AS FOR Pollock's and Richardson's castigation of Toal, it is indefensible. Pieter Toal acted as a citizen, in behalf of all citizens of Marin County. He — not the county board of education — emerges as guardian of the public's rights.

The whole performance indicates that the citizens of Marin County need to pay more attention to the doings of their elected county board of education — which, with the county superintendent, controls a $1.5 million-per-year spending program.

Triple Threat

Many things can ruin a summer holiday in Marin, or elsewhere. But three hazards of nature are among the common dangers to be careful about.

Sunburn is one. It is easily avoided by gradual exposure. A good tan may look healthy and handsome, but long term health effects are debatable. Prolonged exposure over years may cause cancer.

Another is poison oak. Beware of leaves in threes. It's a common Marin weed. And no joking matter.

The third is insects. Yellow jacket and bee stings can even be fatal if one is allergic to them. Ticks are not insects, strictly speaking. But they can get under your skin and gorge themselves on your blood and cause a big infection.

"The unemployment situation must be improving. This morning I was standing by the fire hydrant."

'Democrats For Nixon' Not Just Another Press Agent Bit

WASHINGTON — Ever since 1952, when the Republicans shed Thomas Dewey and his big-city, little-man-on-a-wedding-cake image for that of Dwight Eisenhower, the flat-spoken war hero from the plains, organizations called "Democrats For (the Republican presidential candidate)" have become a tradition in the South and Border states.

It is doubtful that these organizations as such ever swung a state to the Republican candidate, although the influence of individual leaders like Virginia's Harry Byrd, who professed a policy of "golden silence" in presidential politics, helped crack the longtime Democratic tradition of the region. Even at that, the "Democrats For . . ." movement remained mainly a regional phenomenon.

BUT 1972 is the year when Democrats for Nixon became a national organization, not only headed by a former Democratic governor of Texas and secretary of the Navy under John Kennedy, not only featuring a former head of the USIA under Lyndon Johnson as treasurer, but also boasting of a former six-term Democratic congressman from California, a liberal named James Roosevelt, as one of its board members. You may, if you wish, envision what contortions that must be causing in the graves of Eleanor and Franklin Roosevelt, who were Jimmy's parents.

Not only that, but squads of rich Democrats on whom Hubert Humphrey and other candidates depended for major campaign contributions are going to make their donations to Richard Nixon instead this year.

The reason, of course, is not that these lifelong Democrats, many of whom have distrusted Mr. Nixon deeply all his political life, have suddenly been converted to personal admirers of the President. What the Democrats For Nixon have going for them is George McGovern, whose record on Israel, the economy, defense and myriad other matters has scared them pale.

THUS, DEMOCRATS For Nixon has a budget, it is able to hire professionals like George Christian, Mr. Johnson's former press secretary, and to lay plans for detailed convassing and vote-production efforts in key states where a small percentage of Democratic swing could make the difference in November.

Christian, who also is John Connally's former press secretary and since leaving Washington has ramrodded Texas campaigns for Sen. Lloyd Bentsen and other conservative Democrats, maintains that the organization could be crucial in the prize target of California. In addition, the organization is making specific rather than pro forma efforts in Michigan, New York, Ohio, Illinois, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and possibly Minnesota. Plus Texas, which goes without saying.

It is a far, far cry from the days when "Democrats For . . ." was merely a paper public-relations operation intended to make it respectable for potential defectors to vote Republican without quite mentioning the dirty word.

POLITICAL NOSTALGIA

It Would Be Nice To Have Those Trains Back, But. . .

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Politicans have a natural affinity for nostalgia. Or for anything else they think will win votes.

Remembrances of the old days when choochoos made their slow way around Marin have attracted supervisorial candidate Gary T. Giacomini. He unblushingly embraces the dreams of railroad fans to resurrect rail travel within the county.

The dreams, supposedly so practical trains could be ready to roll in weeks if only doubting officialdom would stop blocking the way, envision a north-south trunk line between Ignacio and Southern Marin. It would serve both the Larkspur and Sausalito ferry terminals, with spurs extending into Corte Madera, Larkspur and Mill Valley.

NOT SURPRISINGLY, Giacomini's opponent in the November election, Michael R. Peevey, observed last week that the idea of local rail travel was "financially unsound and environmentally disastrous." He said his opposition to Giacomini's "pie in the sky" idea was vindicated by the county planning department's new transportation plan, which disregarded rail transit as too big and too expensive.

Giacomini's transit dream of restoring rail travel to West Marin also fared poorly last week at the hands of a plan for the coast by the Association of Bay Area Governments.

The plan warned that such a rail system, though designed for recreational traffic and intended to minimize environmental damage, would require "deep cuts and fills and extensive scarring of hillsides. Second," it said, "the system would require an enormous capital investment and probably would represent a permanent tax burden, even with financial support.

"Finally, due to the high cost of construction and operation, demand for use of the facility for commuting between east and west Marin County probably would be generated, both by developers and the system's operators. The pressure for this could be hard to resist in the face of rising taxes, and land speculation and development pressures."

That was not exactly an endorsement of Giacomini's theories on transit.

WITH AN ANNUAL deficit approaching $4 million for the Golden Gate Bridge District's ferry and bus system, it would be hard to justify another transit system that would compete for limited public subsidies. Cut the financial pie into too many slices and everyone will end up starving.

Railroad fans sincerely believe their claims can operate without public funds, but this is a claim for private transit that recent Marin history has not substantiated.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

Most parents don't worry about a daughter until she fails to show up for breakfast, and then it's too late. — Kin Hubbard.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Aug. 14, 1952

A Radio KTIM "Marin Sounding Board" on the proposal to buy a county civic center site outside San Rafael brought estimates of land cost varying from $400,000 to $1,500,000.

20 YEARS AGO

Aug. 14, 1962

For the first time in over 35 years, the Senate invoked cloture to break a filibuster against the Kennedy Administration's communications satellite bill.

Robert Burdette Rogers of San Rafael, once convicted of murder, then re-tried with the trial ending in a hung jury, pleaded guilty to voluntary manslaughter in the slaying of his wife.

Some Alternatives To Fluoridation Plan

Responding to dentist Smith's letter taking issue with my earlier use of the word "obsolete," when referring to the theory of public water fluoridation, among many substantiating factors are the following:

A series of technical bulletins published by the dental division of the Epoxylite Corp., describe plastic fissure sealants which are being researched and developed with partial sponsorship by the National Institute of Dental Research and with consultation from, among others, a segment of the USPHS. . .

The scientific literature and the press continue to report various other successful alternatives, which provide individual, supervised treatment instead of mass, indiscriminate dosage which can't possibly be controlled, because everyone drinks different amounts of water. Among them: Brush-In-Programs, such as one being tried in Santa Clara County for the last year, involving 280,000 school children, said to be highly effective. It cost about 22 cents per child per year.

Early this spring, Senate Bill 1396 was signed into law in California. It requires all counties to provide supervised topical application for school children wanting it, at little expense or free to welfare families.

U.S. Monetary Policies Injure Europeans

Some of us in Europe feel that the crucial determinant of the November election will be the fiscal and monetary policies of Nixon.

When the President cut the money supply to curb inflation, it did not have that effect but instead caused a business recession and a bad stock market drop.

The decline in the market, in dollar terms, was worse than the '29 crash and we in Europe have felt it, along with being fleeced by American operators of phony offshore funds.

As we see it, Nixon's policy was the traditional Republican one of "balance the budget" until he said it could not work and he announced he was a Keynesian and would engage in deficit spending. He certainly did that so that this year the U.S. may have a deficit of between 30 and 40 billion dollars.

President Nixon's moves have been too late to help the small investor. Only some blue chips have recovered and we believe that about 31 million American investors who have lost plenty will feel like their European brothers, damn sore!

Alfred P. used to be an absolutely Average Consumer. He cut his hair not too short, not too long. He wore not-too-wide, not-too-narrow neckties — patterns of modesty against his white shirt. He drove a car not too prestigious, not too cheap, not too new, not too old. He lived in a sort of colonial-ranch-split-level with just the approved mortgage for his income, which was, of course, median.

Alfred P. kept up with the Joneses but never, never got ahead of them. He constituted the human statistic in the middle — a living masterpiece of inconspicuous conformity. He was the anonymous man who made name brands . . . well, name brands. And he was proud of it.

Then he read the article in Psychology Today, and his life changed.

THERE ARE, he learned from Emanuel Denby, two kinds of consumer: the "Passive Consumer" and the "Creative Consumer." The Passive Consumer is a rather timid, colorless character who puts his money in the bank and for his big times, watches sports on TV. He thinks of himself as "cooperative, steady, good-natured, reliable, self-controlled, patient, stable, and reserved."

The Passive Consumer — this paragon of dulliness — Alfred clearly saw was himself.

The Creative Consumer, on the other hand, dreams of being "innovative, progressive, imaginative, foresighted, sociable, and responsible." He throws one-and-a-half times as many parties as Passive Consumer — and, oh yes, they are "better parties." Furthermore, his wife wears her skirts higher than Passive Consumer's wife, and he is more "curious about life." While Passive Consumer is slumped before his idiot box, Creative Consumer is out golfing or skiing, "often with professional instruction."

The Creative Consumer, concluded Denby and Psychology Today, belongs to the "vanguard" that "lives on the edge of change; in effect, they create the economy of the country."

ALFRED FLUNG DOWN his latest not-too-wide, not-too-narrow tie and resolved to join this new elite. He purchased a mod wardrobe because 47 per cent of those "venturesome" Creative Consumers spend more than $300 a year on their clothes (as compared with 20 per cent of the Passive Consumers). He bought an electric blender, because three-and-half times as many Creative Consumers own blenders. (Poor Passive Consumers "don't know what to put in a blender, how the blender works, or when it is best to use one.")

Alfred P. — the new Alfred P. — quite literally has gone for broke. Like all the other Creative Consumers, he dutifully drinks four times as much bitter lemon as the Passive Consumer and dines out three-and-a-half times as often. Twice as many Creative Consumers buy new cars; so Alfred buys a new car.

Instead of painting his house, refinishing furniture, and doing his own plumbing — all Passive Consumer avocations -- he travels to Europe and joins a book club. He gives his daughter ballet lessons, his son violin lessons, and sends them both to private school.

And, of course, he changes his politics. For if the Creative Consumer "scores higher on all of the questions that relate to the ways man has fun," he also "expresses much greater concern for civil and human rights."

NIBBLING ON HIS imported Roquefort cheese and wolfing his wild rice, Alfred is now liberal, bankrupt, and happy. And why not? For he isn't really in the "vanguard" at all. He belongs to the new majority, endlessly self-conscious about what's in, what's out — meaning opinions as well as neckties — he has fallen right into the middle again.

Meet the new Alfred; meet the new American. Is he better? Is he worse? Mostly he is less innocent. Buying diluted counterculture like a supermarket commodity, afraid of nothing so much as being a square, here is Babbitt come to a "life style" — and like the original Babbitt, he is worthy of our laughter and our tears.

Shasta Fire Said Now Under Control

SHASTA, Calif. (AP) — A 1,700-acre forest fire that burned part of the historic mining town of Shasta and caused some $95,000 in damage has been controlled, the state Division of Forestry reports.

Nearly 300 of the 475 firefighters who battled the blaze have been released to return to their home stations, Reed Steinbach, division information officer, said.

The blaze forced evacuation of 1,200 to 2,000 residents here Friday and resulted in several minor injuries to firefighters. One conservation crew inmate was hospitalized with leg lacerations and a broken jaw, Steinbach said.

Seven homes, including five in Shasta itself, two barns, four sheds, four cars, two mobile homes and two camper shells were either heavily damaged or destroyed, causing an estimated $95,000 in property loss, Steinbach said.

A hearing was scheduled today for a 12-year-old Redding boy being held for investigation of arson in the fire. The Shasta County sheriff's office said no further details nor the boy's identity would be made available immediately.

Meanwhile, the 375-acre fire in Trinity National Forest, 25 miles west of Weaverville, was reported near containment yesterday with control predicted Monday night.

The Weaverville fire caused an estimated $130,000 damage to timber and watershed, destroying more than three million board feet of timber, officials said.

More than 50 pieces of equipment, including five air tankers and two helicopters, were used in the fight against the Shasta fire Saturday, officials reported. The blaze jumped U.S. 99 and forced its closure for two hours Saturday.

Steinbach said quick action from 13 city and volunteer departments in the area prevented the destruction of more structures in Shasta.

Other fires in the north part of the state were reported controlled yesterday, including one north of Yreka and one southwest of Redding. Other fires controlled were in the Tahoe National Forest south of Portola and one northwest of Portola.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Advertising Shares Often Overlooked

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am interested in speculative stocks from an industry with a strong upside potential. Would you list a few? — G.D.

A. Because the stockmarket is highly susceptible to emotional investor reactions to political and economic developments, even the strongest stocks are subject to correction. As long as you are able to live with the gyrations that are normal for speculative growth stocks, you should do well over the long run.

One industry, which has recently been under pressure, is advertising. Investors, concerned with the effects of the growing militance in consumerism and the ban on radio and TV tobacco ads, have been reluctant to commit themselves to the group. As a result P/E has dropped to a low 15x average for the publicly held companies in the industry. Two attractive issues within the group are Ogilvy and Mather and Clinton E. Frank, both trade OTC. Ogilvy, a blue chip in the field, had compounded earnings growth at an average rate of 20 per cent over the past five years. For the first half of 1972, billings jumped 44 per cent while earnings were half again better than in the previous year. Although shares are trading close to their all-time high, the earnings multiple at a low 20x fails to reflect the company's consistent growth record.

Clinton Frank shares took a drubbing in July when British Leyland, for whom a subsidiary is distributor, announced that the franchise would not be renewed in September. In 1971, this subsidiary contributed 54 cents a share to earnings of $1.75. The termination plan calls for purchase of plant and equipment at appraised value and a 3-year override payment on new car sales. Thus, no nonrecurring loss should result from the cancellation. Earnings for 1972 should reach $1.85 a share. Although shares have recovered much of the ground lost, the 8x earnings multiple more than discounts possible income losses from the Leyland situation. Either issue is a buy for long-pull appreciation.

Insurance Firm Sets Dividend

I-J Special Report

LOS ANGELES — Farmers New World Life Insurance Co. directors have declared the regular quarterly dividend of three cents per share payable Sept. 8, 1972, to stockholders of record on Aug. 18, 1972.

The company's complete line of life coverages is sold exclusively by agents of Farmers Insurance Group who also offer property and casualty insurance throughout the companies' operating territory.

American Motors Due A Lower Rate

I-J Special Report

BURLINGTON, Wis. — American Motors' 1973 passenger cars will qualify for special collision insurance reductions up to 20 per cent as a result of damageability tests conducted for the Allstate Insurance Co., Gerald C. Meyers, group vice president — product, announced.

CONCOURS WINNER

Market On Solid Side

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices were boosted today by a report Henry Kissinger again was conducting secret peace talks in Paris.

The rally began late Friday as professional investors demonstrated confidence in the economy. It continued during this session, boosted by early reports Kissinger, President Nixon's chief foreign affairs adviser, was conducting private peace talks with Communist negotiators to end the Vietnam war.

Continental Corp. was the most active issue, off 1-8 at 40 1-4 on 403,100 shares, including a block of 383,600 shares at 40, off 3-8.

Prices also were higher in fairly active trading on the American Stock Exchange. Teleprompter was the most active Amex issue, up 1-4 at 41 1-2 on 160,300 shares.

Chemicals were higher. Dupont gained 3 on top of a more than 4 point rise Friday, Dow Chemical 1 3-8 and Monsanto 1.

Oils were mixed. Superior Oil climbed 5, and Phillips Petroleum, Atlantic Richfield, California Standard and Kerr McGee all around a point each. Occidental Petroleum lost 5-8 after reporting sharply lower second quarter earnings.

Bank Corporation Earnings Climb

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Continued gains in earnings, deposits and resources highlighted the mid-year report of BankAmerica Corp., President A. W. Clausen has announced.

Consolidated income before securities transactions for the six months ended June 30 increased by 4.3 per cent to $84,162,000 or $1.22 per share, Clausen said.

This compared with an adjusted $80,635,000 or $1.17 per share for the same period last year.

Facelifting In Progress For Midtown San Rafael Building

The Herzog building at the northeast corner of Fourth and B streets in San Rafael (where James L. Callan & Sons jewelers is located) is undergoing a facelifting job including new paint and some plaster work.

The entire building, 125 feet on Fourth Street and 120 feet on B Street, will get a two-tone paint job, mostly oyster shell, with charcoal grey on top.

S. K. (Sig) Herzog Jr., owner of the building, said this is the first major improvement on the exterior of the building since it was built in 1917. In addition to paint and plaster, metal exterior drains will be repaired, and a new boiler and hot water system will be installed inside the building.

Ralph E. Murphy and Sons is the overall contractor, and Giampolini and Co. will do the painting. The job should be completed in about two weeks.

ANTHONY J. HOLT of Mill Valley has joined Hoefer, Dieterich & Brown, Inc., San Francisco, as associate media director. Holt was formerly West Coast media director for McCann-Erickson advertising agency in San Francisco.

At Hoefer, Dieterich & Brown, Holt will supervise media for international accounts including CP Air, American Motors International, Jeep International, and several domestic accounts.

Holt Williams

RICHARD D. WILLIAMS of Tiburon has been named loan officer, real estate loans, in Wells Fargo Bank's head office in San Francisco. He formerly was credit officer.

Williams joined Wells Fargo in 1969 after graduating from Harvard University and served in the bank's Market-Main office in San Francisco.

TRIXIE'S dress shop at 1301 Grant Avenue in Novato will close in mid-September, and a photographer from Santa Rosa will be moving into the premises.

W. B. (Pat) Savage and his wife Trixie have been operating the dress shop for nine months. They will close this one but continue to operate three other shops – in San Francisco, San Rafael and San Anselmo. They opened their first store in San Francisco seven years ago and followed with shops in San Rafael and San Anselmo about five years ago.

PAUL JUNCKER Irrigation Systems Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Tiburon Vintners Inc., has been formed at Windsor in Sonoma County to design and install permanent set sprinkler systems for the grape-growing industry.

The new company is headed by Paul Juncker, a design engineer. Associated with him is his son, Edmund, and Ted Freuer, both engineers experienced in the irrigation field.

Juncker has pioneered the development of permanent set sprinkler systems for frost protection. The sprinkler system can also be used for irrigation and to apply pesticides, liquid sulfur and nutrients.

FINANCIAL INDEPENDENCE is everyone's goal, but how do you get it on an income of $10,000 to $20,000 per year?

Walter O. Johnson of 581 Miller Creek Road in Marinwood claims his new financial planning company, called ILA (Investment Leverage Associates) Information Systems, can provide the answers.

Currently operating from his home, Johnson hopes to open an office in Northgate Industrial Park about November.

"The higher income brackets can take care of themselves, but it's the $10,000 to $20,000 income group that needs help," said Johnson. His company has two goals in mind:

1. Provide financial security – guaranteed income for family if the breadwinner dies, is disabled, or faces economic catastrophe.

2. Provide financial independence – ability to do as you please.

Johnson said his company is actually three separate firms, each with a distinct role so that combined, they provide a complete financial planning and investment service. ILA Information Systems is the design planning company that defines the problems facing each individual. Investment Leverage Associates supplies the investment vehicles (real estate syndication, mutual funds, or other forms of investment). EUP (Economic Suicide Prevention) Associates takes care of all insurance problems and needs.

Johnson was with Waddell & Reed Inc. in San Rafael for about a year and a half and worked for Mutual of New York before that.

NATIONAL AUTO GLASS of 30 Mill Street, San Rafael, has been named a certified Safeti-Seal installer by Libbey-Owens-Ford Co., a national supplier of automotive safety glass.

Installers of Safeti-Seal agree to meet U.S. Department of Transportation standards on all certified installations using the L-O-F shock absorber or super shock absorber windshield.

ROSILYN BEWLEY

Couple Plan Wedding In September

Dr. and Mrs. Ross E. Bewley of Stockton have announced the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Rosilyn Bewley, to Alfred Paul Otto III of Ross.

The couple plan to be married Sept. 23 in the garden of the Bewley home in Stockton.

Rosilyn is the sister of Keith, Stuart and Kirk Bewley. Weymouth M. Roberts of San Francisco is her grandfather.

She is a graduate of Lodi High School and Stanford University and she attended the University of California at Berkeley, where she was a member of Delta Gamma sorority. She was an American Field Service Exchange student to Brazil.

The future bridegroom is the son of Alfred P. Otto Jr. of Ross and the late Vivian Milton. He has two sisters, Lynne and Diana Otto and a brother, Andrew Otto, all of Ross. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Otto of Piedmont are his grandparents.

Alfred is a graduate of Redwood High School and the University of California at Berkeley.

Bruce Scott Married To Diane White

Diane Eyre White and Bruce Williams Scott, both of Mill Valley, were married Saturday afternoon in a garden wedding followed by a reception at the Berkeley home of Dr. and Mrs. John Tolbert Jones, the bride's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan B. White of Mill Valley are Diane's parents.

Christina de Vigil of Mill Valley was maid of honor for her sister, and Stephen Scott of Mill Valley served his brother as best man. They are the sons of Robert Sinclair Scott of Mill Valley and the late Mrs. Scott.

After a wedding trip to Hawaii the couple will live in Los Angeles, where Bruce will enter the University of California at Los Angeles, to do graduate work in history.

Diane and Bruce are graduates of Tamalpais High School and the University of California, and both are members of Phi Beta Kappa. Diane plans to enter Loyola University school of law in the fall.

The bridegroom has another brother, Dr. Robert James Scott of Lexington, Ky.

Beef Should Be In Your Diet

Beef is a wholesome high protein food and one which nutritionists say should be in your menus frequently. For the past 66 years beef and other meats have been federally inspected.

In 1967 Congress passed an amendment to the 1906 Federal Meat Inspection Act which insures that all meat sold within state boundaries will meet a uniform standard of wholesomeness whether it is inspected by Federal or State inspectors.

College Assistant Dean Has Non-Academic Image

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Meeting 27-year-old Wyanne Bunyan, new assistant dean for student affairs, at her office at Hastings College of the Law in San Francisco was a surprise.

But for complete absence of artifice and her total outward-directed attention, she would have looked more like a model than the youngest dean at Hastings and one of the youngest law school administrators in the country.

After only nine months in the position of director of placement at Hasting, Wyanne Bunyan — she prefers using her maiden name though married to another attorney, Frank Rothschild — succeeded a man when she was promoted to her present position last month.

"My job involves all student problems, academic, personal and mediatory," she explained, "and I have charge of the legal education opportunities program.

"IT'S A program instituted and supported through state funds which enables an underprivileged student with a baccalaureate degree to pursue law as a career. Admission standards are lower, but there is just as much competition as for regular admission. It is very difficult to get into the program, but it does mean that those who would have no chance, do have some chance to be accepted."

Wyanne said she will also continue teaching a class in criminal law, noting that "in the last four or five years probably more women have gone into this field than any other.

Contrary to what most people believe, thinking of the huge fees collected by attorneys in famour murder trals, she said, "Criminal law is a low paying field. It wasn't attractive enough to men, and criminal law opened its arms to women.

"The majority of criminal cases involve being assigned to handle maybe 30 a week for people who ave no money — mostly minorities — but it's getting to be a better field because public defenders' offices are expanding their staffs, and fees are paid by the state to attorneys who handle indigent appeals.

"I find the field both fascinating and frustrating," she declared. "It would take a very exceptional person to remain in the trial aspect. I become too involved with the people — that's why I teach criminal law instead of practicing it. But in this day and age it's good to know you can still help someone on a one-to-one basis and affect a human life. In most law there is not that sort of reward."

From this discussion it was easy to understand why the young attorney, who is a democratic committeeowman, is known as a political activist.

SHE SAID statistics show there is an increase in crime among women, largely because arrests and convictions for prostitution are increasing. She feels this is related to the increase in drug traffic.

"So many women are in low paying jobs that they go into prostitution and get involved with drugs," she said. "With men it's drugs and theft — with women, drugs and prostitution.

"I believe," she said, "that prostitution is a victimless crime, and I would like to see legalized prostitution with medical controls tried as an alternative. If you have control of prostitution, you have control of venereal disease."

Wyanne is very enthusiastic about women going into all professions and discussed their prospects in the field of law.

"Last spring 216 women were among the 1,479 students enrolled at Hastings, or 15 per cent of the student body," she noted.

"Quotas are not really a problem for women any more, as they were even five years ago.

"LAW SCHOOLS are more open to women now, but the competition is tougher than I experienced. Hastings being a state school has no quota for women. Probably no law school has an actual quota system, but if a woman applies to a private school, she may have difficulty because of attitudes toward admitting women."

The woman who has the best chance of acceptance, Wyanne suggested, is "one who has had meaningful work experience, a graduate degree and at least a 3 point grade average, since the average applicant has a 3.4 average."

Asked for her opinion of women's liberation, the young attorney confessed she has mixed reactions.

"I don't like any methods that are going to make more enemies than friends," she emphasized. "I definitely agree with the use of the courts to achieve just aims. If you get a court order, you know a wrong will be rectified.

Wyanne agrees that a great many women who disagree with women's liberation probably don't realize the amount of legal prejudice against them.

"THERE ARE tremendous discriminatory statutes that affect women's daily lives that they don't realize until they face a problem," she said, adding that she herself became especially aware of it when she and her husband were buying their home on Mount Tamalpais near Mill Valley.

"The bank's policy was that only the male member of a household could be insured," she said indignantly.

Education and court action are the answers, she recommended, pointing out that California has not yet ratified the Equal Rights Amendment.

Wyanne believes the media have been very helpful in publicizing opportunities available to women and suggested they could be further helpful in making known the extent of legal discrimination against women.

"As a public service a newspaper could hire a woman with a law degree to do the research on discriminatory laws. Or she herself might apply for a grant from a foundation, setting forth the purpose of the project, how it could be accomplished and the time and money necessary, and then find a newspaper to publish the results."

A young achiever, Wyanne said her father was largely responsible for setting an example for her.

"He was a farmer until he completed military service in World War II," she said, "and then attended college to become a veterinarian in Ohio. From as long as I can remember I was on college campuses and surrounded by education.

"It was a toss-up between law and medicine," she said, "and I finally decided on law because I wanted to do something other than what the family did and because I had difficulty with laboratory sciences in a premed course."

WYANNE ATTENDED five colleges as an undergraduate and was graduated with a B.A. from California State University, San Francisco. She received her law degree from Georgetown Law Center in Washington, D.C., in 1971. She worked all through school, but her present position is her first after obtaining her law degree.

Married two years ago to an attorney in private practice, Syanne thinks their being in the same profession is wonderful.

"It's such a joy when you go home not to have to struggle with a legal problem alone, or for him to be able to talk one over with me."

The new assistant dean is facing a busy future. Fall classes will soon be starting, and as a political activist and Democratic committeewoman she may not have much time until after November to enjoy relaxing at home, where three cats and two dogs make up the rest of the household.

Words Of Ben Franklin Hard To Put Into Action

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Benjamin Franklin preached thrift until he ran out of words. Consider from Poor Richard's Almanack such admonitions as:

"A penny saved is two pence clear." "A pin a day is a groat a year."

"Save and Have", "All things are cheap to the saving, dear to the wasteful." And, "If you'd be wealthy, think of saving more than of getting."

"I'm with you, Ben, all the way.

As I re-use plastic bags or store leftovers until the freezer will hold nothing else, I think of your advice. Then I make other excuses for my saving graces — a Depression child who knew hunger and deprivation all around her, food and clothing rationing and "save fat" during World War II, and now the perfect 1970s excuse, acology. Recycle whenever and whatever possible.

BE A CONSCIENTIOUS citizen. Don't muddle the environment further.

Only thing is, Ben, my thrift has not made me wealthy; it's only given me guilt feelings. For the truth is, I'm incurably penny-wise and pound-foolish.

Why do I use a tea bag twice and then grab a buck-thirty-five cab ride to the office which is in walking distance really?

Why do I rinse the plastic container of detergent to get one more sinkful of suds and then spend $10 (and often more) for a professional shampoo and set when I perfectly well can do my own hair?

Why do I add a little water or vinegar to rinse a practically empty catsup bottle to get the last drop and then casually pile up department store bills on non-sale items from dresses to shoes to household linens.

Why do I save on the laundry bill with wash 'n wear shirts for the man of the house and then splurge on a cashmere sweater for his birthday?

WHY A COMPLETE redecorating scheme for the living room, then save the no longer appropriate draperies anyway? Well, they might come in handy when we get a bigger house and they are of good linen.

I recycle paper towels, facial tissues, plastic bags.

Any woman knows you can use a paper towel more than once. Kleenex crumpled after a few days in a purse can go back to duty to wipe patent or the "wet" leather finish on shoes. Plastic bags make great "departments" in packing (hose in one, scarves in another etc.).

Or use the bags for discarding everything from coffee grounds to fruit and vegetable peelings. Come to think of it, I'm pretty good at saving the peelings — many fruits and vegetables have the heart of their food value in their covering.

Eat the baked potato skin. Eat the apple peel. Grate the lemon or orange rind to use in other dishes.

It turns out there's a whole breed of cat such as I. Checking around among women friends, I found one savvy gal who uses discarded pantyhose to stuff throw cushions as gifts.

Another absolutely refuses to buy garbage bags. The sturdy paper bags in which the groceries come from supermarket shopping keep her kitchen sanitary.

I KNOW women who wash aluminum trays in which frozen foods for baking have been packaged and recycle them several times to freeze homemade casseroles (from leftovers of course).

Our kitchen has a whole tier of shelves occupied by assorted sizes of plastic containers in which originally have come ice cream or fruit salads. Never know when one will come in handy to freeze leftover soup or serve as a paint can for a touch-up job.

About the only thing, Ben, that I haven't figured out a second use for is the toothpaste tube (well squeezed). But this old stringsaver is working on that.

Leather To Be Fall Feature

Leather jackets are popular and varied for fall including cropped battle jackets, smart shirt-jackets and smocks and blazers. Also on the leather list are cardigans, tuxedo types and safari jackets. These come in both suede and grained leathers and will top off pants, skirts and dresses.

Leather vests are also good. The longer jacket type of vest is great with pants, while shorter leather vests can be worn with skirt and shirt outfits.

John R. Fitzhenry Weds Pamela Jackson

Pamela is the daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. John W. Jackson of Vandenberg Air Force Base, and John's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. Robert Fitzhenry of Kentfield.

Deborah Jackson of Vandenberg was her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sister, Colleen Fitzhenry of Kentfield, Mary Robinson of Fairfax and Mrs. Lucis Chavance of North Hollywood.

Barry Stockwell of Greenbrae served as best man. Guests were seated by Terry Jackson of Vandenberg, the bride's brother; Robert Beckham of San Francisco and Daniel Davis of Long Beach.

A reception was given at the Vandenberg Air Force Base Officers Club.

Pamela was graduated from Surrahsville High School in Clinton, Md., and the University of California at Santa Barbara.

She has another sister, Mrs. Colin Kowalski of Sacramento.

John also is a graduate of U.C. Santa Barbara and he attended Redwood High School. He has been employed in Santa Barbara.

He is the brother of Patrick and Michael Fitzhenry of Kentfield and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Seitz of Greenbrae and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Fitzhenry of San Anselmo.

Baggies Are Latest Style

Baggies are the latest term for the new style of teen-age pants for boys and girls. Baggies fit fairly snugly in the body but widen out from the thigh on down so that the bottom ranges from 22 to 26 inches.

The general effect is that of a great deal of excess material and there are even ultra baggies that widen out to 40 inches

HELEN HELP US!

Busybodies Spread Rumors About Men Living Together

HELEN:

Why is it that two women can share an apartment to split expenses and who cares, but if two men do likewise for the same reason, they're suspected of being an "odd couple"?

Since we didn't have any major beefs in college, John and I decided we'd try batching together. Right away, we started getting suggestive questions and strange looks.

Must we spend twice as much for rent or else live in a dump, so that a few busybodies can find someone else to yak about? — NOT SO ODD COUPLE IN APARTMENT X

DEAR NOT:

You can knock off the "odd" talk by asking girl friends in often. But busybodies being ever busy, they'll exchange one buzz for another — like "X marks the Playboy Club, and shame on them!!!"

Suggestion No. 2: In the BBs, hearing, quote psychologists who say that people resent or suspect in others what they fear most in themselves. (Thus the loudest whisperer is often a latent homosexual, or maybe even a closet queen.) — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Your employers expect honesty, but they make it so that dishonesty pays. For example, a co-worker calls in sick at least twice a month, and her salary isn't docked. She's healthy as a horse.

I've never asked for time off, but last week I really needed a day so that I could go on a special trip with my husband. The answer was a flat "no!"

A friend of mine, also honest, asked for a half-day off to attend the funeral of a very close relative. She'd worked there four years. They said, "Take the whole day." Real great of them — except she didn't get that day's pay.

My husband says, "This will teach you!" Next time, if there is one, should I lie like the smart people who go on fully-paid "sick leave"? — TOO HONEST FOR MY OWN GOOD

DEAR HONEST:

"Vote your conscience." But bear in mind that basically honest people somehow can't pull off a lie. They're the ones who "get caught on the first try." — H.

Government Shows More Interest

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — Federal agencies and departments have been setting some sort of record in recent months for showing interest in consumer problems. In place of the usual mid-summer doldrums has been an unusual flurry of press releases, speeches and pronouncements expressing official concerns.

The general impression is one of an administration deeply committed to improving every facet of personal life. At the same time, the administration is being criticized by some consumer advocates for allegedly undermining important legislation in Congress.

Whatever the actual role of the administration is on any issue, there is something for almost everyone in the latest crop of government publications, including an index to others you might have missed.

Standards for Meat and Poultry Products. This is a four-page folder published by the Department of Agriculture listing percentages of meat required in standard food products. It is available free from Consumer Product Information, Washington, D.C., 20407.

BRAND NAMES Identical to Products Purchased and Tested for Use by the Federal Government. This is the second edition of a list of some 400 consumer products purchased by the General Services Administration. The list does not constitute an endorsement of any product, nor does the list include all competing brands in any product category. The list may be of more value to businessmen than consumers. It is available for 25 cents from Consumer Product Information.

Importing a Foreign Car. This is an eight-page pocket-size pamphlet describing problems of shipping duties, licensing and clearance procedures involved in importing a foreign motor vehicle. Foreign cars must comply with all vehicle and emission standards. The publication costs 10 cents and can be obtained from the same source previously mentioned.

Facts About Hearing and Hearing Aids. This is a glossy 34-page booklet with many illustrations outlining the problems faced by more than 20 million Americans. It is must reading for anyone who suffers from some hearing loss and is consdering purchasing a hearing aid. For such people, the booklet is well worth the 60 cents it costs from the same source mentioned for the previous booklets.

(ALMOST) EVERYTHING You Ever Wanted to Know About Boating ... But Were Ashamed to Ask. Despite the cuteness of the title and similar contrived cleverness in the text, this publication is of value to small bgat owners who want to know about the latest safety regulations, which have been coming out almost daily. It is free from Consumer Product Information.

Official Recreational Boating Guide. This is a more soberly worded discussion about federal safety regulations, giving details on required and optional equipment and aids to navigation. It costs 60 cents from the same source.

Ladders. This is a slick 20-page booklet giving many people more than they might want to know about ladders. It is the fifth of a series of booklets. Previous ones were entitled Automobile Batteries (40 cents), Fire Extinguishers (40 cents), Vacuum Cleaners (40 cents) and Paint and Painting (60 cents). Ladders costs 45 cents from the same source.

Index to consumer-oriented publications. This is a list of about 200 publications of practical use in buying and caring for consumer products. It is available without charge from Consumer Product Information, Washington, D.C., 20407.

"The laziest way known to man . . . to get inches off fast," T. V. Guide

Everybody from Vogue to Time Magazine is talking about the mummy wrap. T. V. Guide says, "Show business people have been quietly using the mummification method for about 25 years." According to Pageant, "Jane Fonda is reported to have successfully remodeled her legs using it . . . Candy Bergen is supposed to have firmed her entire body." A Vogue editor claims to have "lost 5 inches of derriere". Time says it's "the most passive reduction plan yet invented".

You can lose 5 to 24 inches in 90 minutes flat.

Now the mummy wrap is available to women in this area — at a very reasonable cost. Come into the Ann Marie Figure Salon for a free, confidential figure analysis. After your first 90-minute visit you'll probably see a loss of at least 5 inches from various parts of your body. Some people lose 18 to 25 inches on their very first visit. Everybody loses at least 7½ inches by their second visit or their money back.

It's like a facelift for your body.

Here's what we do. We wrap you up tight where you need to be formed. We use a soft cotton wrap and a marvelous organic lotion underneath it all. This wrapping acts as a miraculous toner, smoothing and tightening the skin as it compresses and firms the fatty tissue beneath.

As everyone over 20 knows, even skinny people have a layer of fat beneath the skin. With the years, even the healthiest layer of fat becomes loose and ripply. Excess fluids collect in the tissues to add bulk. The mummy wrap is the quickest and easiest way yet invented to force the excess bloat from the tissues and firm skin and flesh at the same time. If you have any scars or stretch marks you'll notice that the mummy wrap lightens them, too. It's also great for trimming down a double chin and minimizing wrinkles on the face and throat.

Safe as a massage.

The wrap feels cool and rather delicious. You can read a book or take a snooze or just daydream about the Unwrap. Nothing could be less artificial — or more safe — than the wrap.

It was discovered right after World War II by a physiotherapist named Ben Benne, working with paraplegiacs in Europe. He wrapped his patients with very tight bandages to ease their pain. With each unwrapping, he noticed his patients becoming slimmer and firmer-fleshed. He soon took his method to America, where it was put to work slimming down members of the New York theater. Now, 25 years later, Ann Marie can put the wrap to work on you.

ART REVIEW

Tiburon Show Takes On A Special Funky Charm

By LAURA DEVENDORF

The Tiburon Peninsula is no artist colony. And so "The Peninsula People's Showcase" of resident artists and craftsmen at Old St. Hilary's Church often looks as folksy as it sounds.

Even though it has some notable pieces such as Helen Steinau Rich's formidable mosaic bugs and Janet Van Evera's thready olive weaving peppered with gold and orange squares, probably half the work doesn't belong in a so-called, legitimate art show. Yet there's a sort of innocent surprise to the thing which excuses its artistic shortcomings.

In fact, the more you look, the more the unusual, the odd, the inappropriate and occasionally even the terrible become heroes of its special funky charm. It's the naive conglomeration of decoupage, decorated eggs, leather, batiks, sculpture, ceramics, stitchery pillows, weaving, macrame, shell mosaics, crewel, jewelry, metal work, oils, mobiles, stained glass, watercolors and drawings which gets to you.

More particularly, Justine Oyester's mad papier mache rabbit and Marioe Gwathmey's elegant oriental rugs scaled down in needlepoint to doll house size are just more interesting than the usual art show fare. The spring colors and prints in Olive Cook's patchwork quilt and the brown and white checks, velvets and prints in Joan Krivda's quilt also are a pleasant change, as are Peter Arnold's mobiles, one made from slender wild grass stems and the other from fishing lures and corks.

Geoff Smith, age 11, acquits himself quite well with a pair of unusual leather moccasins, as does Anna Allsman with stained glass in simple, heavy chunks imbedded in cement. And how long has it been since you've seen wild flowers pressed in old fashioned bouquets?

You may never hear from "The Peninsula People's Showcase" as a group again. But the show, presented by the Tiburon Landmarks Society a show probably only children should — is an improbable pleasure.

It may be seen Wednesdays and Sundays through Sept. 20 between 1 and 4 p.m.

MUSIC REVIEWS

'The Magic Flute' Is Splendid

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

The eighth annual Inverness Music Festival yesterday afternoon offered a splendid version of Mozart's "The Magic Flute," conducted by Sandor Salgo and sung in perfectly understood English.

Improvement was to be expected when Salgo, a noted Mozart specialist, took over musical direction of the festival and brought together some of the finest young professional singers in the state with backgrounds that included Stanford, Sonoma State College, Carmel Bach Festival and the San Francisco Opera and its Merola program. Also involved were other young people experienced in stagecraft.

Some 400 people —a larger crowd than in previous years — pretty well filled the amphitheater adjoining St. Columba's Church to hear the philosophical fairy tale with Dale Cutler at the piano as sole accompaniment.

Several changes in staging were necessary because of the outdoor locale and necessity for simple settings, such as elimination of the terrifying serpent and substitution of an effective black and white garden-palace scene of indefinite period for the Egyptian scenes of the time of the Pharoah Rameses I.

Costumes, too, were of indefinite period, but suggestive of character with the exception of those of the bird catcher, Papageno, and his counterpart, bird-wife, Pagagena, which are usually a flurry of feathers.

The major success of the production, therefore, was the glorious music of Mozart and its performance by a splendid cast.

One could scarcely expect to hear and see a better pair of young lovers in a fall opera production than Marin soprano Gwen Curatilo as Pamina and Gary Fisher as Tamino. Just back from a successful year in Europe, Miss Curatilo sang with her usual exquisite clarity, sensitive lyricism and fine feeling for character, and Fisher was equally impressive.

Since information on his identity was inadvertently dropped from the program, those attending will be interested to know that he is director of the opera department at Los Angeles City College.

Baritone Marc Clemens won top honors as Papageno and Marin soprano Margot Power, usually heard in very serious roles and song recitals, was surprisingly successful in the comic role of Papagena. Their famous stuttering duet was a gem.

As the high priest Sarastro, bass Richard Clark, who has some of the finest music in the opera, sang well, though somewhat stiffly and without as much power as one would expect from a young San Francisco Opera singer.

Soprano Joan Zajac, a young Los Angeles singer, negotiated the pyrotechnical coloratura passages of the Queen of the Night, including the revenge aria with its two high Fs, with great agility but not very musically. The aria is a very difficult feat for the greatest of sopranos. She also sang more to the audience than to the characters addressed.

One of the most lively acted roles and well sung too by John Duykers, who will make his debut with the San Francisco Opera this fall, was that of the comic villain Monostatos. Robert Bernard and Tommy Golecke sang well and made properly impressive priests.

Two delightful trios were high spots of the production —the queen's three attendants and the three spirits.

The opera will be repeated next Sunday at 3 p.m: in the amphitheater. Take some warm clothing on the chance the weather may be as cold though sunny as it was yesterday.

The cast: Sarastro, high priest, Richard Clark; Prince Tamino, Gary Fisher; Papageno, a bird catcher, Marc Clemens; Monostatos, comic villain, John Duykers; two priests and two armed men, Tommy Golecke and Robert Bernard; Queen of the Night, Joan Zajac; her daughter, Pamina, Gwen Curatilo; queen's attendants, Susanne Stull, Dorothy Barnhouse and Judith Jaquet; three spirits, Suzanne Preston, Arlene Adams and Elizabeth Engan; three slaves, Michael Petersen, James Armington and Fred W. Goff.

Mozart Performances Delight At Inverness

By ROBERT M. NESS

Unveiling the enchantment and diversity of Mozart's music in a setting of utmost beauty, director Sandor Salgo, the festival orchestra, and guest artist pianist Julian White opened splendidly the Eighth Annual Inverness Festival before a near capacity audience of about 600 Mozart devotees Saturday afternoon.

Besides performing a full length concerto, pianist White returned that evening for a brilliant lecture-recital of Mozart piano works at St. Columba's Church.

Following the rousing "Turkish" splendor of the overture to "The Abduction from the Seraglio", the small string section of the orchestra performed Mozart's last and most pouplar serenade "Eine Kleine Nacht Musik". This work's quiet, almost naive naturalness was ideal for the lively accoustics of the amphitheatre. Working within a narrow dynamic range, Salgo was able to take complete advantage of the piece's delicate shadings and transparent textures.

The introspective side of Mozart was revealed in an exquisite performance of the D minor piano concerto K. 466 with pianist Julian White. The poignantly beautiful "Romanza" second movement was a masterpiece of sustained liquid piano playing.

Of Mozart's three last, great symphonies, the E flat K. 543 is the most pastoral and mellow. By omitting oboes and giving soprano winds to a single flute and two clarinets, he creates a warm roundness to the texture and character of the work. This was a delicious choice for this chamber orchestra.

While there wasn't the ensemble precision of a group that plays together regularly, the spontaneity and alertness of the musicians to Salgo's direction carried the afternoon's performance to many beautiful heights.

Though cramped and hard seating in St. Columba's Church became sort of an endurance test to the evening audience, pianist Julian White's offering was more than just compensation. Besides his astonishing performance, his comments about each work added an unexpected element that was both enlightening and humorous.. The Victor Borge-like analysis of the C major K. 309 Sonata was as hilarious as it was valid.

White is a pianist with priorities. Musical considerations precede pianistic vanity. The delicacy of a turn may as well be sacrificed if it gets in the way of the larger musical plan. Some missed notes may result in virtuosic passages, but they are always part of the frosting and never part of the cake.

While the two early sonatas were beautifully played, it was in the two later C minor works, the Fantasia K. 475 and Sonata K. 457, that White's artistry came through with the most impact. Treating the Fantasy as an extended introduction to the Sonata, large sweeping musical ideas unfolded carefully and delicately each tied to the other with a magical warmth and clarity. It was an astounding musical experience.

Fischer Has Another Protest, Recent Delay

REYKJAVIK (UPI)—U. S. challenger Bobby Fischer today rejected as "insufficient" the medical certificate saying Boris Spassky was ill and could not play the 14th game of the world chess championship Sunday. The Russians laughed at Fischer's assertion.

Fischer, leading by a full three points in the $250,000 match, instructed his aide, Fred Cramer, a vice president of the International Chess Federation, to write arbiter Lothar Schmid an official protest.

Schmid said he had not yet received the letter but, when shown a copy of it, disputed the American's understanding of the rules.

The letter complained that Fischer had not received a photostat of the medical certificate and suggested that if no specific medical reason was stated in it for postponing the game then "it (the certificate) is too vague and indefinite to meet match rules. Schmid appeared annoyed by the new Fischer complaint and said, "It is not necessary to give specific reasons. If you read the paragraph carefully it merely states the doctor has to issue a certificate, not give the reason. Mr. Cramer is wrong."

"If the official match doctor decides Spassky cannot play, then Fischer, Schmid and everyone has to accept the verdict of the qualified medical expert," Ney, one of Spassky's four seconds, said.

"Mr. Spassky's health is much better, thank you, and we might even play tennis later today," Ney said. Asked if Spassky would be able to play Tuesday, Ney replied, "Yes, definitely."

The Fischer letter stopped short of asking for a forefeit, and chess sources said the challenger made the protest to insure that both Spassky and Schmid abide by the rules for the world match.

Under the rules, either player can take three postponements for medical reasons. The first time Spassky asked for a postponement the doctor's certificate said he had a "head cold." The doctor's statement Sunday said only, "I have today examined Boris Spassky who does not feel well. I have on medical reasons advised him not to play the game scheduled for today."

Cramer said Fischer called him at 8 a.m. today and asked for a chess book and his mail to read. He then asked if the photostat of the medical certificate had come in the morning mail. When it had not, Fischer asked Cramer to write the letter.

Thieves Take Coin Box From Machine

Two thieves broke a candy-machine padlock and stole a coin box of undetermined value yesterday from the Pacific Telegraph and Telephone Co. equipment yard at 96 Louise Street, San Rafael, police reported today.

Police said a witness reported seeing two men leaving the yard at 11 p.m. last night.

Flutist Is Highlight Of Art Quartet

By WILLIAM CLARK

A rare combination of youth, discipline and vitality marked the performance last night of the Baroque Arts Quartet at the Community Congregational Church in Tiburon.

Through careful attention to details of balance and articulation, the quartet managed to convert an essentially homogeneous collection of instruments and pieces into a delightfully varied and interesting program.

Most remarkable was the flute playing of David Lubke, whose full tone and rhythmic drive contributed to a fresh and moving reading of the Vivaldi Trio in A Minor which showed a maturity belying his apparent youth.

John Andrew Morrison's neat, articulate oboe, Carol Negro's fully-controlled bassoon, and Carol Ramsey's unobtrusive harpsichord rounded out a cohesive group which brought to life a Pachelbel partita whose vaulting courant and graceful saraband could have been dancing music.

Included in the program was Karl Ahrendt's recent work "Intrada". Inventive and listenable, it relied heavily on dissolving at the moment of development into a new idea and its organization resembled that of a light show.

The quartet also played works by Telemann, Quantz and a little known Baroque composer, J. J. Naudot, whose neglect is perhaps justified.

Woodcock Hits Nixon 'Failures'

DALLAS (UPI)—The president of the United Automobile Workers says President Nixon's failures on the domestic front and in Vietnam far outweigh his successes in foreign policy.

Leonard Woodcock said Saturday those failures would be strong enough to defeat the President in November.

Woodcock also said the president's wage and price policies favored the rich at the expense of the working man.

Ag Preserve Issue Before Supervisors

The Marin County Board of Supervisors, meeting tomorrow at 9 a.m. at the civic center, will hold a series of hearings on rezoning of the county's agricultural preserve.

Under consideration will be about 120,000 acres of rural lands around Point Reyes Station, Nicasio, Bolinas and Muir Beach.

All have been recommended for low-density A-60, 40, 20 and 5 zoning, with A-60 (one unit per 60 acres) the predominant recommendation.

Rezoning of the county's sprawling preserve is required under state law to protect the agricultural industry from the pressures of urban growth.

The law — the Williamson Act — states that lands within the preserve must be zoned in a manner compatible with agriculture.

The planning department maintains that A-60 zoning is the most compatible for Marin's dairying and livestock operations.

The agricultural preserve was broken into five planning sections when rezoning hearings began last year before the planning commission.

Two sections — about 20,000 acres around Novato and 60,000 acres in the northwestern portion of the county — already have been rezoned by the supervisors.

Tomorrow's hearing will take up the last three sections and will conclude the rezoning procedure.

Some landowners, opposed to low-density rezoning as a confiscation of land, have threatened to take the county to court.

Conservationists, meanwhile, have applauded the rezoning as a long overdue measure to protect agriculture and open space.

The agenda includes another West Marin controversy concerning Herbert Angress's proposal to build condominiums on the Tomales Bay shoreline near Marshall.

The proposal, which has been pending for years, has brought opposition from conservationists who think he should build a motel, as he originally planned.

The Supervisors Agenda Also Includes:

OPEN SPACE — A proposed resolution approving formation of a countywide park district for open space and placing the proposed district on the November ballot.

MAPPING — A proposal that the county enter into an agreement with the state division of Mines and Geology for a geologic hazard survey of about 17 square miles in the Novato area. Local cost of $10,000 would be divided between the county and Novato.

ALCOHOL — A comprehensive alcoholism program plan for treatment of the county's alcoholics. The plan is to be submitted to the state in the hope of collecting about $250,000 in funds.

CRIME LAB — A request from the county's criminal justice planning agency that the county enter into an agreement with the state for a crime laboratory at the sheriff's office. The three-year pilot project would be financed with about $250,000 state funds and some county funds.

Ordway Petaluma United Way Head

James H. Ordway has been named chairman of the United Way campaign in Petaluma, which opens Sept. 13.

Ordway, manager of a Petaluma department store, served as a division chairman in the 1970 and 1971 campaigns when the organization was known as United Crusade. The campaign is scheduled to continue to Oct. 26.

Foundation Grant

Sonoma State College has received a $2,200 National Science Foundation grant to buy ecology research equipment, according to Dr. Wesley Ebert, chairman of the biology department.

New Waste System Due Discussion

A director of the Stinson Beach County Water District has called a community meeting to discuss a proposed waste treatment system for the town for 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the community center.

Proctor Jones said he decied to meet with the residents to find out "exactly what the community wants in the way of a sewer system."

The director added that other members of the water district board do not think a meeting on the proposed system is warranted at this time because the district has no formal plans to present.

But Jones believes the district should "find out what the general attitude of the community is at this time, not wait until after we have formal plans."

Trubach's Works Are On Display

Wood collages and paintings by Sausalito artist Serge Trubach are on exhibit at Humanist House, 126 El Camino Del Mar, San Francisco.

The show will run through Sept. 23. Hours are weekdays, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m.

The Red Cross needs some long green from you.

The American Red Cross is spending well over ten million dollars to help pick up the pieces. And people like you are the only people we have to turn to.

Won't you help—and soon? Even a little bit means a lot!

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Dear Mr. Quiz:

I wish to correct an error you made in your column about Bing Crosby. You stated he has never won a single Academy Award for acting. He did, in fact, win one for his role in "Going My Way" in 1944. Enclosed is a news item from our paper (San Rafael Independent-Journal) which reports that Crosby's Oscar had been stolen and later found. Signed: Mrs. B.R.S.

Dear Mrs. S:

Thanks both to you and 13-year-old Joan D., who also wrote, we can set the record straight. Yes, indeed, Der Bingle was, is, and always has been an Academy Award winner! What fooled me was Crosby's own modesty in not claiming credit for his top prize in his "Who's Who" write-up, which ordinarily is the most authoritative source for data about living celebrities. Editors of that publication send "proofs" of their biographies to each person to be corrected before going to press. Well, somehow or another, Bing's achievement got left out of his life summary in this particular edition of "Who's Who." Glad you caught it! Our apologies to Bing, who lives at Atherton, Calif., and who was generous enough to donate his Oscar for display at Gonzaga University.

FAMOUS BIRTHDAYS TODAY

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. John Chancellor served for two years as director of "Voice of America."
2. Dr. Ernest Dichter introduced "depth-interviewing" to TV network talk shows.
3. Fra Paolo argued for free thought in a 17th century controversy with Pope Paul V.

ANSWERS

1. True; 2. False; 3. True.

Aug. 14, 1972

Sheila Good

Put Down Lead Suit Last If Partner Likes To Hurry

A certain kind of declarer takes pride in making his first play from the dummy in less than one-hundredth of a second. If you're blessed with such a partner, put down the suit of the opening lead last. He may get some grasp of the hand as a whole before he makes his first play from the dummy.

FIRST MISTAKE

West opened the seven of clubs, and North made the mistake of putting the clubs down first. Declarer played a low club from the dummy before he had seen the rest of the hand. This set a new city-wide record for speed in playing to the first trick. Naturally East won and returned the jack of hearts.

South broke into a cold sweat, now he could see that he had let a cold game slip through his fingers. He put up the ace of hearts and started the diamonds, hoping that West had the ace of diamonds or that East had the king of hearts.

NO FORGIVENESS

The cards didn't forgive South for treating them so badly. East took the first diamond and led the ten of hearts. The defenders quickly rattled off three heart tricks, defeating the contract.

The correct play is, of course, clear by now. Declarer must win the first trick with dummy's ace of clubs. He can then begin the diamonds, and is in position to take four diamonds, three spades and two aces as soon as he regains the lead.

OPENED FOR ENEMY

It may seem that the clubs are opened up for the enemy, but dummy's eight will surely provide a second stopper. East can take the ace of diamonds and two top clubs, but then he must hand the lead back to declarer.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - J 10 4
♥ - J 10 9 3
♦ - A 4
♣ - K Q 5 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention, asking partner to show a major suit of four or more cards.

If he bids two hearts, you plan to raise to four hearts; if he bids anything else, you will go to three no-trump.

Mother's Milk Plea Renewed

FRESNO, Calif (UPI)—The mother whose plea for mother's milk for her infant son brought donations and offers from throughout the nation last month now says the offers have stopped.

Mrs. Kathy Bedrosian said her 14-week-old boy, Brian Jr., has been taken to Stanford Medical center in Palo Alto.

He suffers from an intestinal disorder and doctors at Stanford said he can only digest human milk.

Sterley Edges Jermane To Win Golf Champs' Tourney

Jack Sterley, after playing the entire morning in second place, drew even with Mike Jermane on the 17th hole and passed him on the 18th to win the sixth annual Marin County Tournament of Champions golf match yesterday at Marin Country Club in Novato.

Sterley, representing Peacock Gap golf course of San Rafael, and Jermane of the host club played a head-to-head struggle beneath clear, breezy skies. Their final scores were 78 and 79, for the par 72 course.

The rest of the six-man field did poorly, albeit equally poorly. Al Randig from Novato's Indian Valley came in at 86. Dr. Doug Ramsey of Meadow Club scored 87 and Wayne Smith of Mill Valley and Chuck Freitas of San Geronimo had 88s.

"I started knocking in some putts and making some chips on the back nine, after being in trouble on the first couple of holes," the 48-year-old Sterley commented after his victory. He played in the tourney once before, in 1970, and finished third.

After bogeying four of the first five holes, Sterley found himself three stroes behind the power-hitting Jermane, and the score stayed the same until hole No. 13. There, Jermane pulled his second shot off to the left of the green and took a double-bogey, while Sterley got his par in four after a magnificent second shot out of the left-side rough.

Sterley had a fine chance to tie the match on the par three 140-yard 15th as he stroked a beautiful chip to within four feet of the cup. But he missed the putt, and both he and Jermane settled for bogeys.

The 16th hole was a comic opera as Jermane hit his first shot into the water, while Sterley dogged a chip shot that went 10 feet into the sand. Both recovered, however, Jermane with a tremendous drive after dropping one that put him on the green, Sterley with a chip shot that left him 10 feet from the hole.

The shot that made the difference for Sterley came on the 17th — a beautiful second shot with a seven iron that got him to within a dozen feet of the flag. He took a par while Jermane bogeyed, and the match was tied.

On 18, Sterley was on the green in two, Jermane was just over the green on the left side. Sterley sank his second putt, Jermane his third and that was the ball game.

Sterley, relaxing at lunch following the match, gave special credit to his teaching pro at Peacock, Roberto Baciocco. He also congratulated his caddie, Bob Savale, whom he defeated last fall for the Peacock club championship. "The only thing he didn't do that he should have was putt for me," Sterley laughed.

Jermane shouldn't have been too depressed, since he played extremely well through most of the match. His powerful tee and iron shots were without doubt the class of the tourney, eclipsing at times even the steady, pro-like play of Sterley. Jermane played with a five handicap, Sterley with a six, so both came up with top-rate performances.

As word got around of the tight duel being played, the gallery for the lead threesome of Sterley, Jermane and Ramsey began to grow. By match's end a crowd of nearly 50 spectators was on hand. The course itself was in good shape, except for a few greens where the ball bounced on long putts. The fairways were immaculate, however, and the pin placements were extremely challenging.

FIRST VICTORY

49ers' Brodie Drills Browns

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — It was San Francisco quarterback John Brodie against Cleveland's Mike Phipps Sunday in a pre-season game that was as close as the 20-13 score would indicate.

Brodie hit 16 of 26 passes for 167 yards and Phipps connected on 12 of 18 tosses for 163 yards. Both men tossed one touchdown pass.

Early in the third quarter Phipps hit wide receiver Frank Pitts for a 57-yard score and the Browns' only touchdown. Cleveland also had two field goals.

Brodie, who stayed all the way for the 49ers, had two passes intercepted. The first interception, according to Nolan, "would have been good. The ball was deflected by a man on the right side, probably the defensive end."

Asked why he didn't send in backup quarterback Joe Reed, Nolan said: "I was going to play him at the end ok the first half but by the time we got the ball there was only a minute left and I didn't see the sense of putting him in just to run out a clock."

Bruce Gossett then kicked a 32-yard field goal for the 49ers for the games final score.

MANAGER WILLIAMS RETAINED

A's Return To First Place As Blue Blanks White Sox

BALTIMORE (UPI) —Vida Blue pitched his third shutout of the season just in time to get the Oakland A's back into first place in the American League West, and now he takes the week off for some much needed dental work.

Blue stopped the Chicago White Sox on three singles and a double Sunday in Oakland to give the A's a 3-0 victory and a split of the big weekend series.

ROAD TRIP

Thus, the A's start a 10-game road swing tonight, a game ahead of the White Sox and six ahead of the third place Minnesota Twins.

Both A's skipper Dick Williams, signed to a new two-year contract by owner Charlie Finley Saturday night, and for a big boost in salary, and White Sox manager Chuck Tanner seemed pleased with the split.

A first inning single by Mike Epstein and bases-empty homers by Dave Duncan in the sixth and Bert Campaneris in the seventh accounted for Oakland's runs Sunday.

BLUE'S EFFORT

Meanwhile, Blue, who pitched his third shutout and his fifth win in 12 decisions, finished with three strikeouts and two walks.

He relied more on breaking balls than his famed fastball, and the strategy paid off.

"His breaking balls were just great," said Tanner. "He was so effective that he had us guessing on the fastball. He pitched a real fine game."

"Fantastic," is the way Williams put it, and then said Blue will be idle until next Monday in Detroit. "Vida used his head as much as his arm, and that's a sign of his maturity."

But Williams wasn't about to concede that Blue once again has become the club's stopper.

OTHER PITCHERS

"I have three other guys (Holtzman, Jim Hunter and John Odom) who are pitching pretty good," said Williams, "Although I don't discount the fact that Blue is making a contribution. Heck, any time he pitches we have to figure we are in that ball game."

Williams also conceded, and Tanner agreed, that the A.L. West title is up for grabs between their two clubs and the Twins.

"It's going to be a fine race," said Williams, "But really, I can't concern myself too much with what the other guys are doing. If we do our job we'll be all right."

BAHNSEN LOSES

Stan Bahnsen was Sunday's loser. The A's reached him for eight of their 11 hits and all of their runs and sent the veteran righthander down to his 13th defeat to go with his 15 victories. Bahnsen was also the loser Friday night in the continuation of Thursday night's marathon 19-inning game, which the A's won on a two-run homer by Joe Rudi.

The A's made 13 doubleplays during the series and that fact more than anything else kept them alive. Also during the series, Wilbur Wood became the major league's first 20-game winner of the season, and he did it with a two-hit, 11 inning effort.

Italian Club Wins DiMaggio Crown

By LEW CODDINGTON

Knocked down almost for the count, Italian Club got up, dusted itself off, and scored a second-round knockout Saturday night.

It wasn't a boxing match, but instead the Marin County championship series in Joe DiMaggio baseball. Italian Club rallied from a 5-0 deficit to take the first game, 7-6, then won the second easily, 9-1, for a sweep of the best-of-three series at Albert Park in San Rafael.

The victory propelled the Italians, comprised mostly of players from Redwood High School's championship team, into the DiMaggio regional playoff beginning Friday, also at Albert.

Rangy right hander Ed Anderson won both games in relief for the Italians, an ironic situation since, at 15, he is too young to participate in the regionals.

Annex Motors had its golden opportunity in the first game. The underdog North division champions (9-5 for the season) had a 5-0 lead, their ace (Ray Stafford) on the mound, and Italian's top rested pitcher

Oakland Entertains Baltimore

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Baltimore Colts, who like to use the zone defense, figure to present the Oakland Raiders with a lot of problems tonight when the two teams meet in a National Football League exhibition game at the Coliseum.

The Colts were tops in the NFL last year in total defense, gave up only one more point than the Minnesota Vikings (140) and set seven team records in the bargain.

Since the same defensive unit is back in one piece the raiders figure to have a hard time tonight as they seek their second exhibition victory. Oakland beat New England, 31-24, last week while the Colts were surprised by Washington, 33-3.

In four pre-season games Baltimore has won three times. The only Oakland victory over the Colts was last year in Jacksonville, Fla.

The game starts at 8 p.m. PDT and, as usual, is a sellout.

A CINCINNATI FAVORITE

Giant Willoughby Tops Astros Again

Willoughby pitches for the San Francisco Giants and his specialty is beating the Houston Astros, the Reds' major foe in the National League East pennant race. Since he came up from the minors 10 days ago, he has defeated the Astros twice—4-3 on a four-hitter Sunday and 6-2 a week ago Sunday.

His first victory kept the Astros from pulling to within four games of the Reds and his second triumph enabled the Reds to move 5 ½ games in front of Houston.

The lanky rookie had a 9-8 record with a 4.66 earned run average at Phoenix in the Pacific Coast League, but he's 2-0 with a 2.50 ERA against the Astros. His assets are his control, a fast ball that sinks and a slider that breaks down.

'BETTER SLIDER'

"I had a better slider today than the first time," Willoughby said. "I also threw a little harder. I was much more relaxed.

"I hit a groove and felt like I belonged out there," he said.

His biggest problem wasn't the Astros, but a blister on his right forefinger. He's had it both games and it hurts when he throws a slider.

"I think I've been cutting my fingernails too short," he said.

The Giants untied the game from 2-2 with two runs in the sixth. The failure of losing pitcher Jerry Reuss 8-10, played an important part in the inning.

GIANT RALLY

Garry Maddox and Fran Healy led off with singles and Willoughby bunted down the third base line. Reuss failed to field it and Doug Rader, playing back for a possible force at third, could not make a play in time.

That loaded the bases and Reuss walked Bobby Bonds to force in the go-ahead run. Chris Speier drove in what proved to be the winning run with a sacrifice fly.

The Giants had scored in the second on singles by Tito Fuentes and Al Gallagher and a ground ball by Maddox. They scored again in the fifth on

Good Showing For Marin In National AAU Swim

Jo Hislop of San Rafael and Maura Campion of Terra Linda capped the Marin Aquatic Club's most productive national showing in history Saturday with two placings each in the National Amateur Athletic Union Open Swim Championships in Hershey, Pa.

Elsewhere in swimming, Art and Lynne Morrill of Novato and Ken DeMont of Terra Linda won high point trophies for their age groups in the Redwood Empire Swim League Championships in Petaluma, and Jane McCollister of Terra Linda captured five first places and set five National records in the 50-54 age group in the second annual National Masters Swim Championships in Bloomington, Ind.

Miss Hislop nabbed 9th in the 100-meter freestyle with 1:02.1, and 12th in the 200 individual medley. Miss Campion was 13th in the 200 I.M. and 16th in the 1,500 free.

Miss Hislop recorded 29 of Marin's points. "It was an outstanding conclusion to two good weeks of big meets," coach Don Swartz praised.

The most points Marin had scored previously at a National AAU meet was seven, recorded in Los Angeles in 1970.

Morrill, 15, captured the boys 15-17 high point trophy, winning the 100 backstroke, breaststroke, butterfly, and 200 I.M. races. His 56.7 backstroke and 2:02.6 I.M. established RESL records.

Miss Morrill tied for kirst in one event, the 100 breast, but that, coupled with two runner-up showings, was enough to earn her the 13-14 girls high point award.

DeMont, brother of U.S. Olympian Rick, won the 100 back in league record time for boys 13-14 (1:02.2) to earn his trophy.

The Marin Aquatic Club, paced by these swimmers, won for the second straight year over six North Bay rivals with 789 points. The Petaluma Swim Club finished second (680½), with the Novato Aquanauts third (494).

Petaluma had four high point winners, with Steve Cleveland in boys 9-10, April Swanson in girls 11-12, David Nelson in boys 11-12, and Cookie Arrighi in girls 15-17.

Cleveland won the 100 I.M., 50 breaststroke, and 50 butterfly for his age group, while Miss Swanson won the 100 breast in league record time (1:14.7) in hers. She, too, capture the I.M. event.

Nelson, one of the most promising swimmers in the age-group program anywhere, won the 100 backstroke (1:04.8), 100 breaststroke (1:08.5), and 200 I.M. (2:12.0), all for league standards.

Miss Arrighi established a league mark in the 100 back (1:03.2), and also won the 100 fly and 200 I.M. races.

Sunchaser Wins Bay Challenge Trophy

By PAUL CANE

It created the aura of a tribal ritual, with wives, families, and friends anxiously sipping Ramoz fizzes while gathered on the San Francisco Yacht Club dock, intently watching as yellow-clad human sacrifices ventured into the sea.

But, lo! The ensemble of 10 pilgrims was to return five hours later, as the victorious crewmen of "Sunchaser," the successful defender of the San Francisco Perpetual Challenge Trophy.

Led by winning skippers Jake Wosser and Bert Damner, "Sunchaser" solidly defeated "Alegre," of the San Diego Yacht Club, to win the race's 65th renewal. Both yachts are Palmer-Johnson 43s, designed by Olin Stephens.

Owned by Harry Altick, the Belvedere-based craft outdistanced the challenger by 2 minutes, 13 seconds, plus the 33-second handicap awarded "Sunchaser" under the International Offshore Racing Rules.

Wosser, who improved his won-lost record for this race series to 7-6, said he wasn't worried when he fell behind early. "We were only one boat length behind at the first mark, so we found out early we had the boat speed; we could go fastest into the wind."

Possibly the San Diego crew was "psyched out" from the beginning, after viewing the "Sunchaser" gang, proudly bedecked in yellow polo shirts with the boat's emblem, and matching windbreakers.

It was the third consecutive triumph for the SFYC, and the 13th since the famous series began in the late 1800's.

"Alegre" was piloted by a former San Francisco Y.C. member, John Rumsey, Jr.

"Sunchaser" was the recipient of some last-minute repairs, as the crew discovered in a Saturday measuring that some of its sails were too large for the rating that had been claimed. They were hastened to a repair shop,and were mended, getting to the dock by 12 noon, Sunday, one-half hour before the boat was scheduled to leave for the starting point at the St. Francis Yacht Club, San Francisco.

A bit of piloting strategy got the local craft the lead after #7, as Damner and Wosser kept the spinnaker aloft and ventured way out of line to the next mark in order to keep the wind. "They took their spinnaker down early and used the reach jib," Wosser explained. "We had more sail and more power then, to get the lead."

Altick, a 33-year-old stockbroker, was exuberant. "I've never been happier, my love affair for this boat is now complete."

The two captains, they say, never find themselves in argument over race strategy. "There just isn't any conflict," Wosser said. "We have great rapport." Both are veteran yachtsmen, world champions in the International One-Design Class.

Nicklaus Wins, Ties Own Record

HARRISON, N.Y. (U PI)— Jack Nicklaus won his fifth tournament of the year —tying his personal record for one season —and now has banked $240,213 in 1972 prize money.

"Sure, I'd like to get up to $300,000 but I don't think I'll be playing in enough tournaments the rest of the year to win that much," said the Golden Bear after knocking out a final-round 68 with birdies on the last two holes to win the $50,000 jackpot by three shots over Jim Colbert in the Westchester Classic Sunday. He was 18 under par and tied the tournament record of 270 set by Arnold Palmer last year.

NEVIL

Dwight Nevil, the former Dallas fire laddie who gave Nicklaus a terrific challenge before he fell back to third place for $17,750, is in only his second year of touring with the big boys and the Westchester paycheck was bigger than his entire 1971 total ($12,839) and more than he had won all this year getting up to Westchester ($9,030.77).

Nicklaus, all along, has been able to key himself for certain tournaments that he wants most to win. He now has won 42 tour events but more important to him are the Big Four-U.S. Open, Professional Golfers Association, Masters and British Open — which he has won a total of 13 times.

NICKLAUS

Nicklaus, who once trailed Nevil by three shots in the third round, began the fourth with a two stroke lead over the ex-fire fighter. Nevil closed the gap by one but Nicklaus began to draw away with his first birdie of the round at the ninth and put the frosting on the cake with birdies at the 17th and 18th.

Colbert, with a hole-in-one on a nine iron shot at the 130-yard sixth hole, added another eagle at the ninth with a four wood shot to 2 ½ feet from the pin on a round of 65.

"I figured il was my day for eagles and the only way I could catch Nicklaus was to get some more," said chunky Jim, who opened the final round six shots off the pace. But no more eagles came and he wound up three shots back at 15-underpar 273 for second money of $28,500.

Homero Blancas, also in with a final-round 65 finished fourth at 276, George Archer and first-day leader DeVitt Weaver shared the next slot at 277 while Charle Sifford and Gay Brewer were next in line at 278.

CESAR SLID — Houston Astros hitting sensation Cesar Cedeno stole home against the San Francisco Giants in the third inning yesterday, while catcher Dave Rader awaited a late throw from third baseman Al Gallagher. The Giants won, 4-3. (UPI Telephoto)

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Carlton Wins 19th Without His Stuff

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Steve Carlton won't admit to being the best pitcher in baseball, but his competitors grow smaller by comparison every four days.

Carlton, a veritable shoo-in for the National League's Cy Young Awa rd this season, recorded his 14th victory in a row Sunday when he hurled a three-hitter to spark the Philadelphia Phillies to a 2-1 victory over the Montreal Expos in the first game of a doubleheader.

The triumph was the 19th against only six losses for the 27-year-old lefthander, who has not lost since May 30. And this one was marked by the thing that distinguishes great pitchers from ordinary ones—he won it without having his good stuff.

CLUB RECORD

Carlton, who has won almost half of the Phillies' 41 victories this year, set a club record for most strikeouts during a season by fanning eight. That brought his total for the year to a major league leading 240, which is three more than Chris Short registered for the Phillies in 1965.

Carlton has been virtually unhittable over the last three weeks. In his last six starts he has allowed only 25 hits and two runs, only one of which was earned. That earned run came in the fourth inning Sunday when Bob Bailey hit his 13th homer of the year.

OTHER SCORES

In other NL action, Cincinnati routed Atlanta 9-4, San Francisco edged Houston 4-3, Los Angeles topped San Diego 5-3, Chicago beat New York 7-4 and St. Louis blanked Pittsburgh 2-0 in the first game of a doubleheader then lost the nightcap 7-5.

Pete Rose, Bobby Tolan and Darrell Chaney each collected a pair of hits as the Reds clobbered Denny McLain and salvaged the third game of their three-game set with the Braves. Hank Aaron hit his 24th homer of the season and 663rd of his career for Atlanta.

Willie Davis' second home run of the game, a three-run blast in the eighth inning, enabled the Dodgers to score a come-from-behind victory over San Diego. Ron Perranoski, who rejoined the Dodgers only last week, was the winner in relief. Nate Colbert hit his 32nd homer for the Padres.

JENKINS SURVIVES

Ferguson Jenkins survived home runs by Willie Mays and Tommie Agee to win his 16th game with relief help from Jack Aker as the Cubs whipped the Mets. Don Kessinger and Jose Cardenal sparked the Cubs' 12-hit attack with three hits each.

Rick Wise overpowered the Pirates on five hits to highlight the Cardinals' first gamevictory, but Pittsburgh rebounded to take the nightcap.

singles by Bonds, Ken Henderson and Willie McCovey.

Houston scored its first two runs in the third after Roger Metzger singled with one out. Cesar Cedeno sent him to third with a double and he scored on Jim Wynn's ground out to shortstop.

CEDENO

The speedy Cedeno went to third on Wynn's grounder and made a bluff toward home. McCovey threw to Gallagher at third and Cedeno broke for the plate.

Cedeno scored when Gallagher's throw skipped by Healy, the catcher. Cedeno was credited with a stolen base, his 41st of the season.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Largest Crowd Sees Yankees Take Pair

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It was a big day in New York Sunday for American League baseball.

First, the Yankees, featuring back-to-back home runs by Ron Blomberg and Bernie Allen in the seventh inning of the second game, defeated Milwaukee, 5-3 and 5-4.

In other American League games Sunday, Oakland blanked Chicago 4-0, Baltimore belted Boston 8-2, Detroit nipped Cleveland 3-2 before losing the second game 9-2.

Detroit broke out of its hitting famine temporarily with a "lottery" lineup that included light-hitting Ed Brinkman batting cleanup in the opener, but two home runs by Ray Fosse and another by Graig Nettles earned Cleveland a split in the nightcap. Tiger manager Billy Martin drew his players names out of a hat for his opening lineup and Brinkman drove in the tying run with a sixth inning double and then scored the winning run in the on Tony Taylor's single.

The Orioles clung to a 1½game lead over the Yankees and Tigers as catcher Johnny Oates climaxed a four-run seventh inning rally over the Red Sox with a two-run double. Bobby Grich added his 10th homer of the season for the Orioles and rookie Don Baylor contributed three singles and a pair of RBI's.

San Mateo Girl Wins U.S. Net

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Ann Kiyomura of San Mateo, Calif., won the 55th U.S. Girls' Grass Court championship Saturday with a 6-3, 6-2 upset win over topseeded Marita Redondo of National City, Calif.

Miss Redondo, the U.S. Women's Amateur Grass Court champion, had trouble with her forehand and two-handed backhand shots, while Miss Kiyomura made use of the drop shot and played a strong offensive game en route to her victory.

The doubles champions are Redondo and Laurie Tenney of Los Angeles. They defeated Miss Kiyomura and Susan Boyle of San Diego, 6-4, 2-6, 6-2.

California Man Wins Marathon On Pike's Peak

MANITOU SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI)—A 21-year-old Californian won the 17th annual Pike's Peak Marathon —a grueling race which takes runners to the top of the 14,110-foot peak and down again —in a near-record time Sunday.

Charles Smead of Santa Paula covered the 26.8-mile route in three hours, 44 minutes, 21 seconds. It was the second best time ever recorded in the marathon.

The record holder, Steven Gachupin, 29, of Jemez Pueblo, N. M., tried for a seventh win in the meet despite illness and finished in ninth place. Gachupin set the course record in 1968 with a time of three hours, 39 minutes, 47 seconds.

starter (Mark Ruggles) in the showers.

But the favored South champions (11-1-1), aided by errors, scored four times in the fifth inning and three more in the seventh. Mike Connor lined a two-out single to center field in the final inning to score the winning run.

"It was a fast ball, thigh-high," said Connor, "right where I like it. I went up there thinking I would hit the first pitch in the strike zone."

Italian Club's other two runs that inning scored on an error by Annex' shortstop. The four-run uprising in the fifth was keyed by a sacrifice fly by Anderson and an RBI single by Jeff Vogel.

Tom Conklin belted a solo home run about 335 feet to left field for Annex in the third inning. The other tallies came on an RBI single by Jeff Rubino and a two-run double by Vince McGovern, but Anderson then entered to retire 11 straight batters.

The second game was an Italian Club romp, and the winners ended up using all 16 players on their roster. Annex hurt its chances with six passed balls and two wild pitches, and was so strapped for hurling that second baseman Bob Lawrence took the mound in relief. He looked good, striking out five straight at one point, but by then the horse was out of the barn. Normal No. 2 pitcher Chris De Recat missed the series because of a football camp.

Approximately 350 attended.

Harris was clocked at 200.89 miles an hour for the quarter mile final run and edged Big Daddy Don Garlits of Sefner, Fla., for the victory.

Chris Crushes Miss Goolagong

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) —Chris Evert, a teenage tennis sensation, and Bob Hewitt, a 32-year-old South African who may be too old for world-class competition, are the queen and king of the 1972 National Clay Court championships.

Miss Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., down at one point 5-0, rallied to crush Australian Evonne Goolagong, 7-6, 6-1. Hewitt, a transplanted Australian, outlasted Jimmy Connors, the 19-year-old former NCAA Champion from Beeleville, Ill., 7-6, 6-1, 6-2.

Miss Goolagong teamed with country woman Leslie Hunt to beat the team of Margaret Court of Australia and Pam Teeguarden of Los Angeles in the women's doubles, 6-2, 6-1. The men's final was postponed until today by darkness. Hewitt and fellow South African Frew McMillan met the Chilian team of Jaime Fillol and Patricia Cornejo in that match.

The match between Miss Evert and Miss Goolagong was the third in a month for them. Miss Goolagong won in the semifinals at Wimbledon and Miss Evert avenged the defeat two weeks ago in the U.S.Australian Cup series at Cleveland, Ohio.

But Miss Goolagong appeared about to take the individual series lead by jumping to a 5-0 first-set margin. Miss Evert fought back stubbornly with her usual baseline game to win the next six games and took over the lead, 6-5. Miss Goolagong held her service on the 12th game, but Miss Evert won the tie-breaking game handily, 5-2, climaxing the set with a sideline passing shot.

"I played sloppy in the first set and didn't think I could win because I played too much defense," said Miss Evert. "I got more aggressive in the second set and after I led, 4-1, I thought I could win although Evonne is best when she is behind."

However, Miss Evert breezed through the second set in 22 minutes. Miss Goolagong won only the third game on her service.

"I was uurprised that the second set was so easy, but Evonne was not taking advantage of my second service." She added Miss Goolagong "was not the same girl I played at Wimbledon when she beat me in three sets or two weeks ago when I beat her."

Miss Evert said she is going home for a week's rest before the Newport, R. I., matches and the nationals at Forest Hills, N. Y. She said this is her last year as an amateur on the circuit and will turn professional in December.

400 READY TO BEGIN MARIN NET

Some 108 entries from Marin County will begin play today and tomorrow in first or second-round matches in the 14th annual Marin Junior Hardcourt Tennis Tournament at the Mill Valley Tennis Club.

The field, with over 400 entries, is divided into 12, 14, 16 and 18-year-old age brackets in boys and girls singles. The tournament will run through Saturday.

Bishop Home Runs Pace Headway Wins

Lyndon Bishop slammed two home runs to lead Headway Enterprises to a 15-12 victory over Hiller's Men's Wear yesterday in the San Rafael adult softball league.

In other games, the Bombers beat Mike's Bar and Grill, 5-1, Mona defeated Death, 9-3 and Timmer Realty tied the Young Bloods in eight innings, 3-3.

Baseball Executive Weiss Dies

Combined AP & UPI

GREENWICH, Conn. — George Weiss, who as general manager of the New York Yankees built a baseball dynasty in the Bronx and later became president of the Mets and guided that organization to a world championship in 1969, died early yesterday at a Greenwich, Conn., nursing home. He was 79.

Weiss was elected to the baseball Hall of Fame in January, 1971, but took ill in May of that year and was unable tc attend the induction ceremonies in Cooperstown, N.Y., last August.

Weiss became general manager of the Yankees in 1948 and, along with manager Casey Stengel, led the Yanks to 10 American League pennants and eight world championships in 13 years.

Weiss was said to be responsible for the Yankees signing Joe DiMaggio when other clubs thought the famed San Franciscan had bad knees. He also brought to the Yankees such baseball greats as Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra and Whitey Ford.

Weiss left the Yankees in 1961 to become president of the New York Mets and brought Stengel along with him to manage the new expansion team. He retired from the Mets in 1966, but was responsible for laying the groundwork that brought the Mets a world championship in 1969.

Staubach Hurt; Cowboys Win

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Roger Staubach suffered a shoulder separation Saturday night that may have separated the Dallas Cowboys from a chance to repeat as world champions.

The 197-pound Staubach, last year's Most Valuable Player in the National Football League, suffered the injury to his right shoulder in the second quarter when tackled by 235-pound Marlin McKeever after a nine-yard gain.

REAL GOOD

Nonetheless, the former Heisman Trophy winner from Navy may miss as many as 12 weeks of the regular season.

Coach Tom Landry, often unhappy with Stabauch's penchant for running, but tolerant of its usually good results, spoke in contradictory terms following the injury.

MORTON STARS

Dallas won the game 27-13 as Craig Morton, who lost the starting quarterback role to Staubach last year, completed eight of nine passes and tossed touchdown strikes of four yards to Mike Ditka, two yards to Walt Garrison and 27 yards to Bob Hayes.

The win was the 13th straight for Dallas in regular and exhibition season play.

In other Saturday night games, Green Bay edged Miami, 14-13, Kansas City defeated St. Louis, 24-14, Cincinnati toppled Detroit, 2820, Minnesota downed San Diego, 24-13, Philadelphia outlasted New England, 29-20, Pittsburgh trounced the New york Jets, 22-3 and Buffalo outscored New Orleans 24-21 Sunday, San Francisco beat Cleveland, 20-13.

A crowd of 78,190 spectators gathered for the dedication game at Arrowhead Stadium in Kansas City, Mo. to watch cornerback Jim Marsalis intercept three Cardinal passes that led to two touchdowns and rookie Larry Marshall take a punt return 75 yards as the Chiefs scored all their points in the second quarter.

TWO SCORES

Fullback Jess Phillips scored on two short plunges and quarterback Ken Anderson hit wide receiver Chip Meyers with a five-yard touchdown pass in the Bengals' victory.

Quarterback Fran Tarkenton, returning to Minnesota after a five-year absence, completed ucoring passes to John Henderson and John Beasley after Clinton Jones returned the opening kickoff 99 yards for a touchdown. Mike Garrett and John Hadl scored on short runs for the Chargers.

EAGLE REAVES

Terry Bradshaw hit Dave Smith with a 26-yard touchdown pass on the third Steeler offensive play of the game and Roy Gerela added five field goals as Pittsburgh won its second in a row.

Joe Namath, playing only in the first half, was ineffective in the contest. He hit on only three of 15 passes and suffered one interception.

John Leypoldt kicked a 38yard field goal with five seconds left to give the Bills their victory.

Tennis

INDIANAPOLIS — Bob Hewitt of South Africa, winner of the men's singles in the $60,000 U.S. Clay Court tournament here, teamed with countryman Frew McMillan today for the delayed windup of the doubles competition.

The 32-year-old Hewitt topped Jimmy Connors, 19, Bellville, Ill., 7-6, 6-1, 6-2, yesterday for the singles title and its $8,000 prize.

Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., captured the women's singles crown with a come-from-behind 7-6, 6-1 triumph over the tourney's No. 1 seeded woman, Australian Evonne Goolagong.

Mark Cox of Great Britain won the $50,000 Cleveland Tennis Classic yesterday by beating fellow lefty Ray Ruffels of Australia, 6-3, 4-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Cliff Drysdale of Austin, Tex., and Roger Taylor of Great Britain aon the doubles title last night, 7-6, 6-3, over Charles Pasarell and Frank Froehling.

Golf

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Marilyn Smith's two under par 70 yesterday over the 6,300-yard Riviera Country Club Course, gave her a 54-hole score of six under par 210, good enough for a six-stroke victory over runnerup Jan Ferraris in the Ladies Professional Golf Association Pabst Classic here.

Horse Racing

PITTSBURGH — In what was said to be an unprecedented oddity in a classic harness race, two three-year-old pacers finished in a dead heat Saturday in the $92,110 Adios Stakes at the Meadows near here.

Strike Out, reined by Keith Waples, and Jay Time, guided by Gene Riegle, both clocked 1:59 2/5 for a mile, and the judges pondered the race photos eight minutes before calling it a draw.

Auto Racing

ZELTWEG, Austria — Emerson Fittipaldi of Brazil moved closer to the world drivers' championship yesterday by winning the Austrian Grand Prix. He covered 200 miles in one hour 29 minutes 16.66 seconds for an average speed of 134.06 miles per hour.

Babe Ruth Ball Set Back—Rain

MONROE, N.C. (UPI) — Rain and Chester, Pa. were the winners in the Babe Ruth tournament of champions Sunday, but postponed play resumes this afternoon.

Manager's Average

Host Charlotte-Monroe, N.C., finishes its game with Pensacola, Fla. in the opener this afternoon. The game was rained out in the bottom of the second inning Sunday with the host team holding a 2-1 edge.

Other matches this afternoon are Seattle, Wash. against Cincinnati and San Antonio, Tex. against Anaheim, Calif., both rained out Sunday.

Huskies' Coach

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Lightface type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT pursuant to Sections 5473 and 5473A of the Health and Safety Code of the State of California, the District Board of the Tamalpais Community Services District, has by ordinance elected to collect certain charges for services and facilities furnished by it which have become delinquent and its charges for sewerage on the tax roll in the same manner as its general taxes, and has caused to be filed with its Secretary a written report containing a description of each parcel of real property receiving sanitary sewerage service from said District and the amount of the charge for each such parcel.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that on Tuesday, the 15th day of August, 1972, at the hour of 8:00 o'clock p.m., California Daylight Saving Time, at the regular meeting place of said District, Tamalpais Community Services District office building, 305 Bell Lane, in said District, Mill Valley, California, said Board will hear and consider all protests and objections to said report.

DATED: August 1, 1972.

/s/ LEONARD M. MITCHELL
Secretary, Tamalpais Community Services District

SUMMONS NO. 2
No. 63442

Superior Court of California, County of Marin Hall of Justice, Civic Center, San Rafael, California 94903

ELMER W. MARTINELLI and HAZEL MARTINELLI, his wife, WALDO G. GIACOMINI, JEANETTE GIACOMINI, DAVID GIACOMINI, ROBERT GIACOMINI and RICHARD GIACOMINI, and MARKHAM CORPORATION, a corporation, Plaintiffs, vs All of the Heirs at Law of CATHERINE A. KEYS, deceased, Namely, GEORGE T. KEYS, JOHN M. KEYS, JAMES W. KEYS, ELIZABETH M. KEYS, EDITH A. KEYS and MINNIE M. KEYS, and DOE ONE through DOE ONE HUNDRED, and all persons unknown, claiming any right, title, estate, lien or interest in the real property described in the Complaint, adverse to plaintiffs' ownership or any cloud upon Plaintiffs' title thereto, Defendants.

TO THE DEFENDANTS: A civil complaint has been filed by Plaintiffs against you. If you wish to defend this lawsuit, you must file in this Court a written pleading in response to the complaint within thirty (30) days after this summons is served on you (except that if the action is against the State of California pursuant to Section 738.5 of the Code of Civil Procedure, within one hundred eighty (180) days). Otherwise, your default will be entered on application by the Plaintiffs and the Court may enter a judgment against you for the money or other relief requested in the complaint. The real property which is the subject of this action is located in the County of Marin, State of California, and is referred to and described specifically in the complaint on file herein as follows:

PARCEL NO. 2: All that certain strip of land 75 feet in width, lying equally 37.5 feet on each side of the following described center line: BEGINNING at the intersection of the boundary line between land now or formerly of Galen Burdell and C.A. Keys, with the originally located center line of the North Pacific Coast Railroad Company (now Northwestern Pacific Railroad Company) at Engineers' Station 790 plus 09; thence in a westerly and northerly direction along the said center line following the courses and curvature thereof, a distance of 5,941 feet to a point on the southerly line of land now or formerly of R.L. Grandi, et al. at Engineers' Station 849 plus 50, containing an area of 10.20 acres, more or less. Being all of that strip of land conveyed by deed dated June 20, 1874, C.A. Keys to North Pacific Coast Railroad Company, recorded July 1, 1874, in Liber M. of Deeds, Page 34. TOGETHER with all and singular the tenements, hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging, or in anywise appertaining, and the reversion and reversions, remainder and remainders, rents, isuues and profits thereof. TO HAVE AND TO HOLD all and singular the said premises, together with the appurtenances, unto the said second party and to his heirs and assigns, forever.

The above described real property is also described as follows, in that certain Joint Tenancy Deed dated August 21, 1949, from FLORA MARTINELLI, ELMER W. MARTINELLI and HAZEL MARTINELLI, his wife, and recorded in Official Records of Marin County in Volume 658 at page 723:

All right, title and interest of grantors in and to that portion of that certain property described in Deed from Northwestern Pacific Railroad Company to Elmer W. Martinelli, dated August 5, 1935, and recorded September 23, 1935, in Liber 304 of Official Records, at page 352, records of Marin County, which lies outside of the boundaries of that certain property described in Deed from Olympia Grandi et vir to Flora Martinelli, dated November 1, 1923, and recorded November 17, 1923, in Liber 30 of Official Records, at page 354.

The object of this action is to quiet title to such real property in Plaintiffs, and that it be adjudged that the Plaintiffs are the owners of said real property in fee simple absolute, and that their title to said real property be established and quieted.

If you wish to seek the advice of an attorney in this matter, you should do so promptly so that your pleading, if any, may be filed on time.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

City of Larkspur, State of California.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City of Larkspur will receive sealed bids at the office of the City Clerk, City Hall, Larkspur, California, on or before 2:00 p.m., on the thirtieth day of August, 1972, for the furnishing of all labor, materials, and services required for the following designated project:

LANDSCAPE DEVELOPMENT MEDIANS — MAGNOLIA AVENUE AND BON AIR ROAD, LARKSPUR, CALIFORNIA

Each bid shall be made in accordance with the plans, specifications and contract documents prepared therefor, now on file at the office of the City Clerk, where they may be examined, and copies thereof be obtained upon deposit of $20.00 per set, which deposit will be refunded upon return of such copies in good condition, on or before thirty (30) days after opening of bids. Bids shall be submitted upon proposal forms furnished by the Department of Public Works, and shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check, currency or bid bond, equal to ten percent as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into the contract, if awarded him, and will file the contract bonds required within fifteen days after notice that his bid has been accepted.

The City Council reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to waive any irregularity in any bid received.

Bidders are notified that, pursuant to law, the City Council has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages and rates in the locality in which the work is to be performed, for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract, and the prevailing rate so determined is on file at the office of the City Clerk, and is incorporated by reference herein. It shall be mandatory that all persons employed in the execution of the contract be paid not less than said specific wages and rates, and that existing labor agreements relative to overtime, holidays, and other special provisions be recognized.

Bids received by the City Clerk will be opened and read publicly at the time, date and place above specified, and will thereafter be tabulated and submitted to the City Council for consideration.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Warning To U.S. Citizens Who Travel: Typhoid Fever In Mexico

An epidemic of typhoid fever has been going on in four central states of Mexico since early 1972. At this writing there has been no indication that the outbreak has affected U.S. citizens traveling south of the border. However, persons who have recently returned from Mexico with symptoms of typhoid should consult their physicians for stool cultures. The epidemic is on the wane, however, travelers should take precautions and be immunized before leaving the U.S. A booster dose usually is sufficient for those previously vaccinated.

Tourists planning trips to affected areas should drink only bottled water, carbonated mineral water, or beverages that have been boiled or carbonated in bottles or cans.

KEEP IN MIND also that tap water used to brush the teeth and ice cubes may be a source of infection. Freshly peeled fruits and foods that are served hot are safe.

Typhoid fever is an infectious diarrhea. The causative organisms are in the intestinal tract and are passed along when carriers or those with the disease contaminate water or food via unclean hands or sewage. Man is the only host in this disease. In salmonellosis, a related condition, the microbes can be transmitted in fish, meat, poultry, dairy products, insects, and warm and cold-blooded animals.

AT THE TURN of the century, typhoid organisms were the most dangerous pollutants found in our water. Improved sanitation, typhoid vaccine, and the detection and treatment of carriers almost completely eliminated the disease.

Nowadays, the antibiotic, chloramphenicol, is the best remedy, despite its potential dangers. It shortens the course of the disease and markedly reduces the mortality. The typhoid bacilli responsible for the Mexican epidemic were the first to develop a resistance to chloramphenicol, long considered the drug of choice in typhoid. As a result, Mexican physicians have had to rely on other antibiotics.

REACTION TO SUN

E.S.R. writes: Can anything be done for an 8-year-old whose face puffs up every time he is out in the sun? His skin is normal in cold or cool weather.

REPLY

Yes, because this may represent an allergy to the sun. Get him a wide-brimmed straw hat or a cap with a large visor. Sunscreening products also may prove helpful. By puberty, this boy is likely to outgrow this condition.

CONSOLATION EATING

A reader writes: Whenever I get upset by things going wrong, I crave food. What can I do to stop this bad habit?

REPLY

Walk around the block until the feeling disappears. If the weather is bad, stay home, but chew on celery, carrots, radishes, or cucumbers. Your habit is known as consolation eating.

GOP Council Will Sponsor Program

Lawyers Blamed In No-Fault Loss

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., believes "friendly persuasion" from lawyers —aimed at the 64 members of the Senate who also are lawyers —was a key factor in the death of his no-fault auto insurance bill last week.

"Some of these lawyers earn $80,000 a year fighting auto negligence cases," said an aide to one senator. "They can be counted on for a contribution of $3,000 or $4,000 or $5,000 to a senator running for re-election. A phone call from one or two can be effective."

One senator —agreeing with Hart's assessment —told a colleague he had received 20 phone calls from lawyer friends in a few hours in advance of last Tuesday's vote.

Lobbying by segments of the insurance industry opposed to the bill —Allstate was particularly active —was another factor. And one Senate source said White House persuasion was effective in turning around four Republicans who had been expected to support the bill — Sens. Gordon Allott, Colo.; Henry M. Bellmon, Okla.; Charles McC. Mathias, Md., and Robert T. Stafford, Vt.

Lobbying was also intense from the other side. The Consumer Federation of America; Common Cause, the "citizens' lobby"; ty Car and Truck Rental Leasing Association, and a number of labor unions, pulled all the stops.

But the nation's trial lawyers —who stand to lose $1 billion a year in legal fees if auto negligence suits are not longer argued in court —proved most effective.

By a 49-46 vote, the Senate sent the bill to the Judiciary Committee "for study" — effectively killing it for now.

The measure, a revolutionary change in the auto insurance system, would have put auto insurance on the same footing as health insurance. A person injured in a traffic accident would collect compensation from his insurance company without consideration as to who was at fault.

Under the present system, the insurance company covering the driver found to be at fault pays damages. Critics sayd this leads to delay, costly trials and inadequate out-of-court settlements.

No-fault would remove the need —or the right —to sue in all but the most serious crashes. It would not directly affect property damage claims.

San Rafael air quality yesterday:
Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.
Other areas:

Misquote Claimed By Rockefeller

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said today President Nixon's summit visit to Moscow resulted in a "major increase" in the migration of Russian Jews to Israel, whether there was a formal agreement on the subject or not.

On his arrival by private jet from Tel Aviv, Rockefeller appeared to backtrack on his statement at a news conference in Jerusalem Sunday that Nixon obtained an agreement with Soviet leaders on Jewish migration.

He denied saying that he was told of such an agreement in talks with President Nixon and Henry A. Kissinger, the president's adviser on national security.

"I was misquoted," he said.

"I don't know whether there has been a formal agreement or not, but a result of the President's summit conference in Moscow has been a major increase in this migration, and one has to believe that this (the summit meeting) was a very major factor in it...

"I will leave any further comment on this subject to Washington."

He said he made his first visit to Israel at the invitation of the Zionist Organization of America. He denied that it was intended to line up votes for Nixon in the November election.

"The President knew nothing about this trip and I had no consultations concerning it with Washington," he said.

San Rafael Man Faces 3 Charges After Accident

A 23-year-old San Rafael man was arrested last night on suspicion of felony hit-and-run driving, drunken driving and driving without a license following a collision in San Rafael at 11 p.m. yesterday.

Eugene Milton Paine, 355 Canal Street, Apt. 24, was booked into Marin County Jail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

According to police, Paine fled the scene of an accident in which a car he was driving collided with a vehicle driven by Jacklyn Askew, 20, of 19 Bank Street, San Anselmo. Police said Paine's car failed to stop at a signal on Fourth and Second streets and crashed into the side of the Askew car.

The San Anselmo woman was reported in satisfactory condition today in Marin General Hospital with a cut lip and forehead and a scraped knee.

Fairfax Budget Up For Adoption

A $750,000 final 1972-73 budget will be up for adoption by the Fairfax City Council at 8 p.m. today in the Fairfax Women's Club.

The council also will set the tax rate, which is expected to remain unchanged at $1.74 per $100 assessed valuation.

Landscaping plans for city hall and preliminary plans for a proposed police-fire facility will also be considered by the council.

SIMMONS TO BUILD SALT LAKE WAREHOUSE
WE BOUGHT STOCK AT SALE PRICES

The Simmons Company worlds largest bedding manufacturer announced in April that a new and larger warehouse will be built in Salt Lake City Utah to serve their franchised stores in that area.

The new warehouse to be built at the corner of 3rd West and 4th North Streets will replace the old one, used for the last 25 years located at 345 N. Pierport.

All the Simmons bedding products, including the famous Beautyrest mattresses, were manufactured at the large plant located at San Leandro, California and shipped to Salt Lake. During the moving period, merchandise scheduled for Salt Lake shipment was sold to us at Sale Prices – and we pass the savings on to you.

The mismatched sets advertised here are only part of this great purchase – Come in now and see the other Simmons unadvertised values.

People's Army Permeates Chinese Life

(EDITORS' NOTE — Wes Gallagher, president of The Associated Press, has been touring China after negotiations in which the AP and Hsin-hua, the Chinese news agency, reached an agreement for an exchange of news and photographs.)

By WES GALLAGHER

PEKING (AP) — China's army has been placed firmly into the power structure of the government in a position unique in the world today.

A visit to the headquarters of the 196th Division demonstrates this dual civilian-military role.

Its members sit in the revolutionary committees from the top of government to the commune and district level as part of a governing triumvirate of army, administrators and rank and file.

The 196th engages in farming, manufacturing, helping nearby farmers with the harvest and helping govern by having representatives on nearby committees which rule communes, districts and counties.

The People's Liberation Army also is probably much larger than some of the Western estimates of 2.9 million. The Chinese say Soviet Russia has massed a million soldiers on China's northern border, and it is unlikely that China has fewer men facing them. But in addition, in every city, village and rural area, you see army members in uniform or sometimes in peasant clothes helping with the harvest. Figures, of course, are not available.

The 196th Division is deep in farming country. Its barracks are surrounded by crops which belong to the division. Like every unit in the country, the division strives to be self-sufficient. A small factory produces medicine for the division's own use and that of nearby areas. Wives of soldiers and a few men run the factory.

The Chinese army is all volunteer and officials say they have far more than enough to choose from — a military career is a coveted one.

The army's role in civilian government was defined by Mao Tse-tung in his famous "May 7" directive when student excesses during the Cultural Revolution seemed to be getting out of hand.

The directive started off:

"The People's Liberation Army should be a great school. In this school, our army should study politics and military affairs, raise its education level, and also engage in agriculture and side occupations and run small or medium-size factories to make products for its own needs or for exchange with the state for equal values. Our army should also do mass work and participate in the socialist education movement in the factories and the villages."

The last sentence embedded the army in the political structure at every level in the country.

The vice commander of the 196th Division, Keng Yu-chi, in showing how the division participated in many civilian activities, said of course the main task of the division was to prepare to defend China militarily and to liberate Taiwan.

Keng is 42 and has been with this division a number of years. He said military training takes up eight or nine months a year and helping civilians in production takes two or three months. This is in addition to the farms the division runs itself and the committees it sits on.

Living conditions in the barracks are rugged by Western standards. Officially, rank has been done away with. Leaders are referred to as platoon "commanders," regiment "commanders," etc., but orders are still given and the job gets done.

A small playroom features the division's history in two books. They include the division's service in the Korean War.

The division has its own shoe repair shop, its own tailor shop where soldiers' uniforms are mended. A great effort is made to meet all the division's needs within itself.

The cost of maintaining the division must be a fraction of what it would be in the west.

In the gunroom, it is proudly pointed out, every gun from the smallest rifle to machine gun has the same caliber bullets.

Burger For Revamping Judiciary

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger suggested today that because of an "explosive increase" in federal lawsuits, Congress give more attention to the practical effects of legislation which creates work for federal courts.

Noting that the lawmakers now require federal agencies to prepare an "impact" statement for such projects as new highways, the chief justice said the same kind of background on the effect of a new law could be delivered to the House and Senate Judiciary Committees by whatever congressional committee is proposing the bill.

In his annual "state of the judiciary" message prepared for the opening assembly of the American Bar Association (ABA), Burger also pleaded for more judges and probation officers, the abolishing of three-judge federal courts, and more funds for research in judicial administration.

He said appeals in the 11 courts of appeals have increased from 4,200 in 1962 to 14,500 in 1972. In the same period, filings in U. S. District Courts have increased from 92,000 to 145,000 and the projection for 1990 is 350,000.

Burger said there are now 620 federal judges but 900 will be needed by 1980, with 40 or 50 needed right now.

Urging the need for probation officers, who supervise convicted persons not sentenced to jail, Burger said some of the 640 officers now working have case loads from 150 to 300 when they should have about 35.

Three judge courts, composed of a mixture of district and circuit judges, were originally established so as not to place on a single judge the responsibility for resolving important constitutional challenges to state and federal laws and to provide an immediate appeal to the Supreme Court.

Burger said they have disrupted the judges' work and their existence is no longer justified.

Six Skirmishes Fought Near Quang Tri Citadel

Battle By Marines Remains A Stalemate

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese marines fought six skirmishes with North Vietnamese forces within two miles of the Quang Tri Citadel but were unable to push closer to the Citadel itself, military spokesmen said.

In the 24 hours ending at noon today, at least 185 rounds of 130mm artillery fire rained on the stalemated marines. Though they fought north, east and south of the Citadel they got no closer than 500 yards to it.

They reported 45 North Vietnamese Army (NVA) troops killed, while suffering at least six of their own men killed and four wounded.

The battle to recapture Quang Tri city began June 28 and so far casualties for the entire campaign, including fighting around Hue, 32 miles to the south, include 9,904 NVA troops killed, 1,211 South Vietnamese killed and 4,801 wounded, spokesmen said.

Most of these have been paratroops and marines fighting for Quang Tri city.

Since the marines took over the Quang Tri city fighting from the paratroops July 27, casualties for both provinces have been about 3,200 NVA killed, with 345 South Vietnamese soldiers killed and 1,622 wounded.

Military sources said an estimated three out of four of the South Vietnamese casualties since July 27 have been marines. That would mean that roughly one out of three marines in the Quang Tri fighting has been killed or wounded in the past 2-1-2 weeks.

U. S. B52s this weekend bombed Communist supply dumps in and near the Demilitarized Zone in a continuing effort to prevent the North Vietnamese from sending in reinforcements to the Quant Tri area. They also have hit border regions further west to keep reinforcements from coming in from Laos.

The U.S. Command said today that more than 30 persons including six Americans and at least 24 South Vietnamese were killed in the crash of a U.S. C130 transport plane Saturday.

When the command made its original anouncement Saturday it said six Americans and seven South Vietnamese were killed and five Americans and an undetermined number of South Vietnamese were injured.

The command announced on Sunday that U.S. jet fighter-bombers shot down two Communist MIG21s in dogfights over North Vietnam, and that there was ground fighting on three fronts in South Vietnam, most of it in the Mekong Delta.

A command spokesman said a U.S. Air Force F4 Phantom fighter-bomber was shot down Sunday over the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) separating the two Vietnams and one of its two crewmen parachuted straight into a Communist antiaircraft nest, radioing back reports nearly to the moment of his presumed capture.

Communications ceased just as he reported he had sprained his ankle and was about to be captured. There was no word on the fate of the other crewman.

Clark Sure POW Freedom Possible

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Former U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark returned from North Vietnam last night and said American prisoners would be released when the "murderous bombing" ceases and United States involvement in the war ends.

Clark said he talked with four high Communist officials and witnessed extensive damage to bombed North Vietnamese hospitals and dikes in a two week tour.

He said he received both "verbal and written" assurances that Hanoi would release the POWs.

"I think there is no question that the prisoners will be released and will be released immediately when we stop this senseless, murderous bombing and end the war and get out, get home, and get to the business of building the peace and giving happiness to little children around the world," said Clark.

Kissinger Returns To Secret Paris Parley

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger is holding a private meeting in Paris today with North Vietnam's two top peace negotiators, the White House announced.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters Kissinger had gone into session again with Communist Politburo member Le Duc Tho and minister Xuan Thui, head of North Vietnam's delegation to the Paris peace talks.

He last met with Hanoi's two negotiators Aug. 1. Today's meeting was the 16th since the administration began its private sessions with North Vietnam seeking a settlement of the Vietnam War.

In making the terse announcement, Ziegler declined to give further details —even as to when Kissinger flew to Paris. "That is all the information I have to tell," he said.

President Nixon has said that the main roadblock is Hanoi's demand to rid the Saigon government of President Nguyen Van Thieu. And he has asserted on numerous occasions that he will never compromise Thieu's political status.

Ziegler declined to comment on a report in Time Magazine that the administration is "flirting with a peace proposal" which might involve the future of the South Vietnamese leader.

Meanwhile in Paris, the Viet Cong today scorned Washington's reported new peace proposal and dismissed the final departure of U.S. combat troops from Vietnam as phony.

A spokesman for the Viet Cong delegation to the Paris peace talks was commenting on articles in Time magazine and the Washington Post that Hanoi was considering Kissinger's "broader set of Vietnam peace proposals" under which Hanoi "has a fair chance of getting rid itself" of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu.

But Ly Van Sau, spokesman for the Provisional Revolutionary Government (PRG), said "any political solution must go through the immediate resignation of Thieu and a change of policy of the Saigon administration."

The Viet Cong official also scoffed at the U.S. command announcement in Saigon that the last remaining combat unit, the 3rd Battalion, 21st Infantry, was going home from Da Nang.

"This is a phony withdrawal," Sau said. "In the place of the so-called withdrawal, the U.S. administration is increasing the participation of aviation and naval forces.

British Dock Strike Nears Crisis Point

LONDON (UPI)—Millions of pigs, cattle and chickens went on emergency rations today, and a steamer sailed out into the Atlantic to dump millions of bananas in the tightening grip of a nationwide seaport strike, now in its 18th day.

In London, Jack Jones, leader of the 1.7 million strong Transport Union, conferred with longshoremen's leaders. They had to decide whether to convene a conference of dockers' delegates to vote on a new peace plan.

But Jones said the outlook is not good. He used part of the meeting to explain the progress made in securing more jobs for dockers in the loading and unloading of containers.

Government sources said the cabinet was nearing the crisis point when it must order troops into strikebound docks to move vital supplies. Despite emergency powers it took Aug. 3, it has hesitated to use troops in order not to inflame the already tense strike crisis.

Britain's 42,000 longshoremen closed the nation's principal ports July 28 in a walkout of indefinite duration. The strike was called to back demands for great job security and the right to man container depots, even those at inland sites.

Jones said so far he has persuaded container depot managements to provide only 200 extra jobs for longshoremen. About 2,000 at present are jobless and another 5,000 will be fired in coming months as docks cut back labor forces

It was over the issue of containerization, which dockers contend is taking jobs away from them, that delegates representing the 42,000 dockworkers voted for a strike July 28.

Industrial sources said several container firms had agreed

Nixon Talks With Former Adviser

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon met today with his former urban affairs adviser — Daniel P. Moynihan —but the White House declined to say whether Moynihan was about to join the group of Democrats backing Nixon for re-election.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon icvited Moynihan to come to the White House after he learned the Harvard professor was in town.

Ziegler declined to reveal what the two discussed, however, or whether Moynihan had been approached about joining former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally's "Democrats for Nixon" movement.

Debunking Those 'Lies' About U.S.

Is the United States on the road to fascism?

Is American democracy a fraud?

Are we Americans collectively guilty of violence, crime, repression, genocide?

Must we have a revolution to "cleanse our system"?

Many intelligent persons are willing to accept such "big lies about America," declares Arnold Beichman, longtime newspaper correspondent and lecturer in political science at University of Massachusetts in Boston.

Beichman sets out to disprove them in a book, "Nine Lies About America," published by Library Press.

SALT Second Part Slated For Geneva

ZURICH (UPI)—The second phase of the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) between the United States and the Soviet Union will take place in Geneva.

Reagan Signs A Regional Park Bill For Marin Vote

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation authorizing creation of a regional park district in Marin has been signed into law by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Creation of the district, however, still will be subject to voter approval on the November ballot. Passage will require majority approval.

The legislation, AB 2353, by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, allows a maximum property tax rate of 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation for land acquisition and park development.

Under an amendment made at the request of the state Parks and Recreation Department, any tax revenue expended by the district can be spent only to buy new land and develop newly acquired property.

The bill was asked by the Marin County Board of Supervisors after a citizens group organized to push for creation of a park.

Thieu' Fate May Hinge On Parleys

NEW YORK (UPI)—Time Magazine reported Sunday that the Nixon administration may be bargaining for peace in Vietnam with President Nguyen Van Thieu's political future.

According to reports attributed to a Nixon official by the North Vietnamese, national securities affairs adviser Henry Kissinger has been conducting unofficial talks with Hanoi's negotiators in Paris, Le Duc Tho and Xuan Thuy.

Time said that the administration is flirting with a peace proposal to give the Communists "a fair chance" to get rid of Thieu, and give Hanoi a option on future political evolution.

Audit Sought For Civilian Junkets

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., wants a government audit of the resumption of cross-country tours that the Pentagon conducts for civilian VIPs.

The Joint Civilian Orientation Conference (JCOC) tours were suspended by the Pentagon for 1971 but resumed this year, Reuss said Sunday.

POLITICAL ROUNDUP

Shriver Opens Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Insisting anew that President Nixon lost a "very golden opportunity" to end the war in 1969, Sargent Shriver opens his vice-presidential bid today with a continent-spanning trip to meet voters and "point a new direction for America."

Shriver, who has been surrounded by a political storm ever since he declared that Nixon "blew" a chance to negotiate an end to the war by ignoring North Vietnamese peace signals, hit the issue harder Sunday.

Interviewed by newsmen on NBC's "Meet the Press," Shriver said the Nixon administration has given President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam virtual veto power over U.S. foreign policy. "Gen. Thieu," Shriver said, "should not be the sole life-and-death criterion for thousands of Americans."

And he accused Secretary of State William P. Rogers of politicizing the State Department by telling a news conference that Shriver's account of the negotiating situation in 1969 was "political fantasy."

Ending a long series of issue briefings with the staff of his running-mate, Sen. George McGovern, Shriver spent Sunday night with his wife and children in Hyannis Port, Mass.

Then he was to fly off for a four-day campaign swing taking him to at least six cities in the border and Western states.

First stop today was Wheeling, W. Va., then on to a week's tour that will take him to Los Angeles, San Diego, San Francisco, Denver and Houston.

"I want to have a chance to talk to the American people," Shriver told newsmen. "I want an opportunity to talk and listen. . . to point a new direction for America."

Shriver's assertion that Nixon "blew" a chance for peace three years ago was repeated by McGovern Sunday. Appearing on ABC's "Issues and Answers," the Democratic presidential nominee said:

"A national-security memorandum prepared at the beginning of this administration and published in the Congressional Record some time ago shows very clearly that the administration was aware that North Vietnam had withdrawn a substantial number of its divisions from South Vietnam in 1968, that they were in fact giving us a sign that they were willing to ease off militarily and they were expecting us to respond then with generous offers of negotiation.

"Instead of that," McGovern said, "the bombing was accelerated, the military attack was increased, and we blew the opportunity for a negotiated settlement several years ago."

In his televised appearance, Shriver repeated the assertion made Saturday by the original negotiators at the Paris peace talks. Averell Harriman and Cyrus Vance- that when the Nixon administration took office it knew the North Vietnamese had signaled their willingness to withdraw 22 of 25 regiments from South Vietnam.

Agnew, speaking in Rhode Island, referred to Shriver's statement that Nixon had thrown away a chance at peace. Shriver "is a very inexperienced candidate, and it's normal for people playing catch-up ball to make reckless statements," the vice president said.

In otherdevelopments:

The Gallup Poll reported that, for the first time in at least 35 years, the percentage of Democrats registered to vote is equal to Republican registration. Each party can claim 80 per cent registration, the poll said.

A survey of Illinois voters by the Chicago Sun-Times showed Nixon taking 59.1 per cent of the 1,599 voters polled, with McGovern taking 34.3 per cent. The remainder were undecided. The newspaper said McGovern had slipped 9.6 points since the last poll in April.

A survey of 1,051 GIs by the downtown Saigon USO club showed 70 per cent favor Nixon, 16 per cent are for McGovern and 3 per cent favor Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace. Eleven per cent were undecided.

Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri, who quit as Democratic vice-presidential nominee after disclosing that he had undergone shock treatment for mental depression in the 1960s, appealed to voters in his home state to back the ticket.

He told Missourians attending a Democratic unity breakfast that "what the party should do now is give that extra effort and we'll win this thing in November."

Miami Beach Police Clash With Youths

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Police today briefly forced about 50 demonstrators to abandon a makeshift campsite they had established in Flamingo Park in anticipation of the Republican National Convention.

The youthful protesters, who set up the camp at dusk yesterday, left peacefully when police ordered them out of the park before dawn. They were allowed to return about sunrise,when the park normally opens each day.

The demonstrators were camping without a permit from the City Council, which allowed several thousand protesters to sleep in the park during the Democratic National Convention in July. The council has scheduled a meeting today to decide whether they will be allowed to camp there during the Republican convention opening Aug. 21.

The demonstrators have said they will remain in the park, regardless of whether they receive the camping permit.

Shotgun Arrests

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Denies Romney Feud

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House aide John D. Ehrlichman has denied reports his feuding with George Romney has led to a threat by the Housing and Urban Development scretary to resign from President Nixon's cabinet.

"We're the best of friends and have been for a long time," Ehrlichman, who is Nixon's chief domestic adviser, said Sunday. "We've had the longest of relations."

Ehrlichman said he understood that Romney would keep his cabinet post "for a time" and was "keeping his options open" on when he would leave.

The Washington Star and Daily News reported in its Sunday editions that Romney was "fighting mad" over what he considered the "heavy-handedness" of Ehrlichman and had sent a "him or me" message to the White House.

But Ehrlichman said he talked to Romney on the telephone yesterday, and he said Romney felt bad about the reports of a feud.

Resumes Therapy

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Gov. George C. Wallace, after a weekend visit to the executive mansion in Montgomery, resumes his physiotherapy program today at Spain Rehabilitation Center.

Wallace returned to Birmingham late yesterday after what aides described as a "quiet and restful weekend" with his family. It was the first visit to the executive mansion for Wallace since he was shot May 15 in a Maryland shopping center.

His departure for Montgomery was delayed until Saturday morning as a result of a new abscess "pocket" which developed in his abdomen as a result of bullet wounds.

To Return Ransom

ALGIERS (UPI) — The Algerian government will return to Delta Airlines the $1 million ransom paid to a group of Black Panther hijackers who diverted a Delta jet to Algiers Aug. 1, informed sources said today.

Police who checked the exiled Panthers villa in Algiers Thursday found positive evidence that Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver wrote letters deemed "offensive" towards Algerian President Houari Boumedienne, the sources said.

In an open letter to Boumedienne, Cleaver called for the record ransom to be handed over to the "International Section" of the Black Panthars for revolutionary purposes.

Only 'Two' Planks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John Schmitz, the American Party presidential candidate, says his partY's platform has been "boiled down" to two planks.

"There's a foreign plank that says never to go to war unless you plan on winning and a domestic plank that says those that work ought to live better than those who don't," Schmitz said yesterday in a UPI Washington Window interview.

...caused by inflammation and infection.

Prairie Village, Kan.—Mr. Joseph Sutton reports: "My doctor suggested suppositories. I chose Preparation H suppositories. On a physical check-up my doctor noted how effectively it works."

(Note: Doctors' tests have proved Preparation H® actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues caused by inflammation. It's so effective that in many cases, the first applications give prompt, temporary relief from pain and itching in such tissues. There's no other formula like doctor-tested Preparation H.)

World Is More Peaceful Says Secretary Rogers

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers said today the world "is a more peaceful world than it was four years ago " because of President Nixon's leadership.

Rogers testified before the Republican Platform Committee as it began going over the party platform to be presented to the party's national convention here next week. A draft already has been approved by the White House and few changes were expected.

Rogers told the committee's opening session that as American involvement in Southeast Asia ends, the United States will continue to provide economic and military support to South Vietnam.

Reflecting the fact that the platform will largely mirror Nixon's Vietnam policies, the Secretary said most of the world's trouble spots, including Indochina and the Middle East, were quieter now because of the Chief Executive's efforts.

"The world is very different today than when you last met, and this difference is not the result of inevitable circumstances of historical accident," he said. "It is the direct result of wise policies well orchestrated and carried out under President Nixon's strong and courageous leadership.

"The world is a more peaceful world than it was four years ago," the secretary added.

Echoing one of the President's favorite themes, Rogers said U.S. foreign policy may "realistically lead to a generation of peace."

"And I believe —and I think most Americans believe —that our nation has the outstanding leader in the world in the cause of peace —the leader who gives the United States the best chance for a generation of peace."

Noting that he has met with many world leaders recently, Rogers said:

"Never has the prestige of the United States been greater. Never has a president of the United States been more respected by allies and adversariees alike for his courageous and far-reaching initiatives for peace."

Summing up the record of the administration in foreign affairs, the Secretary cited "the most far-reaching effort in all history to open doors of communication with our adversaries and to develop solutions to the problems which divide the world."

He specifically noted agreements with the Soviet Union, including the recently negotiated SALT treaty, which he termmed "probably the most significant arms limitation agreement ever achieved."

Rogers also cited the opening of communications and trade with Chink; an attempt to open a "better dialogue" with Eastern European nations; the maintenance of close relations with Latin America and Japan; the withdrawal of U.S. troops on the Pacific rim from Korea to the Philippines; diplomatic initiatives that led to a ceasefire in the Middle East, and improvement in international exchange rates and an easing of trade barriers.

For the future, Rogers called for broader and permanent controls over nuclear arsenals, mutual and balanced reductions of troops in Europe, a negotiated settlement in Southeast Asia, free and fair world trade and diplomatic efforts wherever peace is threatened.

Israeli Tribunal Sends Girl Hijackers To Prison

ZRIFIN, Israel (UPI)—Rejecting their pleas for mercy, a military court sentenced two Arab girls to life in prison today after convicting them of taking part in the hijack of a Belgian airliner to Israel in May.

The three-judge panel passed up a possible death penalty and instead acceded to the prosecutor's request to let the girls spend the rest of their lives behind bars without a chance of parole.

The defendants, in their final pleas to the court before the three-judge panel adjourned for two hours of deliberations, had asked for pity and mercy, claiming they had been duped and forced into taking part in the May 8 hijack.

"I regret all I have done," Rima Aissa Tannous, 21, told the three-judge panel in her final statement before the court adjourned to deliberate her fate. "I have suffered all my life. I beg you to have pity on me and be light with my sentence."

Her co-defendant, Therese Khalsa, 19, reiterated that Arab guerrillas had forced her to help in the May 8 hijacking, adding: "I regret all I have done ... and I beg you to forgive me and have pity on my family and father. Thank you." Both girls, Miss Tannous in slacks and blouse, Miss Khalsa in a print dress, spoke in Arabic after their lawyers had asked the court to go easy on the girls.

Over 30 Years Experience In Nutrition
HERE'S HEALTH!
by JUNE EMBURY

Are you aware of the various Bay Area newspaper articles, including in our I.J., about the substance called laetrile (sometimes known as amygdalin) which may prevent or control cancer? Its sponsors and many individuals who are, they say, dependent upon it, plead that it be officially tested - fairly' - by our government, as is being done abroad. Here, treatment is illegal at present.

The matter has captured the interest and concern of the entire nation. For example, prominent radio commentator, syndicated columnist Nicholas von Hoffman, discusses it in detail in the Washington Post, June 4, 1971. His story is headed, "And If It Works . . . " He concludes: "Think if laetrile does turn out to be an important drug. Think how many miserable people will have died because some guy in Washington wouldn't issue a permit . . . " (We have a reprint of the von Hoffman article at the store.)

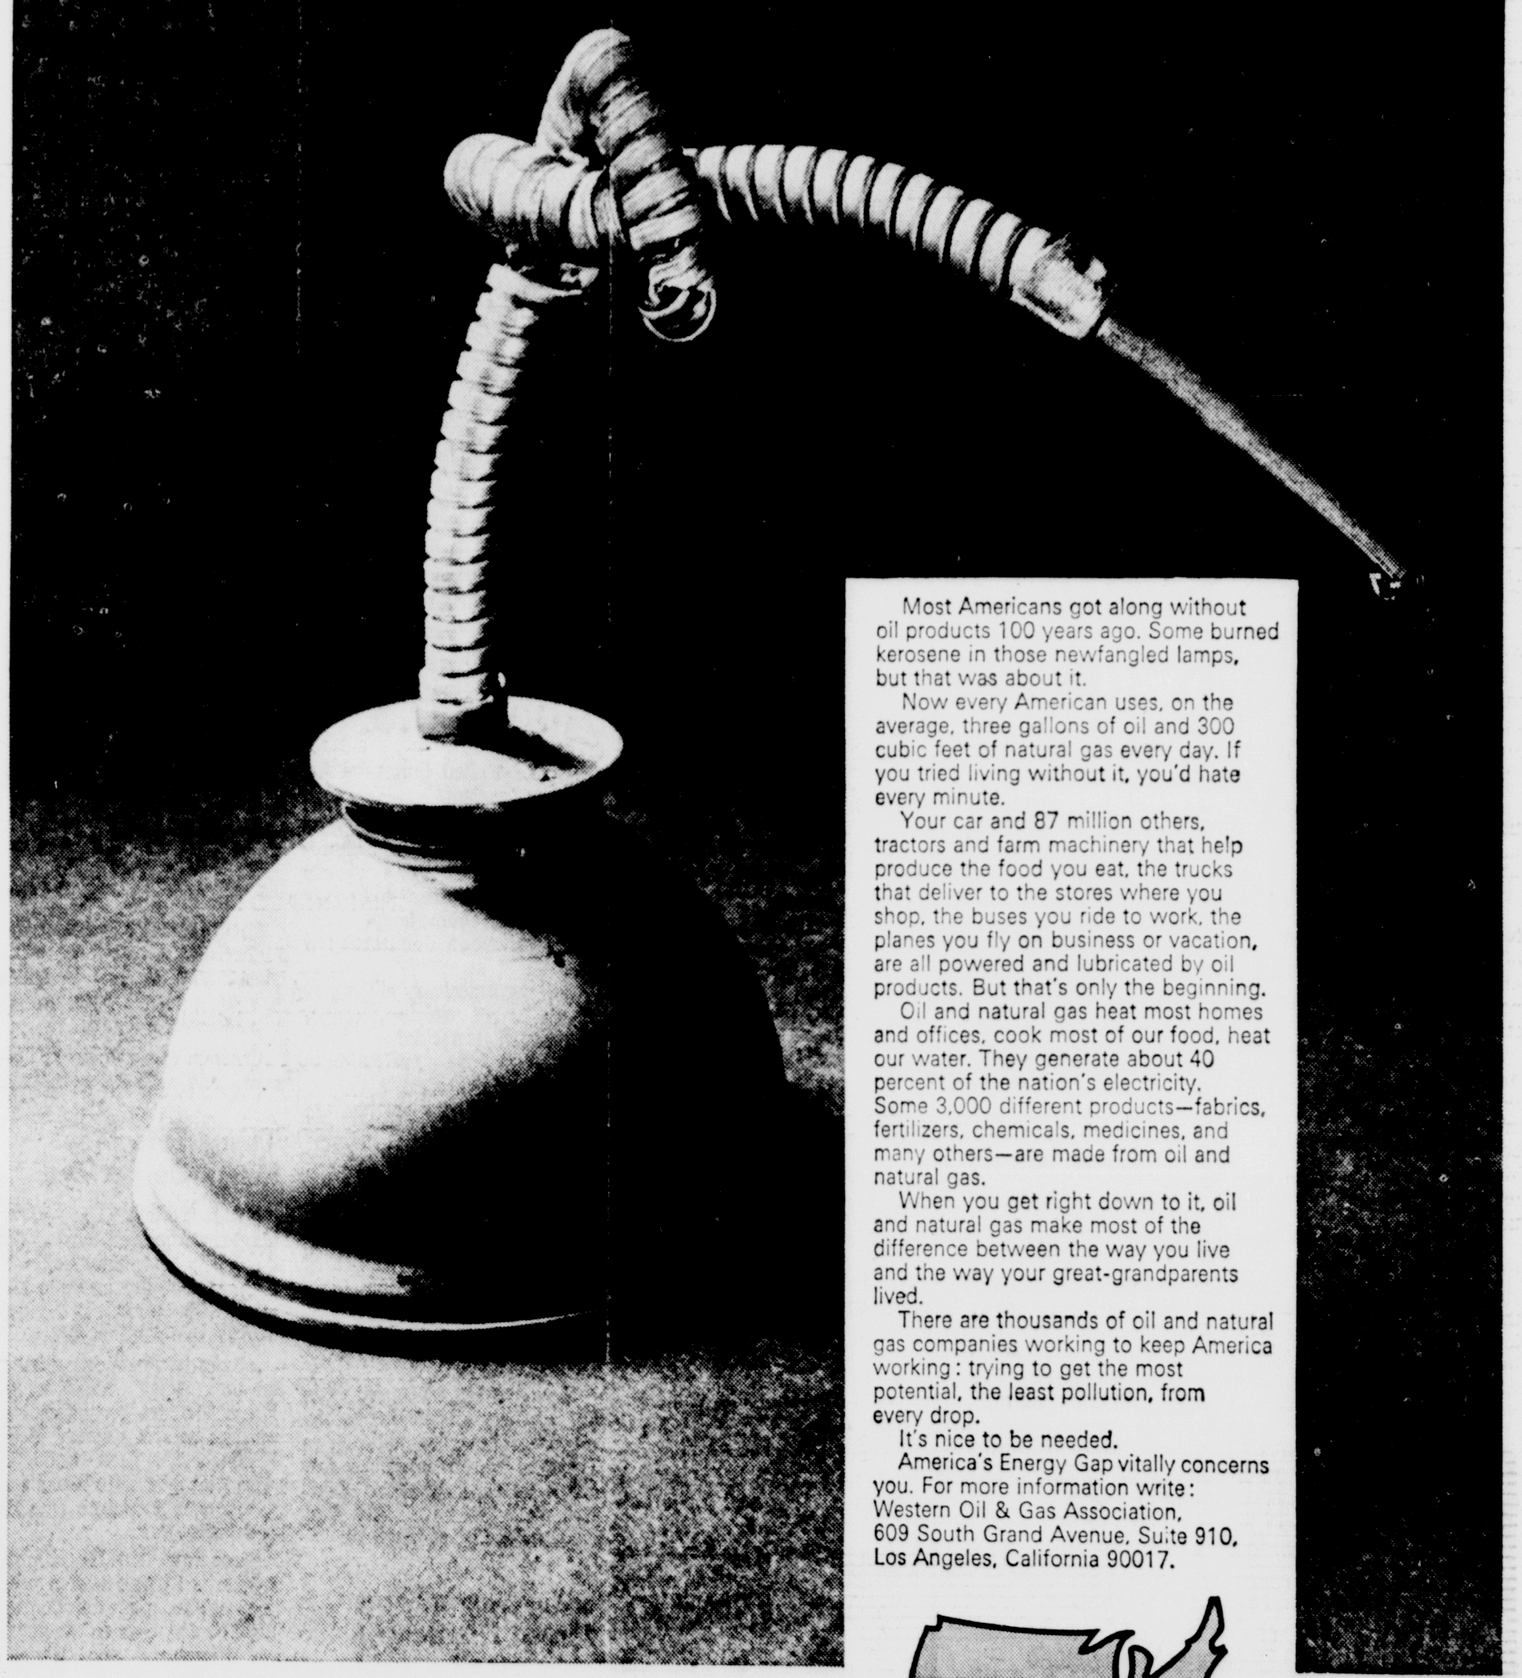
No one can live without air and water. But have you tried living without oil?



Most Americans got along without oil products 100 years ago. Some burned kerosene in those newfangled lamps, but that was about it.

Now every American uses, on the average, three gallons of oil and 300 cubic feet of natural gas every day. If you tried living without it, you'd hate every minute.

Your car and 87 million others, tractors and farm machinery that help produce the food you eat, the trucks that deliver to the stores where you shop, the buses you ride to work, the planes you fly on business or vacation, are all powered and lubricated by oil products. But that's only the beginning.

Oil and natural gas heat most homes and offices, cook most of our food, heat our water. They generate about 40 percent of the nation's electricity. Some 3,000 different products—fabrics, fertilizers, chemicals, medicines, and many others—are made from oil and natural gas.

When you get right down to it, oil and natural gas make most of the difference between the way you live and the way your great-grandparents lived.

There are thousands of oil and natural gas companies working to keep America working: trying to get the most potential, the least pollution, from every drop.

It's nice to be needed.

America's Energy Gap vitally concerns you. For more information write: Western Oil & Gas Association, 609 South Grand Avenue, Suite 910, Los Angeles, California 90017.

A country that runs on oil can't afford to run short.

COFFEE CLATCH

Tiburon Residents Meet Their Police

About 50 Tiburon residents, half of them children, forfeited the normal pastimes of a sunny afternoon Saturday to get acquainted with some of the men of the city's new police department.

The group met, listened to and chatted with Chief Maurice D. Lafferty, Sgt. Michael Reno and Officer Steven Denney at a neighborhood coffee clatch at the Albert Schoenstein home in Belveron. The session, first of many planned, was cosponsored by the Belveron Associatioc and the police.

After watching a film on the role of the policeman, the residents heard Reno say that "greater community involvement and more services" are among his department's chief goals.

"We'd like to be on a first name basis with you," Reno told those gathered. "We want you to know us and give us your ideas — and express your dissatisfactions too."

Reno reported that Tiburon police have established an "Operation Identification" program to help residents mark their valuables to discourage burglaries and make recovery of stolen items more likely. He said this program has proven very effective in discouraging burglary, because thieves know they will have a hard time disposing of the marked goods.

The sergeant said the police also hope to deal with juvenile problems right in the community whenever possible, rather than referring problem youngsters to county agencies such as Juvenile Hall.

To achieve more positive involvement with those they serve, Reno said, the department has plans to establish a junior traffic patrol, ride along program, explorer scout troup (boys ang girls) and cadet, reserve and educational programs.

Officer Denney urged the residents to make their house numbers readily visible from the street so officers can locate homes quickly in emergencies.

Those who attended the friendly session had several requests to make. They asked for more traffic enforcement on Tiburon Boulevard, a new stop sign in the area and asked the officers to work hard to keep motorbikes off fire trails in the hills, an illegal sport in Marin.

At the conclusion the officers asked to be invited back at a future time to report on what they had done about the various concerns expressed at the informal meeting.

110 MPH Winds Found In Hurricane

The National Weather Service said Celeste was 600 miles southeast of Hawaii, moving nearly due west at a speed of 12 knots with center winds of 110 m.p.h. Diana, with center winds of the same intensity, was about 1,000 miles behind her.

A Hickham Field weather plane penetrated the eye of hurricane Celeste yesterday afternoon to measure its speed, intensity and probable course.

At her present course and speed, Celeste would pass south of Hawaii and the rest of the island chain Tuesday or Wednesday.

Should Celeste continue its present route beyond Hawaii, the hurricane could pose a threat to Johnston Island, a sandy atoll 840 miles southwest of Hawaii. Johnston is used by the military to store nerve gasses recently shipped from Okinawa.

Heavy rains and squalls accompanied Celeste and rough seas were reported in the area.

Floods Outdo War In Philippine Damage

MANILA (UPI) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos said today the Central Luzon floods wiped out 30 years of progress in the Philippines and were more devastating than World War II.

Marcos told a news conference:

"It was not one swift blow like the Bangladesh cyclonic calamity. It was destruction by the slow rise of water coming from various watersheds. The destruction was so pervasive that we can say the rehabilitation plans actually are plans for construction and building anew.

"All the infrastructure that has been built up for the past three decades, all the irrigation systems in Central Luzon have either been completely wiped out or partially damaged.

"In Pangasinan (Province, 90 miles north of Manila), I inaugurated in the last two years four irrigation systems. They are nonexistent today. I also inaugurated in that area several systems of dikes... again they don't exist now. The roads that were constructed, including cement roads, have been wiped off the map.

"It is estimated that we will be able to rebuild in about five years. Personally I have my doubts."

Premier Recovers

ROME (UPI) — Former Premier Mariano Rumor, who underwent an emergency operation for removal of his appendix, was in "excellent" condition Sunday, doctors said.

Official Urges Introduction Of Illegally Seized Evidence

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A high Nixon administration official has suggested curtailing the rights of criminal defendants by, among other things allowing the introduction of illegally seized evidence.

Assistant Attorney General Henry E. Petersen, head of the Justice Department's criminal division, also proposed tailoring the rights of defendants to the severity of the crime with which they are charged.

"It should not be necessary to provide the same degree of protection to one who has committed murder and one who has been charged with public intoxication," Petersen said.

As for the use of illegally obtained evidence, "Unlike coerced confessions, probative evidence is reliable, regardless of the manner in which it is seized," Petersen said.

His remarks were made Sunday at the 95th annual meeting of the American Bar Association, which opened its formal program with a prayer breakfast addressed by Supreme Court Justice Lewis F. Powell.

Powell, a Nixon appointee, deplored what he called "unanchored individualism" which he said resulted from the current emphasis on "doing your own thing" and led to "excessively tolerant views."

Petersen made his suggestions for altering the criminal process in a speech before the ABA's section on bar activities.

He suggested taking such offenses as traffic violations out of the criminal justice process and imposing other than criminal penalties in certain instances.

"For example, if a businessman violates a safety regulation, should he be subjected to criminal penalties or would a better remedy be to close down his business concern until he is in compliance with the regulation?" Peterson asked.

He said that civil administrative proceedings also offer possibilities for taking the load off the courts. Another strong deterrent to crime would be making the offender restore the loss to the injured party, he said.

Petersen said it was the "demands of every day reality that led me to question the basic proposition involved—that is, I question the wisdom of a system which affords every defendant the same degree of protection.

"First, is it necessary to do so in order to assure justice? Second, can the system continue to function if we do not differentiate?"

Booby Trap Mine Kills 2 In Ireland

BELFAST(UPI)-An Irish Republican Army (IRA) booby trap mine killed a British officer and soldier in Belfast today in violence coinciding with a British Army report that its takeover of IRA strongholds had cut guerrilla strikes sharply.

The deaths raised the British military fatality toll in three years of Ulster violence to 112 and the over-all toll to 510 dead.

The working party had been erecting galvanized iron screens across the field to shield a British army post installed in the football park after the military takeover July 31 of former IRA "no go" areas.

The dead officer was Royal Artillery Maj. David A. Storrey, 36, married and the father of three children. The soldier was not immediately identified.

The army said there had been "a dramatic reduction" in violence since 21,000 British troops smashed barricades and occupied the illegal Irish Republican Army's "no go" areas across the province two weeks ago.

It said there were 42 explosions in the two weeks since then, compared with 111 in the two weeks just before the army moved in. Shooting incidents fell from 1,120 in the two previous weeks to 269 in the two weeks since.

Military intelligence sources said they expected new arrests soon to "skim the cream of the Provisionals' command structure." The statement followed the arrest Sunday of a second leader of the IRA's militant Provisional wing.

The army identified a man arrested in the Roman Catholic Ardoyne district of Belfast Sunday as Terence Clarke, 21. An army spokesman said Clarke was a lieutenant of the Provisional's commander in the Ardoyne, Martin Meehan, who was arrested last week.

Clarke was carrying a .45 caliber revolver when an army patrol recognized him and picked him up. He was appearing in court today charged with possession of the pistol.

He and Meehan escaped together from Belfast's Crumlin Road jail last December.

"A vast amount of information about the Provisionals has been flowing in in the last couple of days," one source in military intelligence said. "We have already arrested two top men and more arrests are imminent to skim the cream of the Provisionals command structure."

The revenge murders and political assassinations which has killed 55 persons in the last three months continued during the weekend.

Passersby found the body of Frank Wynn, 37, a Catholic, shot in the head and abandoned in a car in Crumlin Road late Saturday night. The body of a second man in his 20s was found in the Old Park district early Sunday morning.

Police said both men had been beaten almost beyond recognition before being shot.

A 40-year-old father of two also died Sunday, the ninth victim of a series of car bombs planted in the village of Claudy two weeks ago.

The deaths brought the toll for three years of strife in Northern Ireland to 508 dead.

A land mine detonated by remote control as an army patrol passed in the Catholic Andersonstown district wounded four soldiers Sunday and a sentry outside an Andersonstown school reported he hit a gunman during an exchange of fire.

Novato Trustees Eye Site Needs

Novato Unified School District trustees will consider the need for a school site in the rapidly developing area of South Novato at 8 p.. tomorrow at Novato High School lecture hall.

In preliminary planning a site has been designated to serve the Crossroads development, about 500 apartments and townhouses northwest of Highway 101 and South Novato Boulevard, and the planned Cheda Farm development, possibly up to 500 townhouses and apartments.

Trustees will meet in closed session at 7 p.m. to interview candidates for assistant principal at Sinaloa Junior High School.

"I can demonstrate that to the American people," said the former Johnson administration official, who said he would go into further details today at a 1:30 p.m. EDT news conference.

American people "have to see what is happening" Clark told a two-minute news conference on his arrival at San Francisco International Airport, where heavy security surrounded him.

He was taken to a conference room until newsmen were checked for credentials after someone posing as a reporter used a fake name to call the airport and ask what security arrangements surrounded Clark's arrival.

"I believe in the goodness of the American people," said Clark. "As an American, it doesn't make me feel very good to see the devastation of the bombing."

Clark said he talked to high officials, including North Vietnam's prime minister and foreign minister. He held a news conference Sunday before leaving Bangkok, but said he was an American who would "make my report on American soil."

Bank Robber Suspect On Bail Again

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Sammi Lee Smith, the compulsive bank robber who indulged his habit in Marin and was judged insane, is out on bail again.

Smith pleaded not guilty to two bank robbery charges in San Francisco Municipal Court Friday. He was ordered to answer in San Francisco Superior Court Sept. 1 and released on $5,000 bail.

He was previously freed from federal custody July 14 after arrest for a series of successful and attempted bank holdups March 9 in Marin and San Francisco. A grand jury declined to indict him.

He was judged insane at the time of alleged holdups at San Rafael's Redwood Bank, and at a San Francisco bank, as well as two other theft attempts.

But on July 25 Smith was arrested sitting on a San Francisco curb not far from a bank he is alleged to have entered. Police booked him on suspicion of two more counts of robbery, alleging he took $70 from a teller at a Bank of America branch, and $455 at a Wells Fargo branch.

Jury Trial Set On Marijuana

A jury trial was set for the week of Oct. 10.

Sabre was stopped on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at White's Hill and a large jar of suspected pot was found in his car, according to officers.

The Petaluma Recreation Department will sponsor an arts and crafts display Wednesday from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. at Walnut Park.

Projects completed by youngsters in the summer recreation program will be on display and youngsters will demonstrate skills learned during the program. A puppet show will be presented at 2:30 p.m.

Teacher Is Accused In Fatal Crash

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The president of the San Francisco Classroom Teachers Association was to appear today in San Francisco Municipal Court after being arrested Thursday on suspicion of manslaughter and felony drunken driving and speeding in a traffic accident that took the life of a Larkspur physician.

Leonard Lundgren III, a junior high school teacher, was released on $3,500 bail Friday.

The California Highway Patrol said a car driven by Lundgren, 39, struck the rear of a vehicle driven by Dr. Steven Michael Sydow, 26, near the Golden Gate Bridge.

Sydow, of 44 Frances Drive, died in the 11:25 p.m. accident.

The force of the impact sent Sydow's vehicle across three lanes of oncoming traffic where it hit an abutment and then was struck by a truck.

Sydow was a resident in dermatology at the University of California Medical Center.

ARMY

The stress in plays, practice, and propaganda is always on guerrilla warfare. It is repeated again and again.

A satire put on by the division's men and women soldiers showed its soldiers as guerrillas in a village dealing with a slapstick Japanese invading force.

Despite such broad slapstick you are left with the impression that any invader of China would not find massed armies but a force spread among China's millions, living off the land and attacking in small, fast-disappearing units again and again. This apparently is a heritage of the success of Communists Long March and rise to power against the Nationalist forces of Chiang Kai-shek.

A tremendous propaganda campaign countrywide honors the army as the country's savior in war and peace.

Slogans abound everywhere. Broadcasts feature army songs. Editorials eulogize, and plays are written around simple themes. One about how girls plot to sneak a soldier's laundry, so they could wash it for him, was put on here by the 196th. It was repeated almost word for word by a group of 10-year-olds a couple of nights later, hundreds of miles away in Nanking.

Boating Mishap Scalps Girl, 12

A 12-year-old Sausalito girl was partially scalped yesterday when her long hair became tangled in the drive shaft of a boat.

Sausalito Police Officer Michael Patrick said after she was rushed to the hospital by ambulance, he found part of her scalp on the boat and brought it to the hospital.

Guilty Plea In Treatment Plan

George Gerhardt, 20, of no fixed address, has been promised he will be sent for treatment in a local drug abuse program after his plea of guilty to second degree burglary.

He is to be sentenced Sept. 22.

Gerhardt admitted in Marin Superior Court Friday he had stolen two typewriters from a Sausalito firm on May 20.

One Car Recovered And Another Stolen

Police also reported recovering a stolen car yesterday in a parking lot at 337 South McDowell Boulevard. The 1957 Porsche had been reported stolen July 18 by Linda M. Adams, 460 Palm Avenue, Penngrove.

OBITUARIES

MRS. BLACKWELL

Funeral was held today in Santa Cruz for Dorothy Evelyn Blackwell, mother of Dr. Darrow Hudson of Novato.

Mrs. Blackwell, 53, died Friday apparently of natural causes, according to the coroner's office.

A native of California, she moved to Marin three years ago from Santa Cruz where she was an accountant. She lived with her son at 68 Palm Lane, Novato.

In addition to her son, surviving are a sister, Marion A. Reynolds of Santa Cruz; a brother, Everett Grosser, also of Santa Cruz, and four grandchildren.

KENNETH WARD

Ward and his wife, Barbara, had been showing their prize German Shepherds at a dog show at the fairgrounds when he suffered what appeared to be a heart attack.

Ward, a native of Eureka, had recently retired from Foremost Foods and as executive vice president of the parent company, Foremost-McKesson, Inc. He lived in Woodside.

He was a member of the Commercial Club of San Francisco, Tripoli Temple of the Shrine in Milwaukee, Elks Club, German Shepherd Dog Club of America and local German Shepherd and Welsh Corgi dog clubs.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a daughter, Susan Steffens of Appleton; two sons, Stephen Ward of Atlanta and Timothy Ward of Lake Tahoe; a stepson, John P. Laird of Elmhurst, Ill.; and seven grandchildren.

Funeral will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Roller and Hapgood mortuary, Palo Alto. Private burial will be in Eureka.

P. P. PARKINSON

Philip P. Parkinson of 4235 Spring Hill Road, Petaluma, died in a Marin county hospital Friday after a long illness. He was 67.

He is survived by his wife, Jean M. Parkinson of Petaluma. Funeral arrangements were private.

STEVEN SYDOW

Funeral will be in Omaha, Neb., for Dr. Steven M. Sydow of Larkspur, who was killed in a five-car crash Thursday near the Golden Gate Bridge. He was 28.

A native of New York, he received his undergraduate degree at the University of Nebraska and graduated in 1969 from the University of Nebraska Medical School.

He interned at St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco and was a resident physician of dermatology at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco.

He and his wife, Dorris R. Sydow, lived at 44 Frances Avenue, Larkspur, for the past year.

In addition to his wife, surviving are his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Donald Sydow of Omaha, Neb.; two sisters, Becky and Melanie Sydow of Utah and two grandmothers.

The family would prefer memorial contributions to the Dr. Steven M. Sydow Fund at the University of California Medical Center's department of dermatology in San Francisco.

ROLLAND OLDIS

Rolland L. Oldis of Corte Madera died yesterday in a San Francisco hospital after a brief illness.

He had been in a coma since Aug. 8 after suffering a stroke in his office in San Francisco. Oldis, who was 67, was an insurance broker.

He was born in San Francisco and graduated from the University of California at Berkeley. He moved to Marin County 11 years ago and made his home at 11 Navajo Lane.

Funeral will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Martin and Brown Mortuary, 1801 Van Ness Avenue, San Francisco.

Following cremation, his ashes will be scattered at sea.

SARA PALUNCO

Sara V. Palunco, 43, died yesterday at her home, 34 La Loma Court, San Rafael, after a long illness.

Mrs. Palunco had lived in San Anselmo until February this year. A native of Altoona, Pa., she had lived in California for 22 years, six of them in Marin County.

She is survived by her husband, John, and by her daughter, Felicia Palunco, both of the San Rafael home.

A Mass of the Resurrection will be offered Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. at St. Anselm's Church, San Anselmo. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

MRS. DE WITT

Funeral for Margaret C. De Witt of San Anselmo will be tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo. Private inurnment will follow.

Mrs. De Witt, wife of C.R. (Dick) De Witt, Marin county's senior active real estate broker, died Saturday in a local hospital after a long illness. The couple celebrated their golden wedding anniversary two weeks ago.

A registered nurse before her marriage, Mrs. De Witt had lived in Marin County for 50 years. She was a homemaker while her husband continued the real estate profession he began in Fairfax in 1920. She was a native of Jackson, Amador County.

MAIZA DODEN

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, for Maiza Fern Doden, San Rafael, apartment manager, who died Friday.

Mrs. Doden died of an apparently self-inflicted shotgun wound, according to Deputy Coroner Bill J. Thomas, who said a note was found indicating despondency.

Mrs. Doden, 45, was found by her 11-year-old son, Scott, in their home at 15 Sonoma Avenue.

She was manager of the East Harbor Estates apartments.

Surviving, in addition to her son, are her husband, Leonard; two daughters, Mary and Carol, and a sister, Laura Donley of Oregon.

Memorial gifts to Guide Dogs to the Blind are preferred.

VICTORIA HYLAND

Victoria C. Hyland of San Rafael died yesterday at home. She was 81.

She resided at 717 C Street and had lived in Marin for the past 20 years.

She was a native of Poland.

She is survived by a son, Adrian T. Hyland of Occidental, Sonoma County; a sister, Gertrude Comstock of Salem, Ore., four grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

Mass of Resurrection for Mrs. Hyland will be celebrated at St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael at 10 a.m. Wednesday. Rosary will be recited at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael, at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Burial will be private.

I-J Editorials Place In Judging

The Independent-Journal has received honorable mention in the Herrick Editorial Award competition of the National Newspaper Association.

The nationwide competition was for editorials explaining the everyday application of the principles of democracy. It takes its name from John P. Herrick, who established it.

The I-J entry included several editorials by Bryce W. Anderson, associate editor, published during 1971. Among them was the "Free John Citizen" editorial which earlier won a George Washington Honor Medal award from Freedoms Foundation.

Goldenaires Set Meeting

The San Rafael Goldenaires senior citizen club has scheduled its general membership meeting for 11:30 a.m. Aug. 23 in the community recreation center, 1011 Fifth Avenue.

The meeting is open to any Marin County resident aged 55 or over, according to C. B. Musante, club president.

Free snacks and beverages will be served at the brown-bag luncheon, he said.

Shoreline Road Work Ordered

Reichhold and Jurkovich of Santa Rosa was awarded a contract for blanketing asphaltic concrete on 9.7 miles of the Shoreline Highway in Marin County, it was announced today by the state Department of Public Works.

Blanketed will be two locations between 7.5 miles south and 2.2 miles north of Point Reyes National Seashore.

The contract includes 2.8 miles in Sonoma and is $220,757.

No Revenue Sharing Before GOP Session

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said today there was no prospect the Senate would pass revenue sharing before recessing for the Republican National Convention at the end of the week.

The Senate Finance Committee last week short-stopped the bill after sending it toward the Senate floor, calling it back for further consideration because of a jurisdictional conflict with the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The original measure as passed by the House and as approved by the Finance Committee carried about $5.3 billion in direct-distribution funds to the states and cities. The money would be passed out via automatic procedures that bypass the regular congressional appropriating process.

The new chairman of the Appropriations Committee, Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., let it be known he would not accept such a procedure. Then Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., called the bill back for further work.

Meanwhile, there appeared to be no progress toward breaking another legislative impasse involving an interim arms limitation agreement with the Soviet Union.

Mansfield said he would not take up revenue sharing, even if it is released to the calendar by the Finance Committee, until action on the arms agreement bill is completed.

"I believe that the Senate should join with our negotiators and administration spokesmen in rejecting, for the future, the sort of disparities that we have agreed to, on an interim basis, in the present agreement," Mansfield said.

The President raised the wrath of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by backing Jackson's amendment. The White House support was an attempt to mollify Jackson and other Senate hardliners. The foreign relations panel members claim Nixon is attempting to "waffle" on his agreement with the Soviet Union.

The committee refuses to permit approval of the agreement unless Jackson's amendment is defeated. Jackson also refuses to budge on his position.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says the White House must support a move to pass the agreement without qualification or face an uncertain fate on several of its other major programs — including Nixon's welfare reform bill.

The House, meanwhile, faces a heavy schedule this week including a vote Wednesday on the five-year Washington-Moscow offensive missile agreement. It may also vote Thursday on an antibusing bill that would establish guidelines courts must follow in issuing school desegregation orders, making busing a last resort.

Automobile Stolen

Marijuana Case To Upper Court

The order was made by visiting Municipal Court Judge Joseph A. Weber of Mendocino County, who ruled that evidence in the case had been legally seized.

Saltzman was arrested July 10 after Novato police found suspected marijuana plants each about four feet tall, growing in the garden of his home at 2186 Novato Boulevard.

Saltzman is to be arraigned next Monday.

Mill Valley Wage Talks Fruitless

The Mill Valley City Council canceled two closed meetings scheduled last week to discuss the stalemated contract talks with its municipal employees.

After adjourning meetings scheduled at 5 p.m. Thursday and noon Saturday, the council finally met in closed session at 5:30 p.m. Saturday.

According to City Mgr. William H. Cunningham, the council made no decision Saturday and there was no settlement of the stalemated salary and fringe benefits negotiations.

The council adjourned to a meeting at 8 p.m. today to meet again with its representatives to the bargaining talks.

At its meeting last week, the council extended until tomorrow the deadline for making any salary settlement retroactive to July 1.

A public budget session is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the council chambers of city hall.

Art Works Stolen

Cycle Accident Victim Recovers

A 25-year-old Mill Valley man was reported in good condition today in Marin General Hospital with a knee injury received when his motorcycle collided with an auto Friday on Ridgecrest Drive about a mile south of Panoramic Highway on Mount Tamalpais.

Owen Marowitz of 404 Wellesley Court was southbound when his cycle crossed the center line on a curve, according to the California Highway Patrol, and collided with a northbound auto driven by Elliot S. Krames, 28, of 711 Alta Vista Road. Krames was uninjured.

Sir Winston's Hat Sells For $275

The hats were part of a collection auctioned from the estate of the late Sir Edward Hallstrom, millionaire Australian industrialist and philanthropist. He became best known in his lifetime as the man who introduced refrigerators into Australian homes.

Quentin Man Found Dead In His Cell

Fred Henry Johnson, 27, of Santa Cruz, was found unconscious by a guard 20 minutes after the 10 p.m. bedcheck, according to a prison spokesman. He was rushed to the prison hospital where attempts to revive him failed.

Deputy coroner Donald Cornish said there was no mark or sign of violence on the body. An autopsy was scheduled today.

Johnson had been in San Quentin since May on parole violation convictions. He had been placed in solitary confinement after trouble with another inmate, a prison spokesman said.

Bus-Car Collision Costs Three Lives

APEX, N. C. (UPI)—Skidding on rain-slick U. S. 64, a Greyhound bus plowed into two cars Sunday, killing three persons and injuring 21.

The bus, en route from Richmond, Va. to New orleans, had stopped in Raleigh, about 10 miles east of here, just prior to the accident. Nineteen of those injured were aboard the bus.

Office Building Permit Sought

The Corte Madera Planning Commission will consider a request for a conditional use permit to construct a warehouse and office development at 200 Tamal Vista Boulevard at its regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in town hall.

Trans Marin Properties proposes to erect the five structures in an industrial park adjoining Marin Municipal Water District headquarters.

The commission also is to act on an application by the Marin Foundation to conduct a home for girls 14 to 18 years old at 622 Tamalpais Drive.

Emporium Strike Settlement Near

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A tentative settlement was reached Sunday between the Emporium Department store and two retail clerks unions.

Details were withheld until the proposal is submitted to the membership for a ratification vote at San Francisco's longshoremen's hall today.

The four-week strike was started in a dispute over wages, fringe benefits and a demand that all employes be required to join the union, which represents 1,600 employes of the Emporium.

THE WORLD'S "BEST ECONOMY SEDAN" IS MORE THAN JUST ECONOMICAL.

DRIVE ONE AND SEE.

Every year the readers of Car and Driver magazine vote for the cars they believe are the best in the world in various categories.

This year only two American cars won.

One of them was the Chevy Vega.

It was the second win in a row for Vega. And when you consider the quality of the competition and the awareness of the voters, that's quite a tribute.

Economy alone didn't win it for Vega.

Quality was part of it.

So was styling. Also sportiness, comfort and ride.

You shouldn't take our word for it, though. Or even the word of the Car and Driver voters.

What you should do is experience Vega for yourself, now, while The Vega Drive is on at Chevrolet dealerships from coast to coast.

Get behind the wheel of a new Vega Notchback, Hatchback, Kammback or Panel Express and see how it feels to drive a winner.

Building Permit Delay Is Asked

The Cotati School District board will ask the Cotati City Council not to issue any more home building permits until a way is found to provide more classroom space for children.

"Developers are building houses faster than we can absorb children into the classrooms," said board president Andrew J. Camozzi.

The board's action was taken Friday at a special meeting called to consider solutions to the space problem in Cotati and Rohnert Park schools.

Camozzi said the board wants council action to insure that developers and home builders contribute to the costs of providing additional classrooms.

The school board would like to levy a special assessment on new residential structures built within its boundaries. The revenue would be used to pay for portable classrooms. The proposed rate would be $75 for a three or four-bedroom home.

Camozzi admitted the board didn't know whether their proposal was legal.

The district now leases 10 portable classrooms — at about $2,000 each a year — from the Sonoma County Department of Education. The district pays the rent from its general funds and Camozzi says those funds are drying up.

The Cotati City Council last month refused the district's request that the city purchase portable classrooms for the schools.

The district board Friday rejected an offer by real estate developers to lease six homes and convert them into temporary classrooms.

The six homes are in Holiday Park, south of East Cotati Boulevard and roughly midway between Waldo Rohnert and John Reed Elementary schools.

Camozzi said the offer was turned down because only two or three classrooms could be carved out of each house; they would be too far from other school facilities, there would not be enough bathrooms and they would be impractical to administrate.

Camozzi said the district would rather continue using port ble classrooms because they could be erected on scho' property.

Barbecue Stolen

Mexico Buys U.S. Ranch Firm's Land

TECATE, Mexico (UPI) — President Luis Echeverria Alvarez of Mexico signed a decree Sunday night giving the bulk of land in the Mexicali River valley to the people who are using it.

The decree eliminates the American-owned, 40-year-old Colorado River Land Co., which owned 150,000 acres of land in the valley at one time, including much of the city.

The announcement, by Guillermo Martinez Dominguez of Mexico City, head of the National Financiero Federal Credit Institution, indicated all outstanding shares of stock owned by the company had been purchased, involved was almost two thirds of the land in the rich agricultural valley.

President Echeverria arrived at Mexicali Sunday for a four-day visit and was greeted by the seven governors of Mexico's border states. They were to discuss mutual problems here Monday.

In the land deal, the city titles are to be cleared at once by the federal government and 850 families, representing about 4,500 persons, will be given title deeds at once to their property, free of charge, a spokesman for the governor said.

Boardwalk Hit By Big Blazes

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) —Two general alarm fires scarred the famed Boardwalk and a commercial fishing dock area during the weekend, causing damage estimated at well over $1.5 million.

Fire officials said the origin of the fires, which broke out one mile and 10 hours apart, was not immediately determined but it appeared they were not related.

The second fire broke out minutes before midnight Saturday at fishing docks on Rhode Island Avenue as firemen rested from fighting the blaze that gutted six stores along the boardwalk in the afternoon. "It looked like the whole inlet area was burning," a spectator said. Two three-story frame storage buildings collapsed and a one-story concrete block building owned by Atlantic City Fisheries, a fishing cooperative, was gutted.

The Coast Guard dispatched four vessels and 30 men to the bay side to aid in dousing the fire.

Six firemen and two Coast Guardsmen were treated for minor injuries.

Battalion Chief Anthony Ingenito said he could not estimate the value of damage done in the dock blaze, but called it "costly."

Thirteen firemen and four bystanders suffered smoke inhalation at the Boardwalk fire, anders. Mrs. Anita Lippman, 57, of Margate, rescued by Fireman Paul LaVigna from her damaged store, was the only person seriously injured in the fire that broke out at 12:30 p.m.

Acting Fire Chief Kenneth Goff estimated damage from the Boardwalk blaze at $1.5 million, including $50,000 for the 400 feet of 30-foot wide walk burned in the resort's busiest district.

Boardwalk stores destroyed or severely damaged included Irene's Gift and Souvenir Shop, James' Original Salt-Water Taffy Store, Gina's Original Wig Shop, Finchley's Art Gallery, Hamilton Art Gallaries and Nash's Restaurant.

The fire also gutted the former Nixon's Apollo Theater, which was given a complete fireproofing after a blaze in 1880 and declared "indestructible."

The last major boardwalk fire was in December 1968, when a block of the Steel Pier went up in smoke about six blocks from the boardwalk blaze.

Disguised Thief Steals Sealed Phone Coin Box

An impudent thief dressed in a repairman's outfit lifted a sealed telephone coin box from the Disco Store at Larkspur Plaza last Thursday. He played the role so well that the store manager didn't realize he had been conned until yesterday.

Disco manager William Joseph Billetter told Larkspur police that the man, about 30, wore a utility belt "as if a telephone repairman."

He approached the telephone in the store's snack bar as though he was working on it, Billetter reported. Then he left with the coin box, leaving a sticker on the telephone advising "out of order."

The manager telephoned Pacific Telephone and Telegraph yesterday to find out when his phone would be fixed and was told no repairman had been sent.

Investigation is continuing, said Larkspur police.

Hawaiian Blaze Burns Itself Out

HILO, Hawaii (UPI) — A brush fire started by a lava flow on the Island of Hawaii has burned itself out after charring 650 acres.

Forest rangers at the Volcano National Park said the blaze was started by a small eruption in the densely covered Poli-okeawe Pali area about 30 miles from Hilo.

Heavy rains and fog put out the flames which the rangers said had been held in check by strong winds.

Awards Made For City Opera

SARATOGA, Calif. (UPI)—Los Angeles bass-baritone Michael Gallup was awarded $1,000 and Victoria Whipple of Bountiful, Utah, received $500 Sunday night for achievements in the San Francisco Opera's 1972 Merola Opera Program.

Gallup won the Gropper Memorial Award for the greatest improvement shown during the 10-week schedule of training and performance session for outstanding singers from the West.

Miss Whipple received the Karl Kritz Memorial Award for the great improvement she displayed during the program. Miss Whipple, 20, was the youngest participant in the program's 16-year history.

Petaluma Overpasses Speeded Up By State

Two new freeway overpasses at Petaluma have been included in the 1972-73 state Division of Highways budget putting both projects years ahead of schedule.

Burdette A. Shannon, Petaluma Chamber of Commerce manager, said he received confirmation today from the Division of Highways that new overpasses of Highway 101 at East Washington Street and Caulfield Lane will be advertised for construction bids this year.

The project at East Washington Street will include demolition of the two-lane overpass and construction of a four-lane overpass at an estimated cost of $1.3 million.

Shannon said engineering designs have been completed and construction bids will be sought this fall. The project had been originally scheduled for 1978.

The new four-lane overpass at Caulfield Lane was originally scheduled for 1974 and has also been moved up to this year. Shannon said engineering work has also been complete and that the schedule calls for advertising for construction contracts later this year. The project is estimated to cost the state $600,000. Access road work financed by the city is nearly complete.

Finch Considers Governor's Race

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—White House adviser Robert Finch said Sunday he is "considering" entering the race for the California governorship or a U.S. Senate seat in 1974.

Finch is a former lieutenant governor of California and Gov. Ronald Reagan has stated he will not seek a third term.

Finch said he will return to private law practice in California after the November Presidential election to earn enough money to put his three college-age children through school.

He outlined his future plans at a news conference after an address to the American Bar Association convention during which he defended President Nixon's record in broadening economic opportunities for minorities.

Salt Pond Dredging Plan Is Protested

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The Save the Bay Association in Berkeley has lodged a protest against a plan to dredge an inlet channel to salt ponds along-side Highway 37 just west of Vallejo.

According to Carolyn Wharton of the Army Corps of Engineers public affairs office, the group particularly protests the proposed location for spoils disposal.

The Leslie Salt Co. applied to the corps last month for permission to dredge 15,000 cubic yards from its inlet channel to the salt ponds, intending to place the spoils on the west bank of the channel.

The conservation group's protest is the only one received from the public, she said, although the corps is still waiting to hear from the State Water Quality Board and the Department of the Interior.

The Environmental Protection Agency and the Department of Commerce do not intend to protest the application, she said.

Any additional protests from the public would be accepted in the coming week, she indicated, although the Aug. 10 deadline for such protests has expired.

Hub Planners Set Moratorium Hearing

The San Anselmo Planning Commission will hold a public hearing on a proposed moratorium on development at 8 p.m. Aug. 21 in city hall, Duane C. Reagan, commission chairman, announced today.

Waste System Meeting Is Off

A joint meeting of the Marin Municipal Water District board, the advisory committee to Improvement District A and the environmental advisory subcommittee, scheduled for Wednesday, has been canceled, according to water district Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger.

The meeting had been scheduled to receive a report from a group of engineers now preparing plans for a consolidated waste treatment system for Southeast Marin. But Seeger said the report is not completed.

Improvement District A was established by the water district to coordinate plans for the system to the point of a bond issue. The advisory committee and environmental subcommittee were formed to provide public opinion to the district on various aspects of the project.

Auto Proves It Needs Repairs

A San Francisco driver whose brakes were failing drove to a Novato store for parts Saturday and hit it.

When Rudolph Dean Nordquest, 24, pulled into a parking space, his car jumped the curb and struck the front of Eastside Auto Parts, 874 Grant Avenue, Novato police reported.

San Anselmo Sets Budget Review

The San Anselmo City Council will consider the adoption of a $1.5 million budget for 1972-73 and a tax rate when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall.

The council will also meet in closed session to discuss pending litigation, including a $900,000 death case suit stemming from a two-car collision on Redhill Avenue last year, according to City Atty. John G. Buresh.

NOVATO SWINGS IN SUMMER

Swinging, sliding and climbing Novato youngsters cavort amidst the new play equipment at Pioneer Memorial Park in Novato, which is undergoing a spurt of development. Along with the installation of the play apparatus, construction has started on two tennis courts and the city has plans to restore a small hilltop pioneer cemetery at the park.

Novatan Is Elected To Lead Unions

Robert G. Johnson, 53, former Novato planning commissioner, has been elected president of the California State Conference of Bricklayers, Stone Masons, Plasterers, Tile and Terrazzo unions.

Along with heading the unions with more than 9,000 members, Johnson will continue in his job as business manager-secretary of Tile Layers Union No. 19 which encompasses Northern California counties.

A former masonry foreman at Hamilton Air Force Base, Johnson rose from an apprentice tile setter to president of Local 19 and delegate to national union conventions.

He worked for the incorporation of Novato in 1960 and was appointed to the city's first planning commission after an unsuccessful bid for a city council seat.

Johnson resigned from the commission in 1969 after nine years during which he served as chairman and vice chairman.

A native of Yakima, Wash., he has been a resident of Novato for 15 years and lives at 1414 Hill Avenue. He and his wife, Nancy, have five children.

Nixon Aides Support Private School Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The administration today threw its support to a proposed $200 tax credit for private school tuition but opposed a companion plan to spend $2.2 billion a year for five years in general aid to public schools.

Three cabinet-level officials told the House Ways and Means Committee the tax credit is needed to help private school parents. They said the multibillion-dollar aid to public schools would be inflationary.

Treasury Secretary George Shultz, HEW Secretary Elliot L. Richardson and Caspar W. Weinberger, director of the Office of Management and Budget, testified on a bill introduced by Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the committee, and Rep. Hugh Carey, D-N.Y.

The measure would allow tax credits covering 100 per cent of private school tuition paid per youngster, up to a maximum of $200, and would authorize $11 billion over five years as general aid to public schools. The tax credit — a dollar for dollar write-off from the parents' income tax bill — would result in a revenue loss of about $750 million a year, according to Weinberger.

Shultz said tax deductions are now allowed for contributions to private schools and that the measure would extend "similar benefits" to parents.

"We do not believe the use of a credit as distinguished from a deduction raises any constitutional problems," he said.

Shultz and Weinberger urged the committee to endorse an earlier administration recommendation that the crejits be phased out for families with adjusted gross incomes over $18,000 a year. That proposal was made when the administration endorsed the theory of tax credits in a letter to Mills on June 21.

All three officials warned against adoption of the general aid feature without a corresponding plan to eliminate other federal aid programs.

"Unless Congress wants to bring on another round of inflation by breaking the budget or increase taxes to match the new expenditures it proposes, it is necessary when putting forward a new program to have in mind old programs which can be eliminated to free funds now committed," Weinberger testified.

Larkspur Budget Due Adoption

A $1.4 million final budget for 1972-73 will be up for adoption by the Larkspur City Council at an adjourned meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Last month, City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst proposed a $1,475,127 spending program which would have raised the city's tax rate by 42.5 cents, from $1.985 to $2.32 per $100 assessed valuation.

Since then, the council has cut approximately $80,000 from the budget and lopped off approximately half the proposed tax increase.

The council will set the tax rate at the meeting.

In other business, the council, acting as a redevelopment agency, will meet in closed session to consider hiring a planning consultant.

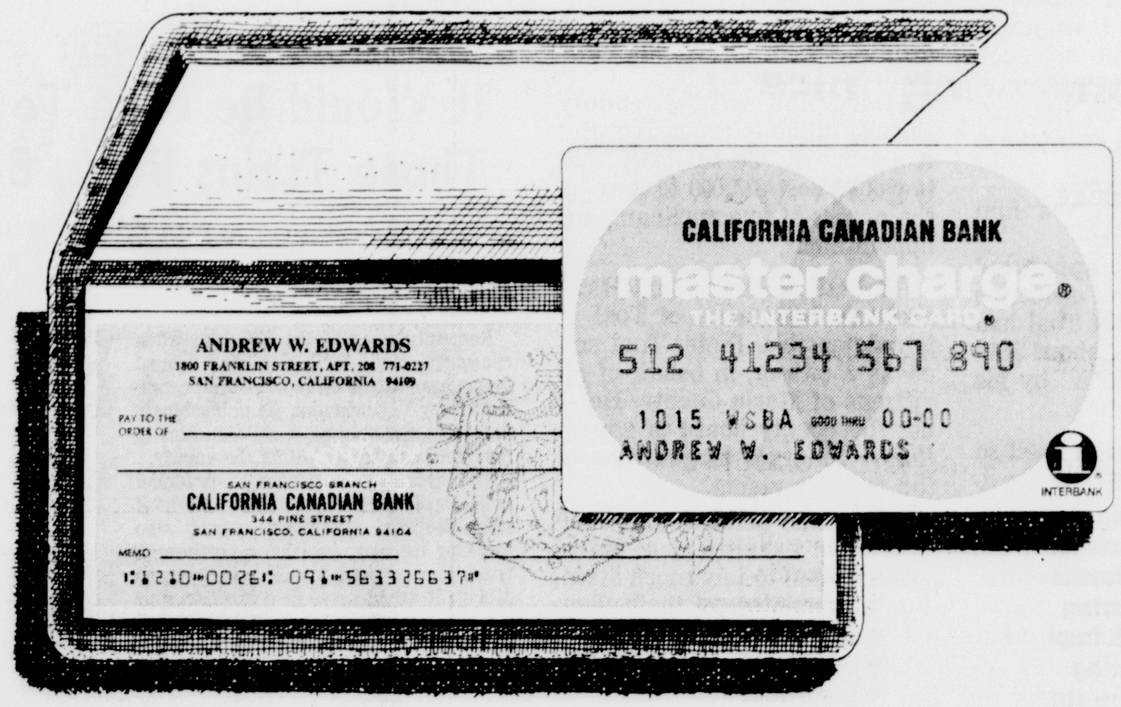
INTRODUCING MASTER CHECKING

It's Free And So Is Your Personal Checking.



Now you can be master of your checkbook. Instead of the other way around. Sometimes there's a need to spend money—even when you haven't got money to spend. Master Checking lets you write good checks even if your balance is down to zero. The checks you write are simply charged to your Master Charge account as a simple short-term loan.

MASTER CHECKING IS FREE

And the good part is that you can engage this new service absolutely free. There is a small charge only if you decide to use your Master Checking privilege. But shouldn't you have it there—just in case? To enjoy the advantages of Master Checking you need a Master Charge card and a personal checking account from California Canadian Bank.

PERSONAL CHECKING IS FREE

If you keep a hundred dollar balance in your account, you can write as many checks as you want and your checking service is absolutely free. If your balance should drop below a hundred dollars, you can still write all the checks you want and it will only cost you $1 a month. And if your balance should drop to zero—just think, you can still write checks!

LIES ABOUT AMERICA: 'We Have Gone Fascist'

By ARNOLD BEICHMAN

The American worker — white, that is — is a retrograde, decadent, selfish creature: a honky. Or as A. H. Raskin, assistant editor of the New York Times, has described him:

"The typical worker — from construction craftsman to shoe clerks — has become probably the most reactionary political force in the country."

Other views of the American worker are that he revels in racial discrimination, imperialist wars, fascism, antiintellectualism, "blind" anticommunism and other political blood-sports.

Surprisingly enough, these same proctor-intellectuals who condemn the dollar imperialism of the American worker find it intolerable that there should be any poverty in America.

But what if poverty were finally to be eliminated?

Would not the nouveau riche workers then become, in the eyes of their self-styled liberators, reactionary, racist, imperialist, puritanical honkies, and all impatient to become high-priced "hard hats"?

THE BIG LIE about the American worker arises from the problem of elites in America versus the "mass society." It derives from a deep ambivalence about the people. Two attitudes prevail side by side: the Hamiltonian suspicion and contempt (Alexander Hamilton once said, "Take mankind in general, they are vicious, their passions may be operated on"); at the same time, the glowing Populist confidence as one intones, "All power to the people!"

Unlike Engels or Marx, Lenin knew precisely what to do to prevent the workers from "discrediting" themselves as they had appeared, so distressingly to Engels, to have done. He abolished trade unions, and anathematized collective bargaining as "economism." He knew that the real proletariat — and not the fictional protagonists of the Marxian drama — is indeed unrevolutionary, that without a so-called proletarian vanguard, workers would "only" seek more money and better conditions of work. Inside each proletarian there is a counterrevolutionary wildly signalling to be let out.

It is this immunity to revolutionary slogans among workers and trade unionists which so enrages the left progressives. And this immunity is demonstrable by a simple fact: revolutionary socialistm or communism has yet to be established in an industrial country through electoral victory. Where revolutionary socialism or communism has been imposed, it could only be maintained by the destruction of trade unions and of collective bargaining.

IS IT NOT STRIKING that the significant worker revolutions of the 1950s and 1960s have been in East Germany, Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia? And is there any question but that the East European revolutions would have been just as successful as those against Nkrumah and Sukarno had the Soviet Union not been a border power, a next-door neighbor? And could the East European revolutions have gone as far as they did had not there been — here, at last! — an open, irrefragable alliance between workers, students, and intellectuals?

It is precisely this kind of alliance which is non-existent in western industrial countries. Because there is no base, there is no effective ideology, only a frenetic "socialist" rhetoric and terroristic bombings.

Against whom is this terror and this metaphorical revolution directed? No longer at the university, because even after an academic administration has collapsed, what do you have, what have you changed (that is, if you are a revolutionary student or radicalized professor) in the world outside? Very little. Today militant action must be directed against the non-revolutionary worker and his trade unions.

The Weatherman faction which controlled SDS regarded white workers in America as "inherently counterrevolutionary, impossible to organize, or just plain evil. . ." Weathermen leaders derided white workers for "desiring better-homes, better food, and better lives."

Such sneers are to be found not only among the revolutionary students but also among middle-class journalists and intellectuals who, as the phrase used to go, never had it so good.

THE AMERICAN-worker-is-a-honky Big Lie burgeoned in the 1950's when it became quite clear that American labor was not merely anti-fascist, but also anti-totalitarian, that the struggle against Hitler's crusade for world domination did not cease with his defeat but necessarily extended as a struggle against Stalin's more "rational" crusade for world domination.

When the American worker refuses to join these summer soldiers of revolution, he is showing good sense. The utopian promise is always that things will be better for him, but the worker has always grasped with a fine instinct that the revolutionary program actually means that the average man will not have it better but worse. The dialectical ploy is always, of course, that the real worsening of living conditions is only "temporary" and that the sacrifices are for the next generation.

Half a century after Lenin's seizure of power, you can, as far as the workers in most industrial countries are concerned, kiss all the ploys good-bye. Only the wilfully blind can fail to see the tragic import of Che Guevara's refreshingly candid thesis in "Notes on Man and Socialism in Cuba":

"The vanguard group is ideologically more advanced than the mass; the latter understands the new values, but not sufficiently. While among the former there has been a qualitative change which enables them to make sacrifices to carry out their function as an an advance guard, the latter go only halfway and must be subjected to stimuli and pressures of a certain intensity. That is the dictatorship of the proletariat operating not only on the defeated class but also on individuals of the victorious class."

Here is the perfect casuistry of the new class of proctors; they alone are advanced enough to see things whole, they alone have the right to impose sacrifices, to institute (how Orwell would have loved the phrase) "pressures of a certain intensity."

We have the same candor from Lenin, who — like Marx, Engels, Bakunin, Tkachev, Guevara, and all the others — knew that the revolution would not be a free and self-conscious act of the proletariat.

WHAT IS SAID about the American worker and the American labor movement by intellectuals, both conservative and progressive, is more than just a Big Lie. It is a contempt for the working people of America, Britain, France, Canada, and other democracies for refusing to share the discontent of the intellectual classes with the prevailing order of democratic societies.

Contempt for workers was expressed by Prof. Andrew Hacker of Cornell, who was absolutely ecstatic that he could announce America's approaching "terminal hour." Its doom, he said, was inevitable. Even if America could end poverty and bigotry, diffuse its pyramids of power, and suppress its imperial tendencies, there is no reason to believe that such a society would contain a greater quotient of talented people."

He also announced that "the egos of 200 million Americans have expanded to dimensions never before considered appropriate for ordinary citizens."

As George Orwell once said about similar hyperbolic nonsense: "You have to belong to the intelligentsia to believe things like that. No ordinary man could be such a fool."

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

No Applause Due County Board Action

The Marin County Board of Education has at last made public the names of five persons who applied for appointment to the board to fill out the term of James A. Swenson, its Novato member who resigned.

The board deserves no applause for its action, however. Rather, it deserves censure for the ill grace with which it responded to demands that the names be revealed.

THIS APPLIES especially to board members Patrick W. Pollock and Lee C. Richardson Jr., who took occasion to defame Pieter Toal, former San Anselmo School District trustee who, as a citizen, brought suit to force disclosure of the names.

Pollock (who was appointed to the county board originally by the same secret selection process it sought to preserve) called Toal "just an obstructionist who wanted to make a name for himself."

"I hope we won't see him again," said Pollock.

Richardson (also appointed by that same secret selection process) charged that Toal had "cost the taxpayers about $15,000 in staff time alone" by his demand for the names.

THAT CHARGE is in itself so remarkable, and so irresponsible, that it demands examination.

Toal brought suit only after the county board had ignored the advice of its attorney, Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino, that it was illegal to keep secret the names of applicants for short-term appointment to the elective office of county board member.

Faced with a court order to show cause why it should not release the names, the board finally did so.

If, as the board and County Schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis claimed, the six applicants had been carefully considered before William L. Sisk was appointed in May, it is difficult to see where any time of anyone was necessary to respond to Toal's demand. The board members should have had the names "at the tips of their tongues."

If the board members had so quickly forgotten who they considered for this important appointment, the staff time involved to find out should have been a matter of seconds — or at most, minutes.

Staff time in the county schools office is expensive. But it can hardly be so costly that it would cost $15,000 to look up the names of five applicants for appointment.

AS FOR Pollock's and Richardson's castigation of Toal, it is indefensible. Pieter Toal acted as a citizen, in behalf of all citizens of Marin County. He — not the county board of education — emerges as guardian of the public's rights.

The whole performance indicates that the citizens of Marin County need to pay more attention to the doings of their elected county board of education — which, with the county superintendent, controls a $1.5 million-per-year spending program.

Triple Threat

Many things can ruin a summer holiday in Marin, or elsewhere. But three hazards of nature are among the common dangers to be careful about.

Sunburn is one. It is easily avoided by gradual exposure. A good tan may look healthy and handsome, but long term health effects are debatable. Prolonged exposure over years may cause cancer.

Another is poison oak. Beware of leaves in threes. It's a common Marin weed. And no joking matter.

The third is insects. Yellow jacket and bee stings can even be fatal if one is allergic to them. Ticks are not insects, strictly speaking. But they can get under your skin and gorge themselves on your blood and cause a big infection.

"The unemployment situation must be improving. This morning I was standing by the fire hydrant."

'Democrats For Nixon' Not Just Another Press Agent Bit

WASHINGTON — Ever since 1952, when the Republicans shed Thomas Dewey and his big-city, little-man-on-a-wedding-cake image for that of Dwight Eisenhower, the flat-spoken war hero from the plains, organizations called "Democrats For (the Republican presidential candidate)" have become a tradition in the South and Border states.

It is doubtful that these organizations as such ever swung a state to the Republican candidate, although the influence of individual leaders like Virginia's Harry Byrd, who professed a policy of "golden silence" in presidential politics, helped crack the longtime Democratic tradition of the region. Even at that, the "Democrats For . . ." movement remained mainly a regional phenomenon.

BUT 1972 is the year when Democrats for Nixon became a national organization, not only headed by a former Democratic governor of Texas and secretary of the Navy under John Kennedy, not only featuring a former head of the USIA under Lyndon Johnson as treasurer, but also boasting of a former six-term Democratic congressman from California, a liberal named James Roosevelt, as one of its board members. You may, if you wish, envision what contortions that must be causing in the graves of Eleanor and Franklin Roosevelt, who were Jimmy's parents.

Not only that, but squads of rich Democrats on whom Hubert Humphrey and other candidates depended for major campaign contributions are going to make their donations to Richard Nixon instead this year.

The reason, of course, is not that these lifelong Democrats, many of whom have distrusted Mr. Nixon deeply all his political life, have suddenly been converted to personal admirers of the President. What the Democrats For Nixon have going for them is George McGovern, whose record on Israel, the economy, defense and myriad other matters has scared them pale.

THUS, DEMOCRATS For Nixon has a budget, it is able to hire professionals like George Christian, Mr. Johnson's former press secretary, and to lay plans for detailed convassing and vote-production efforts in key states where a small percentage of Democratic swing could make the difference in November.

Christian, who also is John Connally's former press secretary and since leaving Washington has ramrodded Texas campaigns for Sen. Lloyd Bentsen and other conservative Democrats, maintains that the organization could be crucial in the prize target of California. In addition, the organization is making specific rather than pro forma efforts in Michigan, New York, Ohio, Illinois, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and possibly Minnesota. Plus Texas, which goes without saying.

It is a far, far cry from the days when "Democrats For . . ." was merely a paper public-relations operation intended to make it respectable for potential defectors to vote Republican without quite mentioning the dirty word.

POLITICAL NOSTALGIA

It Would Be Nice To Have Those Trains Back, But. . .

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Politicans have a natural affinity for nostalgia. Or for anything else they think will win votes.

Remembrances of the old days when choochoos made their slow way around Marin have attracted supervisorial candidate Gary T. Giacomini. He unblushingly embraces the dreams of railroad fans to resurrect rail travel within the county.

The dreams, supposedly so practical trains could be ready to roll in weeks if only doubting officialdom would stop blocking the way, envision a north-south trunk line between Ignacio and Southern Marin. It would serve both the Larkspur and Sausalito ferry terminals, with spurs extending into Corte Madera, Larkspur and Mill Valley.

NOT SURPRISINGLY, Giacomini's opponent in the November election, Michael R. Peevey, observed last week that the idea of local rail travel was "financially unsound and environmentally disastrous." He said his opposition to Giacomini's "pie in the sky" idea was vindicated by the county planning department's new transportation plan, which disregarded rail transit as too big and too expensive.

Giacomini's transit dream of restoring rail travel to West Marin also fared poorly last week at the hands of a plan for the coast by the Association of Bay Area Governments.

The plan warned that such a rail system, though designed for recreational traffic and intended to minimize environmental damage, would require "deep cuts and fills and extensive scarring of hillsides. Second," it said, "the system would require an enormous capital investment and probably would represent a permanent tax burden, even with financial support.

"Finally, due to the high cost of construction and operation, demand for use of the facility for commuting between east and west Marin County probably would be generated, both by developers and the system's operators. The pressure for this could be hard to resist in the face of rising taxes, and land speculation and development pressures."

That was not exactly an endorsement of Giacomini's theories on transit.

WITH AN ANNUAL deficit approaching $4 million for the Golden Gate Bridge District's ferry and bus system, it would be hard to justify another transit system that would compete for limited public subsidies. Cut the financial pie into too many slices and everyone will end up starving.

Railroad fans sincerely believe their claims can operate without public funds, but this is a claim for private transit that recent Marin history has not substantiated.

Beginning with Don Keown's fine article about the Belvedere Fire Department and continuing with the splendid cooperation of your staff; Jay Goodwin; photographer Jim Kean; and particularly Alan Howells, Charles Leone and Mario Lopez of classified who provided us with our "special edition" as well as caps and flags for our I-J newsboys. Thanks to their efforts, your newspaper was well represented in our colorful parade.

We are proud that you could be part of this historic event and wish you continued success in the fine job you have always done in bringing us the news of Marin County.

Some Alternatives To Fluoridation Plan

Responding to dentist Smith's letter taking issue with my earlier use of the word "obsolete," when referring to the theory of public water fluoridation, among many substantiating factors are the following:

A series of technical bulletins published by the dental division of the Epoxylite Corp., describe plastic fissure sealants which are being researched and developed with partial sponsorship by the Cational Institute of Dental Research and with consultation from, among others, a segment of the USPHS. . .

The scientific literature and the press continue to report various other successful alternatives, which provide individual, supervised treatment instead of mass, indiscriminate dosage which can't possibly be controlled, because everyone drinks different amounts of water. Among them: Brush-In-Programs, such as one being tried in Santa Clara County for the last year, involving 280,000 school children, said to be highly effective. It cost about 22 cents per child per year.

Early this spring, Senate Bill 1396 was signed into law in California. It requires all counties to provide supervised topical application for school children wanting it, at little expense or free to welfare families.

U.S. Monetary Policies Injure Europeans

Some of us in Europe feel that the crucial determinant of the November election will be the fiscal and monetary policies of Nixon.

When the President cut the money supply to curb inflation, it did not have that effect but instead caused a business recession and a bad stock market drop.

The decline in the market, in dollar terms, was worse than the '29 crash and we in Europe have felt it, along with being fleeced by American operators of phony offshore funds.

As we see it, Nixon's policy was the traditional Republican one of "balance the budget" until he said it could not work and he announced he was a Keynesian and would engage in deficit spending. He certainly did that so that this year the U.S. may have a deficit of between 30 and 40 billion dollars.

President Nixon's moves have been too late to help the small investor. Only some blue chips have recovered and we believe that about 31 million American investors who have lost plenty will feel like their European brothers, damn sore!

Meet The Creative Consumer: Babbitt Come To A 'Life Style'

"Persons who oppose the war in Vietnam tend to buy imported Roquefort cheese and wild rice." — Emanuel H. Denby in Psychology Today.

Alfred P. used to be an absolutely Average Consumer. He cut his hair not too short, not too long. He wore not-too-wide, not-too-narrow neckties — patterns of modesty against his white shirt. He drove a car not too prestigious, not too cheap, not too new, not too old. He lived in a sort of colonial-ranch-split-level with just the approved mortgage for his income, which was, of course, median.

Alfred P. kept up with the Joneses but never, never got ahead of them. He constituted the human statistic in the middle — a living masterpiece of inconspicuous conformity. He was the anonymous man who made name brands ... well, name brands. And he was proud of it.

Then he read the article in Psychology Today, and his life changed.

THERE ARE, he learned from Emanuel Denby, two kinds of consumer: the "Passive Consumer" and the "Creative Consumer." The Passive Consumer is a rather timid, colorless character who puts his money in the bank and for his big times, watches sports on TV. He thinks of himself as "cooperative, steady, good-natured, reliable, self-controlled, patient, stable, and reserved."

The Passive Consumer — this paragon of dulliness — Alfred clearly saw was himself.

The Creative Consumer, on the other hand, dreams of being "innovative, progressive, imaginative, foresighted, sociable, and responsible." He throws one-and-a-half times as many parties as Passive Consumer — and, oh yes, they are "better parties." Furthermore, his wife wears her skirts higher than Passive Consumer's wife, and he is more "curious about life." While Passive Consumer is slumped before his idiot box, Creative Consumer is out golfing or skiing, "often with professional instruction."

The Creative Consumer, concluded Denby and Psychology Today, belongs to the "vanguard" that "lives on the edge of change; in effect, they create the economy of the country."

ALFRED FLUNG DOWN his latest not-too-wide, not-too-narrow tie and resolved to join this new elite. He purchased a mod wardrobe because 47 per cent of those "venturesome" Creative Consumers spend more than $300 a year on their clothes (as compared with 20 per cent of the Passive Consumers). He bought an electric blender, because three-and-half times as many Creative Consumers own blenders. (Poor Passive Consumers "don't know what to put in a blender, how the blender works, or when it is best to use one.")

Alfred P. — the new Alfred P. — quite literally has gone for broke. Like all the other Creative Consumers, he dutifully drinks four times as much bitter lemon as the Passive Consumer and dines out three-and-a-half times as often. Twice as many Creative Consumers buy new cars; so Alfred buys a new car.

Instead of painting his house, refinishing furniture, and doing his own plumbing — all Passive Consumer avocations -- he travels to Europe and joins a book club. He gives his daughter ballet lessons, his son violin lessons, and sends them both to private school.

And, of course, he changes his politics. For if the Creative Consumer "scores higher on all of the questions that relate to the ways man has fun," he also "expresses much greater concern for civil and human rights."

NIBBLING ON HIS imported Roquefort cheese and wolfing his wild rice, Alfred is now liberal, bankrupt, and happy. And why not? For he isn't really in the "vanguard" at all. He belongs to the new majority, endlessly self-conscious about what's in, what's out — meaning opinions as well as neckties — he has fallen right into the middle again.

Meet the new Alfred; meet the new American. Is he better? Is he worse? Mostly he is less innocent. Buying diluted counterculture like a supermarket commodity, afraid of nothing so much as being a square, here is Babbitt come to a "life style" — and like the original Babbitt, he is worthy of our laughter and our tears.

Shasta Fire Said Now Under Control

SHASTA, Calif. (AP) — A 1,700-acre forest fire that burned part of the historic mining town of Shasta and caused some $95,000 in damage has been controlled, the state Division of Forestry reports.

Nearly 300 of the 475 firefighters who battled the blaze have been released to return to their home stations, Reed Steinbach, division information officer, said.

The blaze forced evacuation of 1,200 to 2,000 residents here Friday and resulted in several minor injuries to firefighters. One conservation crew inmate was hospitalized with leg lacerations and a broken jaw, Steinbach said.

Seven homes, including five in Shasta itself, two barns, four sheds, four cars, two mobile homes and two camper shells were either heavily damaged or destroyed, causing an estimated $95,000 in property loss, Steinbach said.

A hearing was scheduled today for a 12-year-old Redding boy being held for investigation of arson in the fire. The Shasta County sheriff's office said no further details nor the boy's identity would be made available immediately.

Meanwhile, the 375-acre fire in Trinity National Forest, 25 miles west of Weaverville, was reported near containment yesterday with control predicted Monday night.

The Weaverville fire caused an estimated $130,000 damage to timber and watershed, destroying more than three million board feet of timber, officials said.

More than 50 pieces of equipment, including five air tankers and two helicopters, were used in the fight against the Shasta fire Saturday, officials reported. The blaze jumped U.S. 99 and forced its closure for two hours Saturday.

Steinbach said quick action from 13 city and volunteer departments in the area prevented the destruction of more structures in Shasta.

Other fires in the north part of the state were reported controlled yesterday, including one north of Yreka and one southwest of Redding. Other fires controlled were in the Tahoe National Forest south of Portola and one northwest of Portola.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Advertising Shares Often Overlooked

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am interested in speculative stocks from an industry with a strong upside potential. Would you list a few? — G.D.

A. Because the stockmarket is highly susceptible to emotional investor reactions to political and economic developments, even the strongest stocks are subject to correction. As long as you are able to live with the gyrations that are normal for speculative growth stocks, you should do well over the long run.

One industry, which has recently been under pressure, is advertising. Investors, concerned with the effects of the growing militance in consumerism and the ban on radio and TV tobacco ads, have been reluctant to commit themselves to the group. As a result P/E has dropped to a low 15x average for the publicly held companies in the industry. Two attractive issues within the group are Ogilvy and Mather and Clinton E. Frank, both trade OTC. Ogilvy, a blue chip in the field, had compounded earnings growth at an average rate of 20 per cent over the past five years. For the first half of 1972, billings jumped 44 per cent while earnings were half again better than in the previous year. Although shares are trading close to their all-time high, the earnings multiple at a low 20x fails to reflect the company's consistent growth record.

Clinton Frank shares took a drubbing in July when British Leyland, for whom a subsidiary is distributor, announced that the franchise would not be renewed in September. In 1971, this subsidiary contributed 54 cents a share to earnings of $1.75. The termination plan calls for purchase of plant and equipment at appraised value and a 3-year override payment on new car sales. Thus, no nonrecurring loss should result from the cancellation. Earnings for 1972 should reach $1.85 a share. Although shares have recovered much of the ground lost, the 8x earnings multiple more than discounts possible income losses from the Leyland situation. Either issue is a buy for long-pull appreciation.

Insurance Firm Sets Dividend

I-J Special Report

LOS ANGELES — Farmers New World Life Insurance Co. directors have declared the regular quarterly dividend of three cents per share payable Sept. 8, 1972, to stockholders of record on Aug. 18, 1972.

The company's complete line of life coverages is sold exclusively by agents of Farmers Insurance Group who also offer property and casualty insurance throughout the companies' operating territory.

American Motors Due A Lower Rate

I-J Special Report

BURLINGTON, Wis. — American Motors' 1973 passenger cars will qualify for special collision insurance reductions up to 20 per cent as a result of damageability tests conducted for the Allstate Insurance Co., Gerald C. Meyers, group vice president — product, announced.

CONCOURS WINNER

Market On Solid Side

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices were boosted today by a report Henry Kissinger again was conducting secret peace talks in Paris.

The rally began late Friday as professional investors demonstrated confidence in the economy. It continued during this session, boosted by early reports Kissinger, President Nixon's chief foreign affairs adviser, was conducting private peace talks with Communist negotiators to end the Vietnam war.

Continental Corp. was the most active issue, off 1-8 at 40 1-4 on 403,100 shares, including a block of 383,600 shares at 40, off 3-8.

Prices also were higher in fairly active trading on the American Stock Exchange. Teleprompter was the most active Amex issue, up 1-4 at 41 1-2 on 160,300 shares.

Chemicals were higher. Dupont gained 3 on top of a more than 4 point rise Friday, Dow Chemical 1 3-8 and Monsanto 1.

Oils were mixed. Superior Oil climbed 5, and Phillips Petroleum, Atlantic Richfield, California Standard and Kerr McGee all around a point each. Occidental Petroleum lost 5-8 after reporting sharply lower second quarter earnings.

Bank Corporation Earnings Climb

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Continued gains in earnings, deposits and resources highlighted the mid-year report of BankAmerica Corp., President A. W. Clausen has announced.

Consolidated income before securities transactions for the six months ended June 30 increased by 4.3 per cent to $84,162,000 or $1.22 per share, Clausen said.

This compared with an adjusted $80,635,000 or $1.17 per share for the same period last year.

ROSILYN BEWLEY

Couple Plan Wedding In September

Dr. and Mrs. Ross E. Bewley of Stockton have announced the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Rosilyn Bewley, to Alfred Paul Otto III of Ross.

The couple plan to be married Sept. 23 in the garden of the Bewley home in Stockton.

Rosilyn is the sister of Keith, Stuart and Kirk Bewley. Weymouth M. Roberts of San Francisco is her grandfather.

She is a graduate of Lodi High School and Stanford University and she attended the University of California at Berkeley, where she was a member of Delta Gamma sorority. She was an American Field Service Exchange student to Brazil.

The future bridegroom is the son of Alfred P. Otto Jr. of Ross and the late Vivian Milton. He has two sisters, Lynne and Diana Otto and a brother, Andrew Otto, all of Ross. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Otto of Piedmont are his grandparents.

Alfred is a graduate of Redwood High School and the University of California at Berkeley.

Bruce Scott Married To Diane White

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan B. White of Mill Valley are Diane's parents.

Christina de Vigil of Mill Valley was maid of honor for her sister, and Stephen Scott of Mill Valley served his brother as best man. They are the sons of Robert Sinclair Scott of Mill Valley and the late Mrs. Scott.

After a wedding trip to Hawaii the couple will live in Los Angeles, where Bruce will enter the University of California at Los Angeles, to do graduate work in history.

Diane and Bruce are graduates of Tamalpais High School and the University of California, and both are members of Phi Beta Kappa. Diane plans to enter Loyola University school of law in the fall.

The bridegroom has another brother, Dr. Robert James Scott of Lexington, Ky.

Beef Should Be In Your Diet

Beef is a wholesome high protein food and one which nutritionists say should be in your menus frequently. For the past 66 years beef and other meats have been federally inspected.

In 1967 Congress passed an amendment to the 1906 Federal Meat Inspection Act which insures that all meat sold within state boundaries will meet a uniform standard of wholesomeness whether it is inspected by Federal or State inspectors.

College Assistant Dean Has Non-Academic Image

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Meeting 27-year-old Wyanne Bunyan, new assistant dean for student affairs, at her office at Hastings College of the Law in San Francisco was a surprise.

But for complete absence of artifice and her total outward-directed attention, she would have looked more like a model than the youngest dean at Hastings and one of the youngest law school administrators in the country.

After only nine months in the position of director of placement at Hasting, Wyanne Bunyan — she prefers using her maiden name though married to another attorney, Frank Rothschild — succeeded a man when she was promoted to her present position last month.

"My job involves all student problems, academic, personal and mediatory," she explained, "and I have charge of the legal education opportunities program.

"IT'S A program instituted and supported through state funds which enables an underprivileged student with a baccalaureate degree to pursue law as a career. Admission standards are lower, but there is just as much competition as for regular admission. It is very difficult to get into the program, but it does mean that those who would have no chance, do have some chance to be accepted."

Wyanne said she will also continue teaching a class in criminal law, noting that "in the last four or five years probably more women have gone into this field than any other.

Contrary to what most people believe, thinking of the huge fees collected by attorneys in famour murder trals, she said, "Criminal law is a low paying field. It wasn't attractive enough to men, and criminal law opened its arms to women.

"The majority of criminal cases involve being assigned to handle maybe 30 a week for people who ave no money — mostly minorities — but it's getting to be a better field because public defenders' offices are expanding their staffs, and fees are paid by the state to attorneys who handle indigent appeals.

"I find the field both fascinating and frustrating," she declared. "It would take a very exceptional person to remain in the trial aspect. I become too involved with the people — that's why I teach criminal law instead of practicing it. But in this day and age it's good to know you can still help someone on a one-to-one basis and affect a human life. In most law there is not that sort of reward."

From this discussion it was easy to understand why the young attorney, who is a democratic committeeowman, is known as a political activist.

SHE SAID statistics show there is an increase in crime among women, largely because arrests and convictions for prostitution are increasing. She feels this is related to the increase in drug traffic.

"So many women are in low paying jobs that they go into prostitution and get involved with drugs," she said. "With men it's drugs and theft — with women, drugs and prostitution.

"I believe," she said, "that prostitution is a victimless crime, and I would like to see legalized prostitution with medical controls tried as an alternative. If you have control of prostitution, you have control of venereal disease."

Wyanne is very enthusiastic about women going into all professions and discussed their prospects in the field of law.

"Last spring 216 women were among the 1,479 students enrolled at Hastings, or 15 per cent of the student body," she noted.

"Quotas are not really a problem for women any more, as they were even five years ago.

"LAW SCHOOLS are more open to women now, but the competition is tougher than I experienced. Hastings being a state school has no quota for women. Probably no law school has an actual quota system, but if a woman applies to a private school, she may have difficulty because of attitudes toward admitting women."

The woman who has the best chance of acceptance, Wyanne suggested, is "one who has had meaningful work experience, a graduate degree and at least a 3 point grade average, since the average applicant has a 3.4 average."

Asked for her opinion of women's liberation, the young attorney confessed she has mixed reactions.

"I don't like any methods that are going to make more enemies than friends," she emphasized. "I definitely agree with the use of the courts to achieve just aims. If you get a court order, you know a wrong will be rectified.

Wyanne agrees that a great many women who disagree with women's liberation probably don't realize the amount of legal prejudice against them.

"THERE ARE tremendous discriminatory statutes that affect women's daily lives that they don't realize until they face a problem," she said, adding that she herself became especially aware of it when she and her husband were buying their home on Mount Tamalpais near Mill Valley.

"The bank's policy was that only the male member of a household could be insured," she said indignantly.

Education and court action are the answers, she recommended, pointing out that California has not yet ratified the Equal Rights Amendment.

Wyanne believes the media have been very helpful in publicizing opportunities available to women and suggested they could be further helpful in making known the extent of legal discrimination against women.

"As a public service a newspaper could hire a woman with a law degree to do the research on discriminatory laws. Or she herself might apply for a grant from a foundation, setting forth the purpose of the project, how it could be accomplished and the time and money necessary, and then find a newspaper to publish the results."

A young achiever, Wyanne said her father was largely responsible for setting an example for her.

"He was a farmer until he completed military service in World War II," she said, "and then attended college to become a veterinarian in Ohio. From as long as I can remember I was on college campuses and surrounded by education.

"It was a toss-up between law and medicine," she said, "and I finally decided on law because I wanted to do something other than what the family did and because I had difficulty with laboratory sciences in a premed course."

WYANNE ATTENDED five colleges as an undergraduate and was graduated with a B.A. from California State University, San Francisco. She received her law degree from Georgetown Law Center in Washington, D.C., in 1971. She worked all through school, but her present position is her first after obtaining her law degree.

Married two years ago to an attorney in private practice, Syanne thinks their being in the same profession is wonderful.

"It's such a joy when you go home not to have to struggle with a legal problem alone, or for him to be able to talk one over with me."

The new assistant dean is facing a busy future. Fall classes will soon be starting, and as a political activist and Democratic committeewoman she may not have much time until after November to enjoy relaxing at home, where three cats and two dogs make up the rest of the household.

Words Of Ben Franklin Hard To Put Into Action

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Benjamin Franklin preached thrift until he ran out of words. Consider from Poor Richard's Almanack such admonitions as:

"A penny saved is two pence clear." "A pin a day is a groat a year."

"Save and Have". "All things are cheap to the saving, dear to the wasteful." And, "If you'd be wealthy, think of saving more than of getting."

"I'm with you, Ben, all the way.

As I re-use plastic bags or store leftovers until the freezer will hold nothing else, I think of your advice. Then I make other excuses for my saving graces — a Depression child who knew hunger and deprivation all around her, food and clothing rationing and "save fat" during World War II, and now the perfect 1970s excuse, acology. Recycle whenever and whatever possible.

BE A CONSCIENTIOUS citizen. Don't muddle the environment further.

Only thing is, Ben, my thrift has not made me wealthy; it's only given me guilt feelings. For the truth is, I'm incurably penny-wise and pound-foolish.

Why do I use a tea bag twice and then grab a buck-thirty-five cab ride to the office which is in walking distance really?

Why do I rinse the plastic container of detergent to get one more sinkful of suds and then spend $10 (and often more) for a professional shampoo and set when I perfectly well can do my own hair?

Why do I add a little water or vinegar to rinse a practically empty catsup bottle to get the last drop and then casually pile up department store bills on non-sale items from dresses to shoes to household linens.

Why do I save on the laundry bill with wash 'n wear shirts for the man of the house and then splurge on a cashmere sweater for his birthday?

WHY A COMPLETE redecorating scheme for the living room, then save the no longer appropriate draperies anyway? Well, they might come in handy when we get a bigger house and they are of good linen.

I recycle paper towels, facial tissues, plastic bags.

Any woman knows you can use a paper towel more than once. Kleenex crumpled after a few days in a purse can go back to duty to wipe patent or the "wet" leather finish on shoes. Plastic bags make great "departments" in packing (hose in one, scarves in another etc.).

Or use the bags for discarding everything from coffee grounds to fruit and vegetable peelings. Come to think of it, I'm pretty good at saving the peelings — many fruits and vegetables have the heart of their food value in their covering.

Eat the baked potato skin. Eat the apple peel. Grate the lemon or orange rind to use in other dishes.

It turns out there's a whole breed of cat such as I. Checking around among women friends, I found one savvy gal who uses discarded pantyhose to stuff throw cushions as gifts.

Another absolutely refuses to buy garbage bags. The sturdy paper bags in which the groceries come from supermarket shopping keep her kitchen sanitary.

I KNOW women who wash aluminum trays in which frozen foods for baking have been packaged and recycle them several times to freeze homemade casseroles (from leftovers of course).

Our kitchen has a whole tier of shelves occupied by assorted sizes of plastic containers in which originally have come ice cream or fruit salads. Never know when one will come in handy to freeze leftover soup or serve as a paint can for a touch-up job.

About the only thing, Ben, that I haven't figured out a second use for is the toothpaste tube (well squeezed). But this old stringsaver is working on that.

Leather To Be Fall Feature

Leather jackets are popular and varied for fall including cropped battle jackets, smart shirt-jackets and smocks and blazers. Also on the leather list are cardigans, tuxedo types and safari jackets. These come in both suede and grained leathers and will top off pants, skirts and dresses.

Leather vests are also good. The longer jacket type of vest is great with pants, while shorter leather vests can be worn with skirt and shirt outfits.

John R. Fitzhenry Weds Pamela Jackson

Pamela is the daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. John W. Jackson of Vandenberg Air Force Base, and John's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. Robert Fitzhenry of Kentfield.

Deborah Jackson of Vandenberg was her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sister, Colleen Fitzhenry of Kentfield, Mary Robinson of Fairfax and Mrs. Lucis Chavance of North Hollywood.

Barry Stockwell of Greenbrae served as best man. Guests were seated by Terry Jackson of Vandenberg, the bride's brother; Robert Beckham of San Francisco and Daniel Davis of Long Beach.

A reception was given at the Vandenberg Air Force Base Officers Club.

Pamela was graduated from Surrahsville High School in Clinton, Md., and the University of California at Santa Barbara.

She has another sister, Mrs. Colin Kowalski of Sacramento.

John also is a graduate of U.C. Santa Barbara and he attended Redwood High School. He has been employed in Santa Barbara.

He is the brother of Patrick and Michael Fitzhenry of Kentfield and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Seitz of Greenbrae and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Fitzhenry of San Anselmo.

Apple Baste

Combine maple-flavored syrup and lemon juice and use as a baste when you are baking apples. Stuff the core cavities of the apples with raisins and nuts.

Baggies Are Latest Style

Baggies are the latest term for the new style of teen-age pants for boys and girls. Baggies fit fairly snugly in the body but widen out from the thigh on down so that the bottom ranges from 22 to 26 inches.

The general effect is that of a great deal of excess material and there are even ultra baggies that widen out to 40 inches

HELEN HELP US!

Busybodies Spread Rumors About Men Living Together

HELEN:

Why is it that two women can share an apartment to split expenses and who cares, but if two men do likewise for the same reason, they're suspected of being an "odd couple"?

Since we didn't have any major beefs in college, John and I decided we'd try batching together. Right away, we started getting suggestive questions and strange looks.

Must we spend twice as much for rent or else live in a dump, so that a few busybodies can find someone else to yak about? — NOT SO ODD COUPLE IN APARTMENT X

DEAR NOT:

You can knock off the "odd" talk by asking girl friends in often. But busybodies being ever busy, they'll exchange one buzz for another — like "X marks the Playboy Club, and shame on them!!!"

Suggestion No. 2: In the BBs, hearing, quote psychologists who say that people resent or suspect in others what they fear most in themselves. (Thus the loudest whisperer is often a latent homosexual, or maybe even a closet queen.) — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Your employers expect honesty, but they make it so that dishonesty pays. For example, a co-worker calls in sick at least twice a month, and her salary isn't docked. She's healthy as a horse.

I've never asked for time off, but last week I really needed a day so that I could go on a special trip with my husband. The answer was a flat "no!"

A friend of mine, also honest, asked for a half-day off to attend the funeral of a very close relative. She'd worked there four years. They said, "Take the whole day." Real great of them — except she didn't get that day's pay.

My husband says, "This will teach you!" Next time, if there is one, should I lie like the smart people who go on fully-paid "sick leave"? — TOO HONEST FOR MY OWN GOOD

DEAR HONEST:

"Vote your conscience." But bear in mind that basically honest people somehow can't pull off a lie. They're the ones who "get caught on the first try." — H.

Government Shows More Interest

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — Federal agencies and departments have been setting some sort of record in recent months for showing interest in consumer problems. In place of the usual mid-summer doldrums has been an unusual flurry of press releases, speeches and pronouncements expressing official concerns.

The general impression is one of an administration deeply committed to improving every facet of personal life. At the same time, the administration is being criticized by some consumer advocates for allegedly undermining important legislation in Congress.

Whatever the actual role of the administration is on any issue, there is something for almost everyone in the latest crop of government publications, including an index to others you might have missed.

Standards for Meat and Poultry Products. This is a four-page folder published by the Department of Agriculture listing percentages of meat required in standard food products. It is available free from Consumer Product Information, Washington, D.C., 20407.

BRAND NAMES Identical to Products Purchased and Tested for Use by the Federal Government. This is the second edition of a list of some 400 consumer products purchased by the General Services Administration. The list does not constitute an endorsement of any product, nor does the list include all competing brands in any product category. The list may be of more value to businessmen than consumers. It is available for 25 cents from Consumer Product Information.

Importing a Foreign Car. This is an eight-page pocket-size pamphlet describing problems of shipping duties, licensing and clearance procedures involved in importing a foreign motor vehicle. Foreign cars must comply with all vehicle and emission standards. The publication costs 10 cents and can be obtained from the same source previously mentioned.

Facts About Hearing and Hearing Aids. This is a glossy 34-page booklet with many illustrations outlining the problems faced by more than 20 million Americans. It is must reading for anyone who suffers from some hearing loss and is consdering purchasing a hearing aid. For such people, the booklet is well worth the 60 cents it costs from the same source mentioned for the previous booklets.

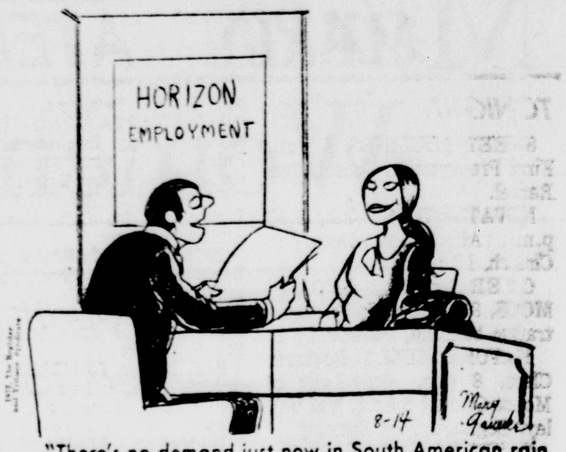
(ALMOST) EVERYTHING You Ever Wanted to Know About Boating ... But Were Ashamed to Ask. Despite the cuteness of the title and similar contrived cleverness in the text, this publication is of value to small bgat owners who want to know about the latest safety regulations, which have been coming out almost daily. It is free from Consumer Product Information.

Official Recreational Boating Guide. This is a more soberly worded discussion about federal safety regulations, giving details on required and optional equipment and aids to navigation. It costs 60 cents from the same source.

Ladders. This is a slick 20-page booklet giving many people more than they might want to know about ladders. It is the fifth of a series of booklets. Previous ones were entitled Automobile Batteries (40 cents), Fire Extinguishers (40 cents), Vacuum Cleaners (40 cents) and Paint and Painting (60 cents). Ladders costs 45 cents from the same source.

Index to consumer-oriented publications. This is a list of about 200 publications of practical use in buying and caring for consumer products. It is available without charge from Consumer Product Information, Washington, D.C., 20407.

THE ALUMNAE



"There's no demand just now in South American rain forests for feeding the hungry and healing the sick, but City Hospital needs kitchen help."

"The laziest way known to man . . . to get inches off fast," T. V. Guide

Everybody from Vogue to Time Magazine is talking about the mummy wrap. T. V. Guide says, "Show business people have been quietly using the mummification method for about 25 years." According to Pageant, "Jane Fonda is reported to have successfully remodeled her legs using it . . . Candy Bergen is supposed to have firmed her entire body." A Vogue editor claims to have "lost 5 inches of derriere". Time says it's "the most passive reduction plan yet invented".

You can lose 5 to 24 inches in 90 minutes flat.

Now the mummy wrap is available to women in this area — at a very reasonable cost. Come into the Ann Marie Figure Salon for a free, confidential figure analysis. After your first 90-minute visit you'll probably see a loss of at least 5 inches from various parts of your body. Some people lose 18 to 25 inches on their very first visit. Everybody loses at least 7½ inches by their second visit or their money back.

It's like a facelift for your body.

Here's what we do. We wrap you up tight where you need to be formed. We use a soft cotton wrap and a marvelous organic lotion underneath it all. This wrapping acts as a miraculous toner, smoothing and tightening the skin as it compresses and firms the fatty tissue beneath.

As everyone over 20 knows, even skinny people have a layer of fat beneath the skin. With the years, even the healthiest layer of fat becomes loose and ripply. Excess fluids collect in the tissues to add bulk. The mummy wrap is the quickest and easiest way yet invented to force the excess bloat from the tissues and firm skin and flesh at the same time. If you have any scars or stretch marks you'll notice that the mummy wrap lightens them, too. It's also great for trimming down a double chin and minimizing wrinkles on the face and throat.

Safe as a massage.

The wrap feels cool and rather delicious. You can read a book or take a snooze or just daydream about the Unwrap. Nothing could be less artificial — or more safe — than the wrap.

It was discovered right after World War II by a physiotherapist named Ben Benne, working with paraplegiacs in Europe. He wrapped his patients with very tight bandages to ease their pain. With each unwrapping, he noticed his patients becoming slimmer and firmer-fleshed. He soon took his method to America, where it was put to work slimming down members of the New York theater. Now, 25 years later, Ann Marie can put the wrap to work on you.

The Wrap is one of nature's great miracles. But the best part is unwrapping.

ART REVIEW

Tiburon Show Takes On A Special Funky Charm

By LAURA DEVENDORF

The Tiburon Peninsula is no artist colony. And so "The Peninsula People's Showcase" of resident artists and craftsmen at Old St. Hilary's Church often looks as folksy as it sounds.

Even though it has some notable pieces such as Helen Steinau Rich's formidable mosaic bugs and Janet Van Evera's thready olive weaving peppered with gold and orange squares, probably half the work doesn't belong in a so-called, legitimate art show. Yet there's a sort of innocent surprise to the thing which excuses its artistic shortcomings.

In fact, the more you look, the more the unusual, the odd, the inappropriate and occasionally even the terrible become heroes of its special funky charm. It's the naive conglomeration of decoupage, decorated eggs, leather, batiks, sculpture, ceramics, stitchery pillows, weaving, macrame, shell mosaics, crewel, jewelry, metal work, oils, mobiles, stained glass, watercolors and drawings which gets to you.

More particularly, Justine Oyester's mad papier mache rabbit and Marioc Gwathmey's elegant oriental rugs scaled down in needlepoint to doll house size are just more interesting than the usual art show fare. The spring colors and prints in Olive Cook's patchwork quilt and the brown and white checks, velvets and prints in Joan Krivda's quilt also are a pleasant change, as are Peter Arnold's mobiles, one made from slender wild grass stems and the other from fishing lures and corks.

Geoff Smith, age 11, acqiits himself quite well with a pair of unusual leather moccasins, as does Anna Allsman with stained glass in simple, heavy chunks imbedded in cement. And how long has it been since you've seen wild flowers pressed in old fashioned bouquets?

You may never hear from "The Peninsula People's Showcase" as a group again. But the show, presented by the Tiburon Landmarks Society a show probably only children should — is an improbable pleasure.

It may be seen Wednesdays and Sundays through Sept. 20 between 1 and 4 p.m.

MUSIC REVIEWS

'The Magic Flute' Is Splendid

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

The eighth annual Inverness Music Festival yesterday afternoon offered a splendid version of Mozart's "The Magic Flute," conducted by Sandor Salgo and sung in perfectly understood English.

Improvement was to be expected when Salgo, a noted Mozart specialist, took over musical direction of the festival and brought together some of the finest young professional singers in the state with backgrounds that included Stanford, Sonoma State College, Carmel Bach Festival and the San Francisco Opera and its Merola program. Also involved were other young people experienced in stagecraft.

Some 400 people —a larger crowd than in previous years — pretty well filled the amphitheater adjoining St. Columba's Church to hear the philosophical fairy tale with Dale Cutler at the piano as sole accompaniment.

The cast: Sarastro, high priest, Richard Clark; Prince Tamino, Gary Fisher; Papageno, a bird catcher, Marc Clemens; Monostatos, comic villain, John Duykers; two priests and two armed men, Tommy Golecke and Robert Bernard; Queen of the Night, Joan Zajac; her daughter, Pamina, Gwen Curatilo; queen's attendants, Susanne Stull, Dorothy Barnhouse and Judith Jaquet; three spirits, Suzanne Preston, Arlene Adams and Elizabeth Engan; three slaves, Michael Petersen, James Armington and Fred W. Goff.

Several changes in staging were necessary because of the outdoor locale and necessity for simple settings, such as elimination of the terrifying serpent and substitution of an effective black and white garden-palace scene of indefinite period for the Egyptian scenes of the time of the Pharoah Rameses I.

Costumes, too, were of indefinite period, but suggestive of character with the exception of those of the bird catcher, Papageno, and his counterpart, birdwife, Pagagena, which are usually a flurry of feathers.

The major success of the production, therefore, was the glorious music of Mozart and its performance by a splendid cast.

One could scarcely expect to hear and see a better pair of young lovers in a fall opera production than Marin soprano Gwen Curatilo as Pamina and Gary Fisher as Tamino. Just back from a successful year in Europe, Miss Curatilo sang with her usual exquisite clarity, sensitive lyricism and fine feeling for character, and Fisher was equally impressive.

Since information on his identity was inadvertently dropped from the program, those attending will be interested to know that he is director of the opera department at Los Angeles City College.

Baritone Marc Clemens won top honors as Papageno and Marin soprano Margot Power, usually heard in very serious roles and song recitals, was surprisingly successful in the comic role of Papagena. Their famous stuttering duet was a gem.

As the high priest Sarastro, bass Richard Clark, who has some of the finest music in the opera, sang well, though somewhat stiffly and without as much power as one would expect from a young San Francisco Opera singer.

Soprano Joan Zajac, a young Los Angeles singer, negotiated the pyrotechnical coloratura passages of the Queen of the Night, including the revenge aria with its two high Fs, with great agility but not very musically. The aria is a very difficult feat for the greatest of sopranos. She also sang more to the audience than to the characters addressed.

One of the most lively acted roles and well sung too by John Duykers, who will make his debut with the San Francisco Opera this fall, was that of the comic villain Monostatos. Robert Bernard and Tommy Golecke sang well and made properly impressive priests.

Two delightful trios were high spots of the production —the queen's three attendants and the three spirits.

The opera will be repeated next Sunday at 3 p.m: in the amphitheater. Take some warm clothing on the chance the weather may be as cold though sunny as it was yesterday.

Mozart Performances Delight At Inverness

By ROBERT M. NESS

Unveiling the enchantment and diversity of Mozart's music in a setting of utmost beauty, director Sandor Salgo, the festival orchestra, and guest artist pianist Julian White opened splendidly the Eighth Annual Inverness Festival before a near capacity audience of about 600 Mozart devotees Saturday afternoon.

Besides performing a full length concerto, pianist White returned that evening for a brilliant lecture-recital of Mozart piano works at St. Columba's Church.

Following the rousing "Turkish" splendor of the overture to "The Abduction from the Seraglio", the small string section of the orchestra performed Mozart's last and most pouplar serenade "Eine Kleine Nacht Musik". This work's quiet, almost naive naturalness was ideal for the lively accoustics of the amphitheatre. Working within a narrow dynamic range, Salgo was able to take complete advantage of the piece's delicate shadings and transparent textures.

The introspective side of Mozart was revealed in an exquisite performance of the D minor piano concerto K. 466 with pianist Julian White. The poignantly beautiful "Romanza" second movement was a masterpiece of sustained liquid piano playing.

Of Mozart's three last, great symphonies, the E flat K. 543 is the most pastoral and mellow. By omitting oboes and giving soprano winds to a single flute and two clarinets, he creates a warm roundness to the texture and character of the work. This was a delicious choice for this chamber orchestra.

While there wasn't the ensemble precision of a group that plays together regularly, the spontaneity and alertness of the musicians to Salgo's direction carried the afternoon's performance to many beautiful heights.

Though cramped and hard seating in St. Columba's Church became sort of an endurance test to the evening audience, pianist Julian White's offering was more than just compensation. Besides his astonishing performance, his comments about each work added an unexpected element that was both enlightening and humorous. The Victor Borge-like analysis of the C major K. 309 Sonata was as hilarious as it was valid.

White is a pianist with priorities. Musical considerations precede pianistic vanity. The delicacy of a turn may as well be sacrificed if it gets in the way of the larger musical plan. Some missed notes may result in virtuosic passages, but they are always part of the frosting and never part of the cake.

While the two early sonatas were beautifully played, it was in the two later C minor works, the Fantasia K. 475 and Sonata K. 457, that White's artistry came through with the most impact. Treating the Fantasy as an extended introduction to the Sonata, large sweeping musical ideas unfolded carefully and delicately each tied to the other with a magical warmth and clarity. It was an astounding musical experience.

Fischer Has Another Protest, Recent Delay

REYKJAVIK (UPI)—U. S. challenger Bobby Fischer today rejected as "insufficient" the medical certificate saying Boris Spassky was ill and could not play the 14th game of the world chess championship Sunday. The Russians laughed at Fischer's assertion.

Fischer, leading by a full three points in the $250,000 match, instructed his aide, Fred Cramer, a vice president of the International Chess Federation, to write arbiter Lothar Schmid an official protest.

Schmid said he had not yet received the letter but, when shown a copy of it, disputed the American's understanding of the rules.

The letter complained that Fischer had not received a photostat of the medical certificate and suggested that if no specific medical reason was stated in it for postponing the game then "it (the certificate) is too vague and indefinite to meet match rules. Schmid appeared annoyed by the new Fischer complaint and said, "It is not necessary to give specific reasons. If you read the paragraph carefully it merely states the doctor has to issue a certificate, not give the reason. Mr. Cramer is wrong."

"If the official match doctor decides Spassky cannot play, then Fischer, Schmid and everyone has to accept the verdict of the qualified medical expert," Ney, one of Spassky's four seconds, said.

"Mr.Spassky's health is much better, thank you, and we might even play tennis later today," Ney said. Asked if Spassky would be able to play Tuesday, Ney replied, "Yes, definitely."

The Fischer letter stopped short of asking for a forefeit, and chess sources said the challenger made the protest to insure that both Spassky and Schmid abide by the rules for the world match.

Under the rules, either player can take three postponements for medical reasons. The first time Spassky asked for a postponement the doctor's certificate said he had a "head cold." The doctor's statement Sunday said only, "I have today examined Boris Spassky who does not feel well. I have on medical reasons advised him not to play the game scheduled for today."

Cramer said Fischer called him at 8 a.m. today and asked for a chess book and his mail to read. He then asked if the photostat of the medical certificate had come in the morning mail. When it had not, Fischer asked Cramer to write the letter.

Thieves Take Coin Box From Machine

Two thieves broke a candy-machine padlock and stole a coin box of undetermined value yesterday from the Pacific Telegraph and Telephone Co. equipment yard at 96 Louise Street, San Rafael, police reported today.

Police said a witness reported seeing two men leaving the yard at 11 p.m. last night.

Flutist Is Highlight Of Art Quartet

By WILLIAM CLARK

A rare combination of youth, discipline and vitality marked the performance last night of the Baroque Arts Quartet at the Community Congregational Church in Tiburon.

Through careful attention to details of balance and articulation, the quartet managed to convert an essentially homogeneous collection of instruments and pieces into a delightfully varied and interesting program.

Most remarkable was the flute playing of David Lubke, whose full tone and rhythmic drive contributed to a fresh and moving reading of the Vivaldi Trio in A Minor which showed a maturity belying his apparent youth.

John Andrew Morrison's neat, articulate oboe, Carol Negro's fully-controlled bassoon, and Carol Ramsey's unobtrusive harpsichord rounded out a cohesive group which brought to life a Pachelbel partita whose vaulting courant and graceful saraband could have been dancing music.

Included in the program was Karl Ahrendt's recent work "Intrada". Inventive and listenable, it relied heavily on dissolving at the moment of development into a new idea and its organization resembled that of a light show.

Woodcock Hits Nixon 'Failures'

DALLAS (UPI)—The president of the United Automobile Workers says President Nixon's failures on the domestic front and in Vietnam far outweigh his successes in foreign policy.

Leonard Woodcock said Saturday those failures would be strong enough to defeat the President in November.

Ag Preserve Issue Before Supervisors

The Marin County Board of Supervisors, meeting tomorrow at 9 a.m. at the civic center, will hold a series of hearings on rezoning of the county's agricultural preserve.

Under consideration will be about 120,000 acres of rural lands around Point Reyes Station, Nicasio, Bolinas and Muir Beach.

All have been recommended for low-density A-60, 40, 20 and 5 zoning, with A-60 (one unit per 60 acres) the predominant recommendation.

The agricultural preserve was broken into five planning sections when rezoning hearings began last year before the planning commission.

Two sections — about 20,000 acres around Novato and 60,000 acres in the northwestern portion of the county — already have been rezoned by the supervisors.

Tomorrow's hearing will take up the last three sections and will conclude the rezoning procedure.

Some landowners, opposed to low-density rezoning as a confiscation of land, have threatened to take the county to court.

Conservationists, meanwhile, have applauded the rezoning as a long overdue measure to protect agriculture and open space.

The proposal, which has been pending for years, has brought opposition from conservationists who think he should build a motel, as he originally planned.

The Supervisors Agenda Also Includes:

OPEN SPACE — A proposed resolution approving formation of a countywide park district for open space and placing the proposed district on the November ballot.

MAPPING — A proposal that the county enter into an agreement with the state division of Mines and Geology for a geologic hazard survey of about 17 square miles in the Novato area. Local cost of $10,000 would be divided between the county and Novato.

ALCOHOL — A comprehensive alcoholism program plan for treatment of the county's alcoholics. The plan is to be submitted to the state in the hope of collecting about $250,000 in funds.

CRIME LAB — A request from the county's criminal justice planning agency that the county enter into an agreement with the state for a crime laboratory at the sheriff's office. The three-year pilot project would be financed with about $250,000 state funds and some county funds.

Ordway Petaluma United Way Head

James H. Ordway has been named chairman of the United Way campaign in Petaluma, which opens Sept. 13.

Ordway, manager of a Petaluma department store, served as a division chairman in the 1970 and 1971 campaigns when the organization was known as United Crusade. The campaign is scheduled to continue to Oct. 26.

Foundation Grant

Sonoma State College has received a $2,200 National Science Foundation grant to buy ecology research equipment, according to Dr. Wesley Ebert, chairman of the biology department.

New Waste System Due Discussion

A director of the Stinson Beach County Water District has called a community meeting to discuss a proposed waste treatment system for the town for 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the community center.

Proctor Jones said he decied to meet with the residents to find out "exactly what the community wants in the way of a sewer system."

The director added that other members of the water district board do not think a meeting on the proposed system is warranted at this time because the district has no formal plans to present.

But Jones believes the district should "find out what the general attitude of the community is at this time, not wait until after we have formal plans."

Trubach's Works Are On Display

Wood collages and paintings by Sausalito artist Serge Trubach are on exhibit at Humanist House, 126 El Camino Del Mar, San Francisco.

The show will run through Sept. 23. Hours are weekdays, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m.

The Red Cross needs some long green from you.

Then came Agnes—the storm that killed hundreds. And left hundreds of thousands suffering.
The American Red Cross is spending well over ten million dollars to help pick up the pieces. And people like you are the only people we have to turn to.
Won't you help—and soon? Even a little bit means a lot!

Dear Mr. Quiz:

I wish to correct an error you made in your column about Bing Crosby. You stated he has never won a single Academy Award for acting. He did, in fact, win one for his role in "Going My Way" in 1944. Enclosed is a news item from our paper (San Rafael Independent-Journal) which reports that Crosby's Oscar had been stolen and later found. Signed: Mrs. B.R.S.

Dear Mrs. S:

Thanks both to you and 13-year-old Joan D., who also wrote, we can set the record straight. Yes, indeed, Der Bingle was, is, and always has been an Academy Award winner! What fooled me was Crosby's own modesty in not claiming credit for his top prize in his "Who's Who" write-up, which ordinarily is the most authoritative source for data about living celebrities. Editors of that publication send "proofs" of their biographies to each person to be corrected before going to press. Well, somehow or another, Bing's achievement got left out of his life summary in this particular edition of "Who's Who." Glad you caught it! Our apologies to Bing, who lives at Atherton, Calif., and who was generous enough to donate his Oscar for display at Gonzaga University.

Put Down Lead Suit Last If Partner Likes To Hurry

A certain kind of declarer takes pride in making his first play from the dummy in less than one-hundredth of a second. If you're blessed with such a partner, put down the suit of the opening lead last. He may get some grasp of the hand as a whole before he makes his first play from the dummy.

FIRST MISTAKE

West opened the seven of clubs, and North made the mistake of putting the clubs down first. Declarer played a low club from the dummy before he had seen the rest of the hand. This set a new city-wide record for speed in playing to the first trick. Naturally East won and returned the jack of hearts.

South broke into a cold sweat, now he could see that he had let a cold game slip through his fingers. He put up the ace of hearts and started the diamonds, hoping that West had the ace of diamonds or that East had the king of hearts.

NO FORGIVENESS

The cards didn't forgive South for treating them so badly. East took the first diamond and led the ten of hearts. The defenders quickly rattled off three heart tricks, defeating the contract.

The correct play is, of course, clear by now. Declarer must win the first trick with dummy's ace of clubs. He can then begin the diamonds, and is in position to take four diamonds, three spades and two aces as soon as he regains the lead.

OPENED FOR ENEMY

It may seem that the clubs are opened up for the enemy, but dummy's eight will surely provide a second stopper. East can take the ace of diamonds and two top clubs, but then he must hand the lead back to declarer.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - J 10 4
♥ - J 10 9 3
♦ - A 4
♣ - K Q 5 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention, asking partner to show a major suit of four or more cards.

If he bids two hearts, you plan to raise to four hearts; if he bids anything else, you will go to three no-trump.

Mother's Milk Plea Renewed

FRESNO, Calif (UPI)—The mother whose plea for mother's milk for her infant son brought donations and offers from throughout the nation last month now says the offers have stopped.

Mrs. Kathy Bedrosian said her 14-week-old boy, Brian Jr., has been taken to Stanford Medical center in Palo Alto.

He suffers from an intestinal disorder and doctors at Stanford said he can only digest human milk.

Sterley Edges Jermane To Win Golf Champs' Tourney

Jack Sterley, after playing the entire morning in second place, drew even with Mike Jermane on the 17th hole and passed him on the 18th to win the sixth annual Marin County Tournament of Champions golf match yesterday at Marin Country Club in Novato.

Sterley, representing Peacock Gap golf course of San Rafael, and Jermane of the host club played a head-to-head struggle beneath clear, breezy skies. Their final scores were 78 and 79, for the par 72 course.

The rest of the six-man field did poorly, albeit equally poorly. Al Randig from Novato's Indian Valley came in at 86. Dr. Doug Ramsey of Meadow Club scored 87 and Wayne Smith of Mill Valley and Chuck Freitas of San Geronimo had 88s.

"I started knocking in some putts and making some chips on the back nine, after being in trouble on the first couple of holes," the 48-year-old Sterley commented after his victory. He played in the tourney once before, in 1970, and finished third.

After bogeying four of the first five holes, Sterley found himself three stroes behind the power-hitting Jermane, and the score stayed the same until hole No. 13. There, Jermane pulled his second shot off to the left of the green and took a double-bogey, while Sterley got his par in four after a magnificent second shot out of the left-side rough.

Sterley had a fine chance to tie the match on the par three 140-yard 15th as he stroked a beautiful chip to within four feet of the cup. But he missed the putt, and both he and Jermane settled for bogeys.

The 16th hole was a comic opera as Jermane hit his first shot into the water, while Sterley dogged a chip shot that went 10 feet into the sand. Both recovered, however, Jermane with a tremendous drive after dropping one that put him on the green, Sterley with a chip shot that left him 10 feet from the hole.

The shot that made the difference for Sterley came on the 17th — a beautiful second shot with a seven iron that got him to within a dozen feet of the flag. He took a par while Jermane bogeyed, and the match was tied.

On 18, Sterley was on the green in two, Jermane was just over the green on the left side. Sterley sank his second putt, Jermane his third and that was the ball game.

Sterley, relaxing at lunch following the match, gave special credit to his teaching pro at Peacock, Roberto Baciocco. He also congratulated his caddie, Bob Savale, whom he defeated last fall for the Peacock club championship. "The only thing he didn't do that he should have was putt for me," Sterley laughed.

Jermane shouldn't have been too depressed, since he played extremely well through most of the match. His powerful tee and iron shots were without doubt the class of the tourney, eclipsing at times even the steady, pro-like play of Sterley. Jermane played with a five handicap, Sterley with a six, so both came up with top-rate performances.

As word got around of the tight duel being played, the gallery for the lead threesome of Sterley, Jermane and Ramsey began to grow. By match's end a crowd of nearly 50 spectators was on hand. The course itself was in good shape, except for a few greens where the ball bounced on long putts. The fairways were immaculate, however, and the pin placements were extremely challenging.

FIRST VICTORY

49ers' Brodie Drills Browns

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — It was San Francisco quarterback John Brodie against Cleveland's Mike Phipps Sunday in a pre-season game that was as close as the 20-13 score would indicate.

Brodie hit 16 of 26 passes for 167 yards and Phipps connected on 12 of 18 tosses for 163 yards. Both men tossed one touchdown pass.

Early in the third quarter Phipps hit wide receiver Frank Pitts for a 57-yard score and the Browns' only touchdown. Cleveland also had two field goals.

Brodie, who stayed all the way for the 49ers, had two passes intercepted. The first interception, according to Nolan, "would have been good. The ball was deflected by a man on the right side, probably the defensive end."

Asked why he didn't send in backup quarterback Joe Reed, Nolan said: "I was going to play him at the end ok the first half but by the time we got the ball there was only a minute left and I didn't see the sense of putting him in just to run out a clock."

Bruce Gossett then kicked a 32-yard field goal for the 49ers for the games final score.

MANAGER WILLIAMS RETAINED

A's Return To First Place As Blue Blanks White Sox

BALTIMORE (UPI) —Vida Blue pitched his third shutout of the season just in time to get the Oakland A's back into first place in the American League West, and now he takes the week off for some much needed dental work.

Blue stopped the Chicago White Sox on three singles and a double Sunday in Oakland to give the A's a 3-0 victory and a split of the big weekend series.

ROAD TRIP

Thus, the A's start a 10-game road swing tonight, a game ahead of the White Sox and six ahead of the third place Minnesota Twins.

Both A's skipper Dick Williams, signed to a new two-year contract by owner Charlie Finley Saturday night, and for a big boost in salary, and White Sox manager Chuck Tanner seemed pleased with the split.

A first inning single by Mike Epstein and bases-empty homers by Dave Duncan in the sixth and Bert Campaneris in the seventh accounted for Oakland's runs Sunday.

BLUE'S EFFORT

Meanwhile, Blue, who pitched his third shutout and his fifth win in 12 decisions, finished with three strikeouts and two walks.

He relied more on breaking balls than his famed fastball, and the strategy paid off.

"His breaking balls were just great," said Tanner. "He was so effective that he had us guessing on the fastball. He pitched a real fine game."

"Fantastic," is the way Williams put it, and then said Blue will be idle until next Monday in Detroit. "Vida used his head as much as his arm, and that's a sign of his maturity."

But Williams wasn't about to concede that Blue once again has become the club's stopper.

OTHER PITCHERS

"I have three other guys (Holtzman, Jim Hunter and John Odom) who are pitching pretty good," said Williams, "Although I don't discount the fact that Blue is making a contribution. Heck, any time he pitches we have to figure we are in that ball game."

Williams also conceded, and Tanner agreed, that the A.L. West title is up for grabs between their two clubs and the Twins.

"It's going to be a fine race," said Williams, "But really, I can't concern myself too much with what the other guys are doing. If we do our job we'll be all right."

BAHNSEN LOSES

Stan Bahnsen was Sunday's loser. The A's reached him for eight of their 11 hits and all of their runs and sent the veteran righthander down to his 13th defeat to go with his 15 victories. Bahnsen was also the loser Friday night in the continuation of Thursday night's marathon 19-inning game, which the A's won on a two-run homer by Joe Rudi.

The A's made 13 doubleplays during the series and that fact more than anything else kept them alive. Also during the series, Wilbur Wood became the major league's first 20-game winner of the season, and he did it with a two-hit, 11 inning effort.

Italian Club Wins DiMaggio Crown

By LEW CODDINGTON

Knocked down almost for the count, Italian Club got up, dusted itself off, and scored a second-round knockout Saturday night.

It wasn't a boxing match, but instead the Marin County championship series in Joe DiMaggio baseball. Italian Club rallied from a 5-0 deficit to take the first game, 7-6, then won the second easily, 9-1, for a sweep of the best-of-three series at Albert Park in San Rafael.

The victory propelled the Italians, comprised mostly of players from Redwood High School's championship team, into the DiMaggio regional playoff beginning Friday, also at Albert.

Rangy right hander Ed Anderson won both games in relief for the Italians, an ironic situation since, at 15, he is too young to participate in the regionals.

Annex Motors had its golden opportunity in the first game. The underdog North division champions (9-5 for the season) had a 5-0 lead, their ace (Ray Stafford) on the mound, and Italian's top rested pitcher

Oakland Entertains Baltimore

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Baltimore Colts, who like to use the zone defense, figure to present the Oakland Raiders with a lot of problems tonight when the two teams meet in a National Football League exhibition game at the Coliseum.

The Colts were tops in the NFL last year in total defense, gave up only one more point than the Minnesota Vikings (140) and set seven team records in the bargain.

Since the same defensive unit is back in one piece the raiders figure to have a hard time tonight as they seek their second exhibition victory. Oakland beat New England, 31-24, last week while the Colts were surprised by Washington, 33-3.

In four pre-season games Baltimore has won three times. The only Oakland victory over the Colts was last year in Jacksonville, Fla.

The game starts at 8 p.m. PDT and, as usual, is a sellout.

Marin Drivers Win

Lee Mueller of San Rafael won G production and Jon Woodner of San Rafael won D production yesterday in the Sports Car Club of America National races in Kent, Wash.

A CINCINNATI FAVORITE

Giant Willoughby Tops Astros Again

Willoughby pitches for the San Francisco Giants and his specialty is beating the Houston Astros, the Reds' major foe in the National League East pennant race. Since he came up from the minors 10 days ago, he has defeated the Astros twice—4-3 on a four-hitter Sunday and 6-2 a week ago Sunday.

His first victory kept the Astros from pulling to within four games of the Reds and his second triumph enabled the Reds to move 5 ½ games in front of Houston.

The lanky rookie had a 9-8 record with a 4.66 earned run average at Phoenix in the Pacific Coast League, but he's 2-0 with a 2.50 ERA against the Astros. His assets are his control, a fast ball that sinks and a slider that breaks down.

'BETTER SLIDER'

"I had a better slider today than the first time," Willoughby said. "I also threw a little harder. I was much more relaxed.

"I hit a groove and felt like I belonged out there," he said.

His biggest problem wasn't the Astros, but a blister on his right forefinger. He's had it both games and it hurts when he throws a slider.

"I think I've been cutting my fingernails too short," he said.

The Giants untied the game from 2-2 with two runs in the sixth. The failure of losing pitcher Jerry Reuss 8-10, played an important part in the inning.

GIANT RALLY

Garry Maddox and Fran Healy led off with singles and Willoughby bunted down the third base line. Reuss failed to field it and Doug Rader, playing back for a possible force at third, could not make a play in time.

That loaded the bases and Reuss walked Bobby Bonds to force in the go-ahead run. Chris Speier drove in what proved to be the winning run with a sacrifice fly.

The Giants had scored in the second on singles by Tito Fuentes and Al Gallagher and a ground ball by Maddox. They scored again in the fifth on

Good Showing For Marin In National AAU Swim

Jo Hislop of San Rafael and Maura Campion of Terra Linda capped the Marin Aquatic Club's most productive national showing in history Saturday with two placings each in the National Amateur Athletic Union Open Swim Championships in Hershey, Pa.

Elsewhere in swimming, Art and Lynne Morrill of Novato and Ken DeMont of Terra Linda won high point trophies for their age groups in the Redwood Empire Swim League Championships in Petaluma, and Jane McCollister of Terra Linda captured five first places and set five National records in the 50-54 age group in the second annual National Masters Swim Championships in Bloomington, Ind.

Miss Hislop nabbed 9th in the 100-meter freestyle with 1:02.1, and 12th in the 200 individual medley. Miss Campion was 13th in the 200 I.M. and 16th in the 1,500 free.

Miss Hislop recorded 29 of Marin's points. "It was an outstanding conclusion to two good weeks of big meets," coach Don Swartz praised.

The most points Marin had scored previously at a National AAU meet was seven, recorded in Los Angeles in 1970.

Morrill, 15, captured the boys 15-17 high point trophy, winning the 100 backstroke, breaststroke, butterfly, and 200 I.M. races. His 56.7 backstroke and 2:02.6 I.M. established RESL records.

Miss Morrill tied for kirst in one event, the 100 breast, but that, coupled with two runner-up showings, was enough to earn her the 13-14 girls high point award.

DeMont, brother of U.S. Olympian Rick, won the 100 back in league record time for boys 13-14 (1:02.2) to earn his trophy.

The Marin Aquatic Club, paced by these swimmers, won for the second straight year over six North Bay rivals with 789 points. The Petaluma Swim Club finished second (680½), with the Novato Aquanauts third (494).

Petaluma had four high point winners, with Steve Cleveland in boys 9-10, April Swanson in girls 11-12, David Nelson in boys 11-12, and Cookie Arrighi in girls 15-17.

Cleveland won the 100 I.M., 50 breaststroke, and 50 butterfly for his age group, while Miss Swanson won the 100 breast in league record time (1:14.7) in hers. She, too, capture the I.M. event.

Nelson, one of the most promising swimmers in the age-group program anywhere, won the 100 backstroke (1:04.8), 100 breaststroke (1:08.5), and 200 I.M. (2:12.0), all for league standards.

Miss Arrighi established a league mark in the 100 back (1:03.2), and also won the 100 fly and 200 I.M. races.

Sunchaser Wins Bay Challenge Trophy

By PAUL CANE

It created the aura of a tribal ritual, with wives, families, and friends anxiously sipping Ramoz fizzes while gathered on the San Francisco Yacht Club dock, intently watching as yellow-clad human sacrifices ventured into the sea.

But, lo! The ensemble of 10 pilgrims was to return five hours later, as the victorious crewmen of "Sunchaser," the successful defender of the San Francisco Perpetual Challenge Trophy.

Led by winning skippers Jake Wosser and Bert Damner, "Sunchaser" solidly defeated "Alegre," of the San Diego Yacht Club, to win the race's 65th renewal. Both yachts are Palmer-Johnson 43s, designed by Olin Stephens.

Owned by Harry Altick, the Belvedere-based craft outdistanced the challenger by 2 minutes, 13 seconds, plus the 33-second handicap awarded "Sunchaser" under the International Offshore Racing Rules.

Wosser, who improved his won-lost record for this race series to 7-6, said he wasn't worried when he fell behind early. "We were only one boat length behind at the first mark, so we found out early we had the boat speed; we could go fastest into the wind."

Possibly the San Diego crew was "psyched out" from the beginning, after viewing the "Sunchaser" gang, proudly bedecked in yellow polo shirts with the boat's emblem, and matching windbreakers.

It was the third consecutive triumph for the SFYC, and the 13th since the famous series began in the late 1800's.

"Alegre" was piloted by a former San Francisco Y.C. member, John Rumsey, Jr.

"Sunchaser" was the recipient of some last-minute repairs, as the crew discovered in a Saturday measuring that some of its sails were too large for the rating that had been claimed. They were hastened to a repair shop,and were mended, getting to the dock by 12 noon, Sunday, one-half hour before the boat was scheduled to leave for the starting point at the St. Francis Yacht Club, San Francisco.

A bit of piloting strategy got the local craft the lead after #7, as Damner and Wosser kept the spinnaker aloft and ventured way out of line to the next mark in order to keep the wind. "They took their spinnaker down early and used the reach jib," Wosser explained. "We had more sail and more power then, to get the lead."

Altick, a 33-year-old stockbroker, was exuberant. "I've never been happier, my love affair for this boat is now complete."

The two captains, they say, never find themselves in argument over race strategy. "There just isn't any conflict," Wosser said. "We have great rapport." Both are veteran yachtsmen, world champions in the International One-Design Class.

Nicklaus Wins, Ties Own Record

HARRISON, N.Y. (U PI)— Jack Nicklaus won his fifth tournament of the year —tying his personal record for one season —and now has banked $240,213 in 1972 prize money.

"Sure, I'd like to get up to $300,000 but I don't think I'll be playing in enough tournaments the rest of the year to win that much," said the Golden Bear after knocking out a final-round 68 with birdies on the last two holes to win the $50,000 jackpot by three shots over Jim Colbert in the Westchester Classic Sunday. He was 18 under par and tied the tournament record of 270 set by Arnold Palmer last year.

NEVIL

Dwight Nevil, the former Dallas fire laddie who gave Nicklaus a terrific challenge before he fell back to third place for $17,750, is in only his second year of touring with the big boys and the Westchester paycheck was bigger than his entire 1971 total ($12,839) and more than he had won all this year getting up to Westchester ($9,030.77).

Nicklaus, all along, has been able to key himself for certain tournaments that he wants most to win. He now has won 42 tour events but more important to him are the Big Four-U.S. Open, Professional Golfers Association, Masters and British Open — which he has won a total of 13 times.

NICKLAUS

Nicklaus, who once trailed Nevil by three shots in the third round, began the fourth with a two stroke lead over the ex-fire fighter. Nevil closed the gap by one but Nicklaus began to draw away with his first birdie of the round at the ninth and put the frosting on the cake with birdies at the 17th and 18th.

Colbert, with a hole-in-one on a nine iron shot at the 130-yard sixth hole, added another eagle at the ninth with a four wood shot to 2 ½ feet from the pin on a round of 65.

"I figured il was my day for eagles and the only way I could catch Nicklaus was to get some more," said chunky Jim, who opened the final round six shots off the pace. But no more eagles came and he wound up three shots back at 15-underpar 273 for second money of $28,500.

Homero Blancas, also in with a final-round 65 finished fourth at 276, George Archer and first-day leader DeVitt Weaver shared the next slot at 277 while Charle Sifford and Gay Brewer were next in line at 278.

CESAR SLID — Houston Astros hitting sensation Cesar Cedeno stole home against the San Francisco Giants in the third inning yesterday, while catcher Dave Rader awaited a late throw from third baseman Al Gallagher. The Giants won, 4-3. (UPI Telephoto)

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Carlton Wins 19th Without His Stuff

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Steve Carlton won't admit to being the best pitcher in baseball, but his competitors grow smaller by comparison every four days.

Carlton, a veritable shoo-in for the National League's Cy Young Awa rd this season, recorded his 14th victory in a row Sunday when he hurled a three-hitter to spark the Philadelphia Phillies to a 2-1 victory over the Montreal Expos in the first game of a doubleheader.

The triumph was the 19th against only six losses for the 27-year-old lefthander, who has not lost since May 30. And this one was marked by the thing that distinguishes great pitchers from ordinary ones—he won it without having his good stuff.

CLUB RECORD

Carlton, who has won almost half of the Phillies' 41 victories this year, set a club record for most strikeouts during a season by fanning eight. That brought his total for the year to a major league leading 240, which is three more than Chris Short registered for the Phillies in 1965.

Carlton has been virtually unhittable over the last three weeks. In his last six starts he has allowed only 25 hits and two runs, only one of which was earned. That earned run came in the fourth inning Sunday when Bob Bailey hit his 13th homer of the year.

OTHER SCORES

In other NL action, Cincinnati routed Atlanta 9-4, San Francisco edged Houston 4-3, Los Angeles topped San Diego 5-3, Chicago beat New York 7-4 and St. Louis blanked Pittsburgh 2-0 in the first game of a doubleheader then lost the nightcap 7-5.

Pete Rose, Bobby Tolan and Darrell Chaney each collected a pair of hits as the Reds clobbered Denny McLain and salvaged the third game of their three-game set with the Braves. Hank Aaron hit his 24th homer of the season and 663rd of his career for Atlanta.

Willie Davis' second home run of the game, a three-run blast in the eighth inning, enabled the Dodgers to score a come-from-behind victory over San Diego. Ron Perranoski, who rejoined the Dodgers only last week, was the winner in relief. Nate Colbert hit his 32nd homer for the Padres.

JENKINS SURVIVES

Ferguson Jenkins survived home runs by Willie Mays and Tommie Agee to win his 16th game with relief help from Jack Aker as the Cubs whipped the Mets. Don Kessinger and Jose Cardenal sparked the Cubs' 12-hit attack with three hits each.

Rick Wise overpowered the Pirates on five hits to highlight the Cardinals' first gamevictory, but Pittsburgh rebounded to take the nightcap.

singles by Bonds, Ken Henderson and Willie McCovey.

Houston scored its first two runs in the third after Roger Metzger singled with one out. Cesar Cedeno sent him to third with a double and he scored on Jim Wynn's ground out to shortstop.

CEDENO

The speedy Cedeno went to third on Wynn's grounder and made a bluff toward home. McCovey threw to Gallagher at third and Cedeno broke for the plate.

Cedeno scored when Gallagher's throw skipped by Healy, the catcher. Cedeno was credited with a stolen base, his 41st of the season.

San Mateo Girl Wins U.S. Net

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Ann Kiyomura of San Mateo, Calif., won the 55th U.S. Girls' Grass Court championship Saturday with a 6-3, 6-2 upset win over topseeded Marita Redondo of National City, Calif.

Miss Redondo, the U.S. Women's Amateur Grass Court champion, had trouble with her forehand and two-handed backhand shots, while Miss Kiyomura made use of the drop shot and played a strong offensive game en route to her victory.

The doubles champions are Redondo and Laurie Tenney of Los Angeles. They defeated Miss Kiyomura and Susan Boyle of San Diego, 6-4, 2-6, 6-2.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Largest Crowd Sees Yankees Take Pair

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It was a big day in New York Sunday for American League baseball.

First, the Yankees, featuring back-to-back home runs by Ron Blomberg and Bernie Allen in the seventh inning of the second game, defeated Milwaukee, 5-3 and 5-4.

In other American League games Sunday, Oakland blanked Chicago 4-0, Baltimore belted Boston 8-2, Detroit nipped Cleveland 3-2 before losing the second game 9-2.

Detroit broke out of its hitting famine temporarily with a "lottery" lineup that included light-hitting Ed Brinkman batting cleanup in the opener, but two home runs by Ray Fosse and another by Graig Nettles earned Cleveland a split in the nightcap. Tiger manager Billy Martin drew his players names out of a hat for his opening lineup and Brinkman drove in the tying run with a sixth inning double and then scored the winning run in the on Tony Taylor's single.

The Orioles clung to a 1½game lead over the Yankees and Tigers as catcher Johnny Oates climaxed a four-run seventh inning rally over the Red Sox with a two-run double. Bobby Grich added his 10th homer of the season for the Orioles and rookie Don Baylor contributed three singles and a pair of RBI's.

California Man Wins Marathon On Pike's Peak

MANITOU SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI)—A 21-year-old Californian won the 17th annual Pike's Peak Marathon —a grueling race which takes runners to the top of the 14,110-foot peak and down again —in a near-record time Sunday.

Charles Smead of Santa Paula covered the 26.8-mile route in three hours, 44 minutes, 21 seconds. It was the second best time ever recorded in the marathon.

The record holder, Steven Gachupin, 29, of Jemez Pueblo, N. M., tried for a seventh win in the meet despite illness and finished in ninth place. Gachupin set the course record in 1968 with a time of three hours, 39 minutes, 47 seconds.

starter (Mark Ruggles) in the showers.

But the favored South champions (11-1-1), aided by errors, scored four times in the fifth inning and three more in the seventh. Mike Connor lined a two-out single to center field in the final inning to score the winning run.

"It was a fast ball, thigh-high," said Connor, "right where I like it. I went up there thinking I would hit the first pitch in the strike zone."

Italian Club's other two runs that inning scored on an error by Annex' shortstop. The four-run uprising in the fifth was keyed by a sacrifice fly by Anderson and an RBI single by Jeff Vogel.

Tom Conklin belted a solo home run about 335 feet to left field for Annex in the third inning. The other tallies came on an RBI single by Jeff Rubino and a two-run double by Vince McGovern, but Anderson then entered to retire 11 straight batters.

The second game was an Italian Club romp, and the winners ended up using all 16 players on their roster. Annex hurt its chances with six passed balls and two wild pitches, and was so strapped for hurling that second baseman Bob Lawrence took the mound in relief. He looked good, striking out five straight at one point, but by then the horse was out of the barn. Normal No. 2 pitcher Chris De Recat missed the series because of a football camp.

Approximately 350 attended.

Harris was clocked at 200.89 miles an hour for the quarter mile final run and edged Big Daddy Don Garlits of Sefner, Fla., for the victory.

Chris Crushes Miss Goolagong

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) —Chris Evert, a teenage tennis sensation, and Bob Hewitt, a 32-year-old South African who may be too old for world-class competition, are the queen and king of the 1972 National Clay Court championships.

Miss Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., down at one point 5-0, rallied to crush Australian Evonne Goolagong, 7-6, 6-1. Hewitt, a transplanted Australian, outlasted Jimmy Connors, the 19-year-old former NCAA Champion from Beeleville, Ill., 7-6, 6-1, 6-2.

Miss Goolagong teamed with country woman Leslie Hunt to beat the team of Margaret Court of Australia and Pam Teeguarden of Los Angeles in the women's doubles, 6-2, 6-1. The men's final was postponed until today by darkness. Hewitt and fellow South African Frew McMillan met the Chilian team of Jaime Fillol and Patricia Cornejo in that match.

The match between Miss Evert and Miss Goolagong was the third in a month for them. Miss Goolagong won in the semifinals at Wimbledon and Miss Evert avenged the defeat two weeks ago in the U.S.Australian Cup series at Cleveland, Ohio.

But Miss Goolagong appeared about to take the individual series lead by jumping to a 5-0 first-set margin. Miss Evert fought back stubbornly with her usual baseline game to win the next six games and took over the lead, 6-5. Miss Goolagong held her service on the 12th game, but Miss Evert won the tie-breaking game handily, 5-2, climaxing the set with a sideline passing shot.

"I played sloppy in the first set and didn't think I could win because I played too much defense," said Miss Evert. "I got more aggressive in the second set and after I led, 4-1, I thought I could win although Evonne is best when she is behind."

However, Miss Evert breezed through the second set in 22 minutes. Miss Goolagong won only the third game on her service.

"I was uurprised that the second set was so easy, but Evonne was not taking advantage of my second service." She added Miss Goolagong "was not the same girl I played at Wimbledon when she beat me in three sets or two weeks ago when I beat her."

Miss Evert said she is going home for a week's rest before the Newport, R. I., matches and the nationals at Forest Hills, N. Y. She said this is her last year as an amateur on the circuit and will turn professional in December.

Baseball Executive Weiss Dies

Combined AP & UPI

GREENWICH, Conn. — George Weiss, who as general manager of the New York Yankees built a baseball dynasty in the Bronx and later became president of the Mets and guided that organization to a world championship in 1969, died early yesterday at a Greenwich, Conn., nursing home. He was 79.

Weiss was elected to the baseball Hall of Fame in January, 1971, but took ill in May of that year and was unable tc attend the induction ceremonies in Cooperstown, N.Y., last August.

Weiss became general manager of the Yankees in 1948 and, along with manager Casey Stengel, led the Yanks to 10 American League pennants and eight world championships in 13 years.

Weiss was said to be responsible for the Yankees signing Joe DiMaggio when other clubs thought the famed San Franciscan had bad knees. He also brought to the Yankees such baseball greats as Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra and Whitey Ford.

Weiss left the Yankees in 1961 to become president of the New York Mets and brought Stengel along with him to manage the new expansion team. He retired from the Mets in 1966, but was responsible for laying the groundwork that brought the Mets a world championship in 1969.

Staubach Hurt; Cowboys Win

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Roger Staubach suffered a shoulder separation Saturday night that may have separated the Dallas Cowboys from a chance to repeat as world champions.

The 197-pound Staubach, last year's Most Valuable Player in the National Football League, suffered the injury to his right shoulder in the second quarter when tackled by 235-pound Marlin McKeever after a nine-yard gain.

REAL GOOD

Nonetheless, the former Heisman Trophy winner from Navy may miss as many as 12 weeks of the regular season.

Coach Tom Landry, often unhappy with Stabauch's penchant for running, but tolerant of its usually good results, spoke in contradictory terms following the injury.

MORTON STARS

Dallas won the game 27-13 as Craig Morton, who lost the starting quarterback role to Staubach last year, completed eight of nine passes and tossed touchdown strikes of four yards to Mike Ditka, two yards to Walt Garrison and 27 yards to Bob Hayes.

The win was the 13th straight for Dallas in regular and exhibition season play.

In other Saturday night games, Green Bay edged Miami, 14-13, Kansas City defeated St. Louis, 24-14, Cincinnati toppled Detroit, 2820, Minnesota downed San Diego, 24-13, Philadelphia outlasted New England, 29-20, Pittsburgh trounced the New york Jets, 22-3 and Buffalo outscored New Orleans 24-21 Sunday, San Francisco beat Cleveland, 20-13.

A crowd of 78,190 spectators gathered for the dedication game at Arrowhead Stadium in Kansas City, Mo. to watch cornerback Jim Marsalis intercept three Cardinal passes that led to two touchdowns and rookie Larry Marshall take a punt return 75 yards as the Chiefs scored all their points in the second quarter.

TWO SCORES

Fullback Jess Phillips scored on two short plunges and quarterback Ken Anderson hit wide receiver Chip Meyers with a five-yard touchdown pass in the Bengals' victory.

Quarterback Fran Tarkenton, returning to Minnesota after a five-year absence, completed ucoring passes to John Henderson and John Beasley after Clinton Jones returned the opening kickoff 99 yards for a touchdown. Mike Garrett and John Hadl scored on short runs for the Chargers.

EAGLE REAVES

Terry Bradshaw hit Dave Smith with a 26-yard touchdown pass on the third Steeler offensive play of the game and Roy Gerela added five field goals as Pittsburgh won its second in a row.

Joe Namath, playing only in the first half, was ineffective in the contest. He hit on only three of 15 passes and suffered one interception.

Tennis

INDIANAPOLIS — Bob Hewitt of South Africa, winner of the men's singles in the $60,000 U.S. Clay Court tournament here, teamed with countryman Frew McMillan today for the delayed windup of the doubles competition.

The 32-year-old Hewitt topped Jimmy Connors, 19, Bellville, Ill., 7-6, 6-1, 6-2, yesterday for the singles title and its $8,000 prize.

Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., captured the women's singles crown with a come-from-behind 7-6, 6-1 triumph over the tourney's No. 1 seeded woman, Australian Evonne Goolagong.

Mark Cox of Great Britain won the $50,000 Cleveland Tennis Classic yesterday by beating fellow lefty Ray Ruffels of Australia, 6-3, 4-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Cliff Drysdale of Austin, Tex., and Roger Taylor of Great Britain aon the doubles title last night, 7-6, 6-3, over Charles Pasarell and Frank Froehling.

Golf

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Marilyn Smith's two under par 70 yesterday over the 6,300-yard Riviera Country Club Course, gave her a 54-hole score of six under par 210, good enough for a six-stroke victory over runnerup Jan Ferraris in the Ladies Professional Golf Association Pabst Classic here.

Horse Racing

PITTSBURGH — In what was said to be an unprecedented oddity in a classic harness race, two three-year-old pacers finished in a dead heat Saturday in the $92,110 Adios Stakes at the Meadows near here.

Strike Out, reined by Keith Waples, and Jay Time, guided by Gene Riegle, both clocked 1:59 2/5 for a mile, and the judges pondered the race photos eight minutes before calling it a draw.

Auto Racing

ZELTWEG, Austria — Emerson Fittipaldi of Brazil moved closer to the world drivers' championship yesterday by winning the Austrian Grand Prix. He covered 200 miles in one hour 29 minutes 16.66 seconds for an average speed of 134.06 miles per hour.

Babe Ruth Ball Set Back—Rain

MONROE, N.C. (UPI) — Rain and Chester, Pa. were the winners in the Babe Ruth tournament of champions Sunday, but postponed play resumes this afternoon.

Manager's Average

Host Charlotte-Monroe, N.C., finishes its game with Pensacola, Fla. in the opener this afternoon. The game was rained out in the bottom of the second inning Sunday with the host team holding a 2-1 edge.

Other matches this afternoon are Seattle, Wash. against Cincinnati and San Antonio, Tex. against Anaheim, Calif., both rained out Sunday.

Huskies' Coach

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

SUMMONS NO. 2
No. 63442

ELMER W. MARTINELLI and HAZEL MARTINELLI, his wife, WALDO G. GIACOMINI, JEANETTE GIACOMINI, DAVID GIACOMINI, ROBERT GIACOMINI and RICHARD GIACOMINI, and MARKHAM CORPORATION, a corporation, Plaintiffs, vs All of the Heirs at Law of CATHERINE A. KEYS, deceased, Namely, GEORGE T. KEYS, JOHN M. KEYS, JAMES W. KEYS, ELIZABETH M. KEYS, EDITH A. KEYS and MINNIE M. KEYS, and DOE ONE through DOE ONE HUNDRED, and all persons unknown, claiming any right, title, estate, lien or interest in the real property described in the Complaint, adverse to plaintiffs' ownership or any cloud upon Plaintiffs' title thereto, Defendants.

TO THE DEFENDANTS: A civil complaint has been filed by Plaintiffs against you. If you wish to defend this lawsuit, you must file in this Court a written pleading in response to the complaint within thirty (30) days after this summons is served on you (except that if the action is against the State of California pursuant to Section 738.5 of the Code of Civil Procedure, within one hundred eighty (180) days). Otherwise, your default will be entered on application by the Plaintiffs and the Court may enter a judgment against you for the money or other relief requested in the complaint. The real property which is the subject of this action is located in the County of Marin, State of California, and is referred to and described specifically in the complaint on file herein as follows:

PARCEL NO. 2: All that certain strip of land 75 feet in width, lying equally 37.5 feet on each side of the following described center line: BEGINNING at the intersection of the boundary line between land now or formerly of Galen Burdell and C.A. Keys, with the originally located center line of the North Pacific Coast Railroad Company (now Northwestern Pacific Railroad Company) at Engineers' Station 790 plus 09; thence in a westerly and northerly direction along the said center line following the courses and curvature thereof, a distance of 5,941 feet to a point on the southerly line of land now or formerly of R.L. Grandi, et al. at Engineers' Station 849 plus 50, containing an area of 10.20 acres, more or less. Being all of that strip of land conveyed by deed dated June 20, 1874, C.A. Keys to North Pacific Coast Railroad Company, recorded July 1, 1874, in Liber M. of Deeds, Page 34. TOGETHER with all and singular the tenements, hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging, or in anywise appertaining, and the reversion and reversions, remainder and remainders, rents, isuues and profits thereof. TO HAVE AND TO HOLD all and singular the said premises, together with the appurtenances, unto the said second party and to his heirs and assigns, forever.

The above described real property is also described as follows, in that certain Joint Tenancy Deed dated August 21, 1949, from FLORA MARTINELLI, ELMER W. MARTINELLI and HAZEL MARTINELLI, his wife, and recorded in Official Records of Marin County in Volume 658 at page 723:

All right, title and interest of grantors in and to that portion of that certain property described in Deed from Northwestern Pacific Railroad Company to Elmer W. Martinelli, dated August 5, 1935, and recorded September 23, 1935, in Liber 304 of Official Records, at page 352, records of Marin County, which lies outside of the boundaries of that certain property described in Deed from Olympia Grandi et vir to Flora Martinelli, dated November 1, 1923, and recorded November 17, 1923, in Liber 30 of Official Records, at page 354.

The object of this action is to quiet title to such real property in Plaintiffs, and that it be adjudged that the Plaintiffs are the owners of said real property in fee simple absolute, and that their title to said real property be established and quieted.

If you wish to seek the advice of an attorney in this matter, you should do so promptly so that your pleading, if any, may be filed on time.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

City of Larkspur, State of California.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City of Larkspur will receive sealed bids at the office of the City Clerk, City Hall, Larkspur, California, on or before 2:00 p.m., on the thirtieth day of August, 1972, for the furnishing of all labor, materials, and services required for the following designated project:

LANDSCAPE DEVELOPMENT MEDIANS — MAGNOLIA AVENUE AND BON AIR ROAD, LARKSPUR, CALIFORNIA

Each bid shall be made in accordance with the plans, specifications and contract documents prepared therefor, now on file at the office of the City Clerk, where they may be examined, and copies thereof be obtained upon deposit of $20.00 per set, which deposit will be refunded upon return of such copies in good condition, on or before thirty (30) days after opening of bids. Bids shall be submitted upon proposal forms furnished by the Department of Public Works, and shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check, currency or bid bond, equal to ten percent as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into the contract, if awarded him, and will file the contract bonds required within fifteen days after notice that his bid has been accepted.

The City Council reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to waive any irregularity in any bid received.

Bidders are notified that, pursuant to law, the City Council has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages and rates in the locality in which the work is to be performed, for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract, and the prevailing rate so determined is on file at the office of the City Clerk, and is incorporated by reference herein. It shall be mandatory that all persons employed in the execution of the contract be paid not less than said specific wages and rates, and that existing labor agreements relative to overtime, holidays, and other special provisions be recognized.

Bids received by the City Clerk will be opened and read publicly at the time, date and place above specified, and will thereafter be tabulated and submitted to the City Council for consideration.

Warning To U.S. Citizens Who Travel: Typhoid Fever In Mexico

An epidemic of typhoid fever has been going on in four central states of Mexico since early 1972. At this writing there has been no indication that the outbreak has affected U.S. citizens traveling south of the border. However, persons who have recently returned from Mexico with symptoms of typhoid should consult their physicians for stool cultures. The epidemic is on the wane, however, travelers should take precautions and be immunized before leaving the U.S. A booster dose usually is sufficient for those previously vaccinated.

Tourists planning trips to affected areas should drink only bottled water, carbonated mineral water, or beverages that have been boiled or carbonated in bottles or cans.

KEEP IN MIND also that tap water used to brush the teeth and ice cubes may be a source of infection. Freshly peeled fruits and foods that are served hot are safe.

Typhoid fever is an infectious diarrhea. The causative organisms are in the intestinal tract and are passed along when carriers or those with the disease contaminate water or food via unclean hands or sewage. Man is the only host in this disease. In salmonellosis, a related condition, the microbes can be transmitted in fish, meat, poultry, dairy products, insects, and warm and cold-blooded animals.

AT THE TURN of the century, typhoid organisms were the most dangerous pollutants found in our water. Improved sanitation, typhoid vaccine, and the detection and treatment of carriers almost completely eliminated the disease.

Nowadays, the antibiotic, chloramphenicol, is the best remedy, despite its potential dangers. It shortens the course of the disease and markedly reduces the mortality. The typhoid bacilli responsible for the Mexican epidemic were the first to develop a resistance to chloramphenicol, long considered the drug of choice in typhoid. As a result, Mexican physicians have had to rely on other antibiotics.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

REACTION TO SUN

E.S.R. writes: Can anything be done for an 8-year-old whose face puffs up every time he is out in the sun? His skin is normal in cold or cool weather.

REPLY

Yes, because this may represent an allergy to the sun. Get him a wide-brimmed straw hat or a cap with a large visor. Sunscreening products also may prove helpful. By puberty, this boy is likely to outgrow this condition.

CONSOLATION EATING

A reader writes: Whenever I get upset by things going wrong, I crave food. What can I do to stop this bad habit?

REPLY

Walk around the block until the feeling disappears. If the weather is bad, stay home, but chew on celery, carrots, radishes, or cucumbers. Your habit is known as consolation eating.

GOP Council Will Sponsor Program

The Marin Republican Council will sponsor a consumer protection and education program Sept. 17 at the Veterans Memorial Auditorium, Civic Center.

Featured will be Virginia Knauer, special assistant to President Nixon for consumer affairs; John Kehoe, new director of the State Department of Consumer Affairs and Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Lawyers Blamed In No-Fault Loss

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., believes "friendly persuasion" from lawyers —aimed at the 64 members of the Senate who also are lawyers —was a key factor in the death of his no-fault auto insurance bill last week.

"Some of these lawyers earn $80,000 a year fighting auto negligence cases," said an aide to one senator. "They can be counted on for a contribution of $3,000 or $4,000 or $5,000 to a senator running for re-election. A phone call from one or two can be effective."

One senator —agreeing with Hart's assessment —told a colleague he had received 20 phone calls from lawyer friends in a few hours in advance of last Tuesday's vote.

Lobbying by segments of the insurance industry opposed to the bill —Allstate was particularly active —was another factor. And one Senate source said White House persuasion was effective in turning around four Republicans who had been expected to support the bill — Sens. Gordon Allott, Colo.; Henry M. Bellmon, Okla.; Charles McC. Mathias, Md., and Robert T. Stafford, Vt.

Lobbying was also intense from the other side. The Consumer Federation of America; Common Cause, the "citizens' lobby"; ty Car and Truck Rental Leasing Association, and a number of labor unions, pulled all the stops.

But the nation's trial lawyers —who stand to lose $1 billion a year in legal fees if auto negligence suits are not longer argued in court —proved most effective.

By a 49-46 vote, the Senate sent the bill to the Judiciary Committee "for study" — effectively killing it for now.

The measure, a revolutionary change in the auto insurance system, would have put auto insurance on the same footing as health insurance. A person injured in a traffic accident would collect compensation from his insurance company without consideration as to who was at fault.

Under the present system, the insurance company covering the driver found to be at fault pays damages. Critics sayd this leads to delay, costly trials and inadequate out-of-court settlements.

No-fault would remove the need —or the right —to sue in all but the most serious crashes. It would not directly affect property damage claims.

Misquote Claimed By Rockefeller

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said today President Nixon's summit visit to Moscow resulted in a "major increase" in the migration of Russian Jews to Israel, whether there was a formal agreement on the subject or not.

On his arrival by private jet from Tel Aviv, Rockefeller appeared to backtrack on his statement at a news conference in Jerusalem Sunday that Nixon obtained an agreement with Soviet leaders on Jewish migration.

He denied saying that he was told of such an agreement in talks with President Nixon and Henry A. Kissinger, the president's adviser on national security.

"I was misquoted," he said.

"I don't know whether there has been a formal agreement or not, but a result of the President's summit conference in Moscow has been a major increase in this migration, and one has to believe that this (the summit meeting) was a very major factor in it...

"I will leave any further comment on this subject to Washington."

He said he made his first visit to Israel at the invitation of the Zionist Organization of America. He denied that it was intended to line up votes for Nixon in the November election.

"The President knew nothing about this trip and I had no consultations concerning it with Washington," he said.

San Rafael Man Faces 3 Charges After Accident

A 23-year-old San Rafael man was arrested last night on suspicion of felony hit-and-run driving, drunken driving and driving without a license following a collision in San Rafael at 11 p.m. yesterday.

Eugene Milton Paine, 355 Canal Street, Apt. 24, was booked into Marin County Jail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

According to police, Paine fled the scene of an accident in which a car he was driving collided with a vehicle driven by Jacklyn Askew, 20, of 19 Bank Street, San Anselmo. Police said Paine's car failed to stop at a signal on Fourth and Second streets and crashed into the side of the Askew car.

The San Anselmo woman was reported in satisfactory condition today in Marin General Hospital with a cut lip and forehead and a scraped knee.

Fairfax Budget Up For Adoption

A $750,000 final 1972-73 budget will be up for adoption by the Fairfax City Council at 8 p.m. today in the Fairfax Women's Club.

The council also will set the tax rate, which is expected to remain unchanged at $1.74 per $100 assessed valuation.

Landscaping plans for city hall and preliminary plans for a proposed police-fire facility will also be considered by the council.

SIMMONS TO BUILD SALT LAKE WAREHOUSE WE BOUGHT STOCK AT SALE PRICES

The Simmons Company worlds largest bedding manufacturer announced in April that a new and larger warehouse will be built in Salt Lake City Utah to serve their franchised stores in that area.

The new warehouse to be built at the corner of 3rd West and 4th North Streets will replace the old one, used for the last 25 years located at 345 N. Pierport.

All the Simmons bedding products, including the famous Beautyrest mattresses, were manufactured at the large plant located at San Leandro, California and shipped to Salt Lake. During the moving period, merchandise scheduled for Salt Lake shipment was sold to us at Sale Prices – and we pass the savings on to you.

The mismatched sets advertised here are only part of this great purchase – Come in now and see the other Simmons unadvertised values.
